And the Band Played On.

First Edition

First Edition

BITTER WAR IS NOW ON; GREECE DEFIES POWERS

The Reply to the Ultimatum Has Been Sent, and the Grecian and Turkish Troops Hasten to the Clash of Arms in the Conflict That Is Now Made Inevitable.

ARMIES ON BOTH SIDES FLY TO FRONTIER

Prince Constantine Takes Command and Makes Ready for the Battle--Bridges Are Destroyed and Railroad Tracks Are Torn Up--Headquarters of the Turkish Army Are Cut Off from Salonica. Admirals Give Commands.

ment to the ultimatum of the powers ng been delivered to the foreign repre

the Turkish frontier to assume of the Greek troops there and large numbers of horses and mules at Volo. It is reported that the Greek bands have destroyed a number of bridges on railways between Monastir, the present headquarters of the Turkish army, and Salonica.

M. DELYANNIS

GREEKS ORDERED TO LEAVE

The Vice Consul Included in the Com mand of Admiral Canevaro, of the United Fleets.

Canea, March 9.-Admiral Canevaro, commanding the united fleet of the powers, has notified the Greeks here, including the Greek vice consulate, that they must leave the Island at once.

It is reported that the siege of Kandamos has been raised and that the Mussulmans who were beleaguered there have moved to

The insurgents made an attack upon the Turkish positions at Akrotiri yesterday, but were stoutly resisted by the Turks and finally repulsed. The insurgents were re-enforced during the night and renewed their attack upon the place today.

MILD MEASURES PROPOSED.

Lord Salisbury wired to the powers last ng concerning the reply of Greece to ective note of the powers have resulted in the concurrence of France and Italy with Great Britain that coercive measures toward Greece should be delayed

A telegram was received at the foreign office from Rome which states that the Italian government considers the Greek note of too negative a character to justify the powers in taking any immediate ac-

lin say that certain measures of blockading Greece must be observed, though they may

Athens, March 9.—The reply of the Greek | Berlin dispatches, a fortnight should elapse before any action is taken. At the expiration of that time a pacific form of blockade should be put into operation under which any Greek or other vessel that may be arrested will not be confiscated, but will ferred for some time with the queen. The subject of the conference has not been made public, but it is supposed that it had some pearing on the Cretan question.

SALISBURY AND THE QUEEN.

The Two Confer, but the Result of Their Deliberations Are Unknown.

under any circumstances prior to he

German and Russian ministers have approved the carrying out of the threat contained in the identical note of the powers to blockade the coasts of Greece in the event of her refusing to accede to the demand that she withdraw her troops from Crete and her fleet from Cretan waters. Their reason is that although the reply of Greece gives some hope of a compromise, it does not comply with the den made by the powers.

GREEKS NOT PLEASED.

the foreign powers. tine this morning. "We can plainly see that the Christians will finally be suppressed again and then there will be another war, for Greece will not permit these parbarians to massacre their countrymen.

ANDRE S. SKOUZES, Grecian Minister of Foreign Affeirs.

he decision of King George.
"It may be that the American them.

"I am sure that our country would not let King George rule if he had no mere patriotism than that.

"Do you remember," said Constantina, "that the crown prince went out and joined his army. Well, it was known at this time what George's answer would be by him, and if there was to be such a submission as the American papers print, what was the use of the crown prince placing himself at the head of his troops. "There is something about the affair that we can't understand. If what is in the papers is true, it means that there will be no war. But we either want the Turks driven from Crete or we want it fixed so they can't harm the Christians in any way. "We telegraphed our services to the

be released when the blockade is raised.

London, March 9.—Lord Sallsbury went vesterday to Windsor Castle, where he con-

According to announcements previously made the queen is to start for the Riviers on Wednesday, and the prime minister would undoubtedly have visited her majes-

They Discuss the Answer Just Made by King George to the Great Powers.

The Greeks of Atlanta are not pleased with the answer made by King George to

There was a big crowd of the Greeks at have not the full reply made by our king

as a leader of the party in Georgia. He was appointed United States marshal and held several other offices, finally receiving the mission to Turkey, which took him out of the country. BUCK'S CHANCE.

LONGSTREET

Patch Up All of Their Old-Time Dif-

Shake Hands.

THEY CALL UPON PRESIDENT

Who Is Urged To Give General Wade

Hampton's Shoes to General

Longstreet.

WHILST BUCK WILL HIE TO BRAZIL

The Latest Changes in the Political Kulcidoscope, Which Discloses Reconciliations, Mutual Agreements, Divisions of Pie and Plans for the Buck and Longstreet have gotten together at last, their visit to the white house, in ter for appointment as commissioner of railroads, the place now held by Wade

Hampton, being the token of peace.

If President McKinley makes this appointment, it removes Longstreet from the contest for the ambassadorship of Mexico and makes room for Colonel Buck to press his own claim for the embassy to Brazil.

This is highly important to Colonel Buck, because it is well understood that the presdent will give only first-class mission to remember the course of republican history in Georgia, it will be recollected that there was a time when Colonel Buck was not in the leadership, but was quietly pursuing his vocation as cierk of the United States circuit court in Atlanta.

ENTREE OF LONGSTREET.

The reconstruction leaders of the party had all fallen by the wayside, and the party error committed by Jonathan Nor-cross in his race for the governorship in Washington, March 9.

Future.

AND BUCK

"IMIL"

This was Buck's opportunity. Before General Longstreet had a chance to return Buck was formally seated in power. The contest between the two came upon the election of General Harrison to the presidency. Both men made trips to Indianapolis and fought bitterly for recogniti dent Harrison that he had done the hardest work for the party in the campaign and that oLugstreet had lagged by the way. The result was Buck's recognition, his appointment to the position of United States marshal and General Longstreet passing four years in obscurity. When the late campaign opened, Buck had grown weary and cautious. He wanted something bigger than was in sight in Georinterests. He made terms with his oldtime enemy, who in turn, pressed by poverty, was willing to make terms with the new dealer. They appeared together in St. Louis; they spoke from the same platform during the campaign; and it was understood that neither one would sign an application for office unless the other had een consulted. It was in this emergency that it was discovered that Longstreet's counter to the wishes of Buck.

TOGETHER NOW. The call of the two gentlemen upon President McKinley shows that they have reached a modus vivendi. If President McKinley appoints Longstreet to the railroad commissionership it will satisfy the wants rather than the ambitions of the latter, while it will leave open the vacant embassy to be claimed by Buck and se-cured by him—if possible.

All this will raise an interesting state of ffairs in Geogria. With Longstreet too old home by services on the Pacific railways and with Buck appointed to a mission so far away as Brazil, the state will be left without leaders. Hanson alone will be left in Georgia, and he will be the active leader of the republican party in that state.

ARGUMENT BEING HEARD.

Judge Marshall Clarke and Hon, Porter King Spoge This Morning in the Thurman Will Case.

Argument of counsel in the Thurman will ase was resumed this morning at 9 o'clock before Ordinary Hulsey.

When the hearing adjourned yesterday fternoon Judge Marshall J. Clarke, repreenting Mrs. Dr. Thurman, was speaking when the hearing was taken up.

Judge Marshail Clarke takes the posi-man in favor of his wife was the natural act of a husband, and that the latter will was signed under undue influence which was brought to bear upon him in eccentric

THE CHASE FOR BROOKS.

INCIDENTS IN THE LONG SEARCH FOR THE ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE.

His Brother's Mysterious Actilief That He Was Used as a Decoy To Mislead the Officers in Their Search.

Five Forks, Ga., March 9. dal to The Evening Constitution The excitement so high here a few days ago over the murder of Hunt at Harmony Grove by Reynolds and Bud Brooks is subsiding, but there are men here who would assist in the lynching of Brooks, whose home is not far from this place. Scott Jackson came down Saturday night from Harmony Grove and recovered two pistols and two gold watches which Bud Brooks's, his brother. Sunday before last George Brooks dres as a woman, was carried by Walter Boggs, a relative of his, to Boggs's home. Scott Jackson, Robert Estes and John Williams thinking it Bud Brooks, the mur derer, arrested him, Jackson leveling his pistol on Brooks from a crack while Wil-liams entered the door and ordered a sur-Brooks begged them to not shoot and surrendered. After the posse found that they had the wrong man they ordered him to not return home that night.

They thought Brooks was in this disguise to decoy the officers from his home, where Bud Brooks was supposed to be.

George Brooks said later that he was going in disguise to inform Bud of the present ing in disguise to inform Bud of the presence of the officers. WAS CLOSE BY Bud Brooks has said that he was close enough to smell the clgar smoke of the posse at Boggs's, and it is thought that if the posse had watched George Brooks they could have located Bud that night. It is rumored that Bud Brooks stayed in Concord church ness that least the following. ord church near that place the following night.

The day after the murder he was here drunk and counted $350, which he carried on his person. He gave his sisters $5 cach and $5 to his brother George. These amounts were delivered to Officer Jackson together with the watches and pistols.

Probably George Brooks will see Bud and advise him to state the hiding place of all the valuables taken from Hunt.

Bud Brooks's character here is bad. The revenue officers have sought him several times for distilling.

DROUGHT'S TRIAL IS REFUSED

Erstwhile Railroad Receiver Will Not Be Given a New Trial in the City Criminal Court.

Railroad Receiver A. E. Drought will not secure a new trial before Judge Berry in the city criminal court.

yesterday refused by Judge Berry. Dr was arrested several weeks ago charged with being a common cheat and swindler and Attorney Robert Jordan was employed lefend him. The prosecution reta nel Moyers to aid the state in

MR. JOINER? Chief Veal's Accuser Has Not Been He Is No Longer Secretary of the

Two Days.

WILL HE SHOW UP AT TRIAL?

Seen in Atlanta for Nearly

Be Investigated-Rumor That the Accomplice Is on the Warnath-The Charges Against Mr. Veal.

Where is Charles Joiner, Chief Veal's ac-

his attorney's office and not one member of the sanitary force has seen him on their rounds throughout the city in thirty-six

It was rumored on the streets yesterday that the trate husband of the woman to whom Joiner is said to have given the ilver taken from the Granite hotel was in hot pursuit of Joiner and that he had skipped out.

Color was given to the report this morning by the non-appearance of the accuser of Sanitary Inspector Veal, and when asked what he had to say about the current reports, Mr. Frank Arnold, Joiner's attorney, was silent. He would not commit himself and neither admitted nor denied the story that Joiner had decamped. I will be on hand at the appointed time," said Mr. Arnold, "and have conclusive proof of the defendant's guilt."

VEAL WILL DEMAND TRIAL. "If Joiner fails to materialize what will you do?" was asked Mr. Veal, and he said that it would be demanded that the trial that Joiner has been persuaded to drop cial condition of the order at this end of the matter just as it stands rather than be the lodge. We are all right."

forced by the opposing counsel to tell all No action will be taken and nothing will he knows about certain well-known and probably be known until the board of of the question. Others think that Joiner is simply resting up, preparatory to the trial, and that he will appear upon the scene at the last minute. Be it as it may, all day yesterday and all this morning Joiner has been non est, elusive and out of sight.

The board of health will demand a trial if Tolner has lost nerve and fled and they hope for a full and clean vindication for the sanitary department.

CHARGES AGAINST VEAL.

Joiner in his charges claims that Veal has used the powers and privileges of his office for his own profit; that while securing bids from merchants for stock feed he had already bought feed and was making a profit of the purchase for himself; that he kept horses not belonging to the city at the city's expense; that he used the employees of his department as personal servants in his domestic life; that he had vehicles repaired at the city's expense not be longing to the city; that he was a tyrant to those under him and compelled his force to rent homes belonging to him and to others or else lose their jobs; that he has showed undue discrimination in employing claims to be able to prove.

The council chamber will be the scene of action and at 2:30 o'clock, Joiner or no Hundreds of men out of idle curlosity will pack the chamber of commerce and an alone fill the room.

Judge Van Epps will defend Mr. Veal and Mr. Frank Arnold will manage Joiner's will preside.

The board of health will be present in

COMMISSIONERS TO MEET.

oard Will Discuss Freight Rates of Cars Loaded with Chert for the County.

The board of county commissioners will meet this week for the purpose of discussing and adjusting the trackage bills charged for bauling cars of chert from the city to Fort McPherson.

This chert was bought in Birmingham for the repaving of the East Point road, and when the freight bills were presented to the board for settlement, it was declared by Commissioner Spalding that the freight from Atlanta to Fort McPherson was as much as it cost to bring the cars from Birmingham to Atlanta.

The excess charge that is claimed is against the Central of Georgia, and the commissioners have accorded a hearing to the attorneys of the road, which will come at the special session of the board, jo be held this week.

WHERE IS = HUMPHRIES QUITS LODGE

Railway Conductors.

TRUSTEES LOOK INTO HIS BOOKS

TROUBLE WITH CITE & RECALLED

of His Trouble in Settling the Mar-Talk Today-What Mr. Humphries

Mr. John W. Humphries has resigned the secretaryship of the Order of Railway while in the Atlanta lodge, No. 180. This action was taken by Mr. Humphrie was discovered in his accounts in the city marshal's offics.

The resignation of Mr. Humphries was handed in last Sunday, and the board of trustees, composed of Mr. Zach Martin, Mr. Wheeler Mangum and Mr. Joe Lattimer,

It was rumored this afternoon that Humphries is short in his accounts will Mr. Humphries. Mr. Zach Martin, a member of the board of trustees, held a conference with Mr. Humphries just after noon today. He stated that the accounts were being checked over just as all accounts are the fact that he had resigned. "There is nothing we have to publication," said Mr. Zach Martin, i tis that the Atlanta lodge is in the very pink of condition; doesn't owe anything to anybody and can pay 200 cents on the Many believe that some great political dollar. There cannot be even the slightest move is at the back of the charges and breath of suspicion directed at the finan-

Order of Railway Conductors for several years. He was secretary of the Atlanta day. He is also an officer of the national Order of Railway Conductors. His friends say there is no foundation in the rumors and that when the investigation is completed and a report is made Mr. Humphries will be completely exonerated.

KINGSBERY IS RECEIVER.

Two Stores Owned by Mrs. S. C. Rogers Conducted by the Courts.

A temporary receiver was appointed last night at 9 o'clock for the stores owned by Mrs. S. C. Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers conducted a large store in Lawrenceville and one in Atlanta on Decatur street. Both stores carried a large stock of goods and it was supposed Mrs. Rogers was doing a profitable business until a few days ago, when she filed mortgages to the extent of several thousand dollars, for the better securing of her creditors.

dollars, for the better securing of her creditors.

The unsecured creditors now claim that Mrs. Rogers has been disposing of her assets and the bill for receiver came last night and was presented Judge Lumpkin at his residence. After reading the bill Judge Lumpkin appointed Mr. S. C. Kingsbery temporary receiver with all authority of court to take charge of the assets and wind up the business.

Judge Lumpkin's order applied to the Judge Lumpkin's order applied to the following parties:

Messrs. Inman, Smith & Co., John Silvey & Co., Tidwell & Pope, Alex S. Taylor, Clarke Hardware Company, King Hardware Company, Charles A. Conklin, Atlanta Paper Company, Gramling, Spaiding & Co., Stovall, Calloway & Co., Bates, Kingsbery & Co., James Lazenby, Haden & Patty, Thomas Haslett, sheriff of Gwinnett county, and J. W. Nelms, sheriff of Fulton county, are made party defendants in the case and restrained from interfering in any way with the affairs. any way with the affairs.

LITIGATION BECOMES FAMOUS

The Walker-Liddell Case Has Been Set Now for the Fourth Trink

The Walker-Liddell litigation has been set for today in the first division of the city court before Judge Reid.

Should the case be reached this morn-

WEYLER WILL SPEND HIS VENGEANCE UPON WOMEN

The "Suspects" Will Be Tried by Courtmartial, and the Death Penalty Will Be Imposed--The Butcher's Preference Is To Kill Them First and Try Them Afterwards.

THE WARSHIPS ARE NOW READY FOR CUBA

Anything Like a Repetition of the Ruiz Affair Will Send Every Available Ship to the Island—The New Administration Declares Its Policy-Consul-General Lee's Requests Will Now Be Considered and Our Citizens Protected.

Lee and urge him to present to the Spanernment against ill treatment of Arier'cans on the islands, whether their nativity was

EXPORT INNOCENT PRISONERS

Charged with Belonging to a Secre

Society, 200 Are Sent for Life to

the Chafarinas Islands.

New York, March 9.-A special cable

Two hundred prisoners have been sent to Havana by the governor of Matanzas,

Senor Porcet, and are ready to sail for the Chafarinas islands, where they have been sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. They are charged with belonging to as Nanigos, but though some of them deserve this accusation, the majority is composed of persons innocent of any crime and

whom the Spanish government is cruelly

As no evidence that they had plotted against Spain could be found and as the order of banishment to Chafarinas or

Fernando Po can be given by the governors

without any formality Senor Porcet

thought it less troublesome to take this course than to give more work to the military courtsmartial in Matanzas, which are already very busy sentencing to death

four persons a day on an average.

It is semi-officially declared in Havans that General Weyler will emain a white mander-in-chief of the Spanish army. It is said in well-informed circles that the central government, though considering

Weyler's recall to be necessary, has decided

of the province of Santa Clara the recall of the captain general just at this juncture

would produce the same bad effect abroad

that was caused by the withdrawal of

There is a report that Major Celesting

Fonsdeviela is to be tried by order of the

Madrid government for his cruel conduct

Financial distress is most acute through

Financial distress is most acute throughout the island. Famine is ravaging the small towns of the province of Pinar del Rio, Havana and Matanzas.

Smallpox is also increasing at an alarming rate and most of the victims die.

FOR A PRESS GENSOR

BILL TO CREATE ONB WILL BE PRE-

SENTED IN N. Y. LEGISLATURE.

It Will Give the Censor Right To Examine Any Article Before Going

Into a Newspaper and Impose Heavy Penalties.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9.-The Enquirer

will introduce in the legislature at an early date a bill to provide for the proper super vision of a newspaper published in the state of New York, and for the appointment of a censor for each newspaper published in Within twenty days after the passag of the act the governor shall appoint said censors, who will hold office during his pleasure. They shall examine and read all articles intended for publication and shall prescribe and eliminate all libelous matter and all matters inimical to the interests of the state or any of the officers thereof.

The compensation of the censors shall be fixed by the comptroller and be borne equally by the state and the newspapers to which they are assigned.

A penalty of not more than five years

nor less than one year's imprisonment and a fine of not more than $5,000 and not less than $1,000 is provided for cases of publication of matter which has not been passed upon and approved by the censor.

It is said that Governor Black approves the bill.

HARRY HILL GOES NORTH.

Home Permanently in the State of Georgia,

Athens, Ga., March & Harry Hill came over from Crawford restorday and said to a few friends that e would leave for New York in a few type on business, but would locate permantly in Georgia.

He seemed grieved that thousands of people should think it was he who is coupled with the Arnold divorce proceedings in Atlanta, as the man in that case bears the same name.

REV. DUBOSE TO LEAVE ATHENS.

He Will Return and Make His

acoa and the murder of the

General Martinez Campos

American citizen, Dr. Ruiz.

longer in Cuba as captain general and com-

naltreating only for political reasons.

ecret society of criminals known here

The Sun from Havana says:

hostil New York, March 9.-A special to The | afternoon, will communicate with General bra World from Havana, via Jacksonville, Fla.,

in Cuba who are called "suspicious" shall be tried by courtmartial. While the penalty not publicly stated, it is supposed that If the women are found guilty the death penalty will be imposed

The assuing of this order has been protested against by some of the foreign con-

the women are hardest to subdue and that if he had his way he would kill them first try them afterwards.

A kinsman of the first president of the republic has been arrested and treated in the most cruel manner possible. He was imprisoned in a small cell, six by nine, and kept incommunicado che hundred drys. He had only one moal a day, slight at that, was reduced to a skeleton by inhuman treatment and is now dying from the effects. He is only sixteen years old.

ALL HEAD FOR CUBA

Many Ships with Mysterious Londs Are Heading Toward the Insurgent Camps.

New York, March 9.-A World special from Miami, Fla., says: The tug Three Friends is at Cape Florida Captain Broward, the owner, who to postpone it for some days, thinking that as General Gomez has not been driven out in the afternoon on the ag O. G. Williams, to join her. The Williams and sevother suspiciously heavy boxes Two suspicious looking steamers, low in the water, passed here yesterday afternoon going south. One came within a mile of eral tons of dynamite on board and many shore and displayed signals. A Cuban went out on the long pier here and waved back several times. The vesse then went south under full head of steam. The government inspectors are not here but Cubans are thick.

GETS AHEAD OF UNCLE SAM.

A Filibuster Is Stopped by a Cruiser but Allowed To Proceed and She Lands Her Ammunition.

New York, March 9.-A special to The Times from Carrabella, Fla., says: It was learned last night on good authorthy that the Cubans got ahead of Uncle

Sam after all and that a big load of arms and ammunttion escaped the watchful eyes The story is that a vessel was londed with baled cotton, the arms being concea'ed in some of the bales, which were hollow, and cruiser, but the cargo was so miccent looking that she was allowed to proceed.

It is said that over 1,000 rides, 750 sabers chetes, 100,000 rounds of animunition. elx cans of dynamite and a large supply of medicine were in the cargo.

PREPARED TO SAIL

The North Atlantic Squadron Is at Consul General Lee's Disposal When He Needs It.

New York, March 9 .- A Sun special from

There will be no reduction of the strength North Atlantic squadron as long as the Cuban question remains prominent and every vessel now attached to Admiral ice's fleet will be retained in service. and others added as fist as ready for

This policy has been determined upon already by the administration and is believed to be because of the lurge number of ford them full protection.

If the fate of Dr. Ruiz befalls another American citizens it is believed that Secre-Sherman will call for a fleet of warships for immediate service at H. vana to support whatever claim may be made by the consul general.

The presence of a warship there would be in accordance with General Lee's suggestion to Mr. Olney last month and there are strong indications that Mr. Sherman in any event will ask that at least one naval vessel be stationed in Cuban waters.
There is no question that if another American is dealt harshly with by the Spaniards a war vessel will soon be on its way to terday morning Secretary Sherman tover an hour with the president in scussion of the Cuben question and cularly the cases of two Americans under arrest, one of whosh has sent regent appeal here for immediate aid, senting that he is liable at any time test the falls that betail issue. Secretary

HEAVY HAND OF THE LAW

A United States Court Judge Talks to Filibuster Hart Before Sentencing Him.

IT WAS A MILITARY EXPEDITION

Risked for Gain, and the Price

This Sensational Part of the Evidence Which Was Introduced by the Defense, the Judge Says Is Unworthy of Belief-The Only Issue at Stake Was the Question of Hart's Knowledge of the Character of the Business He Was Engaged in, and the Jury Settled This.

Philadelphia, March 9.-John D. Hart, of this city, who was convicted in the United States district court on February 23d or the charge of aiding in a Cuban filibuster ing expedition on the steamer Laurada in August last, was yesterday refused a new trial by Judge Butler and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the eastern penitentiary, $500 fine and the costs of Judge Butler spoke at length in denying the motion for a new trial, during which

"I have carefully considered this case and see no reason to set aside the verdict The case was very carefully and deliber ately tried and the verdict was amply sustained by the evidence. I have no hesitation in saying that as the case seeme to me at the end of the testimony and as it now seems there was but one disputable question. That it was a military expedition was proved beyond room for any

"The coming together of the men and arms, the apparent obedience of the men to certain of their number and their conto leave no room for doubt that these men had combined and organized as perfect as Spanish government. That object was avowed by some of the expedition and their declarations are proof against all. The fact that some desired to withdraw and were compelled to go by authority which was despotic of itself, seemed to lemonstrate the character of the expedi-

THE ONLY POINT IN DOUBT. "That they went to Cuba is equally plain That they were carried by the Laurada by preconcerted arrangement is made mantfest by many circumstances. A clearer case in this respect has never been made out. That Hart sent the Laurada and controlled her movements is equally clear. The only debatable question is whether he had knowledge of its military character This was open to discussion and was very fairly and fully discussed.

"The government's proof of such know! edge was the circumstance under which the Laurada was fitted out and Hart's connection with the Cuban party that went to Atlantic City. The defendant argued that these preparations were clear-Hart knew was to carry a cargo of goods that was contraband of war. If the cargo was not prohibited by our laws he would then have had no good reason to conceal his identity with the plan because the only harm to him if the ship were captured by a Spanish cruiser would be the forfeiture of the vessel and its cargo. "The only motive he could have had in concealing his own personal connection with the trip of the Laurada was to deceive the authorities of our government. do not question that he gave, directly or indirectly, the order to send the surf boats from Camden to the Laurada below Wilmington. What object had he to concess his identity except to deceive the authorities of our government? He was closely identified with the Cubans, met them at Atlantic City and directed their movements to Barnegat. The evidence fully justified the conclusion of the jury that he had previous knowledge of the military characert of the expedition

EVIDENCE NOT PLUAUSIBLE. "As to the after discovered testimony, I do not know how the jury could believe such testimony if it had been offered. The new witnesses are of the class that Goldbery (a witness for the defense) was. His testimony hurt the defendant, in my judgself as it not often made in a court of justice. It is alleged that certain men tried ernment and that these men publicly anounced in a barroom that they proposed

"The improbability of the story is shown by the fact that this witness had already on two occasions testified under oath for the government in this matter. Moreover it is alleged that having got him intoxicated they took the witness on the purch of the hotel and thereupon bribed him in language so loud that it was heard in the interior of the building. Such a story is wholly unworthy of belief."

Judge Butler, addressing the defendant, then said:

then add:

"I am sorry to be obliged to sentence, you. I believe, however, that you have been justly convicted after a fair and full trial. The offense is a very grave one, involving the nation's honor and the nation's peace. You entered upon it with your oyes wide open as to the consequences; you did it for the unworthy purpose of per-

AND NOW IT'S TOM WATSON

The Effervescent Populistic Leader Follows the Example Set by McKinley and Bryan.

AND WRITES HIS OWN MESSAGE

He Receives the New Cabinet and Points Out Rocks in the Administration's Path.

SHERMAN AS A MONEY MAKER

Knows How To Make a Fortune in the Public Service-Compliments McKinTey in Some Things, and Thinks the Cabinet as a Whole Is Very Much Like the Chief Executive. Points Out the Problems That Will Entrance Into Office.

New York, March 9 .- And now its Tom

McKinley having delivered his fnaugural ddress and Bryan having delivered what a good many people would like to be his inaugural address, Watson steps before the public and delivers something on his own

It is published in The New York World, and is, in part, as follows: Thomson, Ga., March 7.-There is no sugdministration. It is stalwart to the core McKinley has not obtained his election as a republican with the purpose of antagor ing republican policies. He is not posing as the big chief, who is bigger and better than all the other chiefs, and who is herefore, above all party schackles. He is a republican of the strictest sect and he brings all the weight of a lofty character, superior intellect and amiable disposition to the maintenance of his party's creed. The cabinet he has chosen is as decidedly positive in its make-up as the holds a place in it. No Palmerite secures recognition. The cabinet is rigidly repubmen of strength, capacity and partisan natures. Group the whole official presider tial family together and you get an im-

THE CABINET. These men do not represent the com-mons. There is no hint of the "third estate" whatsoever. In McKinley's cabinet the privileged orders are represented as they have never been before in any American adterpiece, the grouping harmonizes perfectly with the political size, shape and color of that eminent spokesman of privileged com-binations of wealth. The country at large opinion concerning him has crystallized. He commenced his public career without money. He has been continuously in policongressman and of secretary of the treas-ury; out of this he has had to support his amily, and today be is a mi This fortune was made hone wy, no doubt just as Cleveland's was made, but the world believes that Sherman made his er opportunities than any other secretary ever had. There were greater sums of public money to be handled. There were millions upon millions to be handled over to favorite banks to be used, without interest; at a time when the banks found no difficulty in lafely lending it at large profits.

tracting the currency. He is held responsible for the destruction of the paper money He is held responsible, more than any living man, for the legislation which disturbed the harmonious relations between silver and gold, made trouble between two legislation in the interest of gold.

He is also regarded as the especial sponsor and champion of the national banking system, which system is detested by all those who understand it and who do not belong to the class which fattens upon it. To the masses of the people, therefore, the selection of John Sherman as premie of the administration is a significant and ominous fact, and Mr. McKinley has made this impression indelible by grouping around Mr. Sherman other political mag-

Mr. Gage stands for antagonism to the greenbacks, friendship to the national banks and hostility to the increase of the urrency by silver coinage or otherwise. He represents the kind of bimetallism which all the metropolitan bankers want-the unanimous-European-agreement-sortwhich everybody knows he cannot get. Mr. Bliss goes into the presidential famfly redolent of the New York chamber of commerce and the peculiar notions about patriotism any government which emanate from that unselfish region, colored in his views by his local environment, as most of Mr. Bliss will appear to the country at arge as an ideal representative of the Wall street interests. Having been treasurer of the McKinley campaign fund, he, Puzzle the Administration on Its, of all men, knows which corporations contributed, and what those corporations were promised in the way of legislation friendly to corporate wishes. His going into the cabinet will appeal to mean that the McKinley administration intends to keep faith with the said contributors to its expenses. Mr. Bliss is millionaire banker, just as Mr. Sherman was and Mr. Gage is. General Alger is also a millionaire, and his views harmonize with Sherman's. Then comes Gary, another millionaire; then of Massachusetts, attorney trusts and corporations. Then there is Mc-Kenna, of Calofornia, one of Leland Stanford's confidential men, known on the Pacific slope as a corporation lawyer and corporation judge.

These are the strong men of the cabinet and of the commissioner of agriculture Mr. Wilson, it is safe to say that he is in Mr. wilson, it is safe to say that he is in line with the others. It is a distinctly corporation cabinet—a cabinet whose members are identified in principle, in purse and in purpose with the privileged classes. They not only favor corporations and trusts and combinations of capital, but they are a part of the system. They are cogs in the wheel.

CABINET AS A WHOLE.

McKinley's cabinet therefore is made

McKinley's cabinet, therefore, is made up of those who feast on class legislation; those who claim that the laws should be framed in their special interest; those who preach the gospel of legal and political equality, but whose practice tends to concentrate all wealth.

who preach the gospel of legal and political equality, but whose practice tends to concentrate all wealth, all privilege and all power into the hands of a few, thus revolutionisms our republic into an aristocracy based upon wealth alone.

Even Mr. Cleveland allowed representation to the people in the selection of his cabinet. Gresham may not have been an appropriate choice, but he was honest and poor and had proved to the corporations that he was incorruptible. He was, therefore, a man of the people.

The peculiar distinction of the McKinley cabinet is that nobody need nourish any hullucinations concerning it. There is absolutely no room left for guessing. The cabinet is a corporation cabinet, and nobody can doubt it. If the trusts who put up the money to elect McKinley had been asked to select their own preferences for the cabinet they could not have chosen a lot of men more eminently qualified to give them satisfaction:

M'KINLEY'S PROBLEMS.

The problems which confront Mr. Mc-Kinley are these, mainly:

1. How to run the tariff rates up high enough to satisfy the manufacturers who paid for his election without arousing the discontent of the consumers, who will be compelled to pay higher prices for manufactured goods.

2. How to continue to spend more money than the revenues amount to without having to issue bonds, and without letting the people know that taxes are increased.

3. How to give the national bankers a new system still better than the present one, so that they shall have the sole prerogative of issuing paper money without lletting the impression go out that this is done to enrich those who run national banks at the expense of those who do not run them.

4. How to fasten the gold standard permanently upon the country and yet keep the supporters of bimetallism in a state of happy expectation. In this delicate expenses the will be markefully edged by

CUBAN QUESTION.

6 How to let Spain have all the licensashe wants in Cuba, and yet keep up the pretense of being shocked by the savage atrocities she has committed, is now committing and will continue to commit upon innocent men, virtuous women and helpless childre. Here again Mr. McKinley's task will be reduced to the mere imitation of Cleveland's example.

Cleveland's example.

7. How to settle the Pacific railroad duestion without collecting the money or seising the roads or dissatistyme the country with an unreadmable extension.

with an unreampable extension.

To enforce payment of the debt would distress many eminent thieves wh hove not yet satiated their appetite for plunnder; to selze the roads would be giving too much countenance to populist doctrines; to unduly postpone the day of payment might offend more voters than the republicans can afford to lose.

In his dilemma Mr. McKinley will, perhaps, cut the knot by following the judicious course now on trial. Collection of the debt will be talked of, but no collection debt will be talked of, but no collection made; seizure of the roads will be discussed made; seizure of the roads will be discussed but no seizure attempted; postponement of the day of payment will be debated, but no definite postponement voted.

By this judicious manner of procedure the eminent plunderers keep the property and are satisfied, while the people are kept in the hope that something will be done and are likewise satisfied.

8. How to increase the taxes on the food.

8. How to increase the taxes on the food, clothinf, twois, furniture and other necessaries of life and yet keep the income tax question from bobbing up again. To tax the many poor to enrich the protected few and yet exempt the protected few from the income tax is a policy which may cause trouble if not very tenderly handled.

To this populist—unrepentant and unre-constructed—the foregoing appear to be the problems confronting Mr. McKinley. That he will deal with them adroitly, intelligently and courageously is not to be doubt-ed. That he can solve them to the satis-faction of a majority of his fellow citizens

In legislating to satisfy the protected classes will run the risk of alienating the unprotected masses.
THOMAS E. WATSON.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES.

TWO BUILDINGS BURN IN WAYNES-BORO IN ONE NIGHT.

The Residence of J. B. Thomas and the Haven Normal School Are Destroyed and the Cause of Them Is Unknown.

Waynesboro, Ga., March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. The residence of J. B. Thomas was burned here yesterday morning. It was nsured for $1,500. The Haven Normal school building was also burned last night. The amount of ir surance on it is unknown, as the trustees of the colored school reside in the north, but it is supposed to be $1,800. The cause for them is not known and there is much mystery and supposition connected with the origin of them. A CONSIDERATE BURGLAR.

but Does Not Disturb the Unadilla, Ga., March 9.

Takes a Purse from Dr. Wooten, local to The Evening Constitution. A bold burglar got in his work last night at the residence of Dr. L. O. Wooten, in this place.

The doctor and his family had retired eaving the front door unlocked. The burglar boldly entered the front door, went sleeping, and taking a purse from his trousers' pocket containing $23, left the house, without leaving any clew and with-In the front yard the purse was thrown aside with $5 in it, which was evidently overlooked by the bold intruder

ON BOIS DE BOULOGNE.

Miss Thornton Falls from Her Bi cycle with Possibly Fatal

New York, March 9 .- A Journal cable from Paris says: Miss Helen Thornton, the young daugh ter of Crittenden Thornton, a lawyer of San Francisco, and prospective heiress to the extent of a few millions, fell from her bicycle in the Bois de Boulogne Sunday

Miss Thornton's condition was so from the shock Sunday night that the peration of setting was not possible until vesterday afternoon. Last night her condition was alarming. MILITARY DAY AT ALBANY.

Governor Ackinson has sent out invita-tions to the members of his staff to ac-company him to Albany to attend the chautaugua March 22d. He will leave the city on the afternoon of March 21st, and all the members of his staff who accom-pany him will be expected to appear in all the members of his staff who accompany him will be expected to appear in uniform, and he hopes to have them all with him. There will be ample preparations made to give the chief executive a warm welcome, and he and his staff will

SEMINARY BURNED.

The Elijay Institution Destroyed b

The Ellijay seminary was burned last night at 11 o'clock. There was no insur-ance on the building. The cause of the Columbus Is Likely To Have Another Hostelry.

GREEKS FIRE ON GERMANS

A Blank Shot from One of the Kaiser's Ships in Arswered by a Broadside Shot from a Greek One.

GREEKS PARADE IN TURKEY

Confers Upon the Situation in Crete.

Whether the Blockade Would Be Advisable and Whether England Will Participate in It-Any Shadow of Compromise Made by Greece Will Be Accepted.

New York, March 9.-A special dispatch to The Herald from Constantinople says:

According to a telegraphic commu received here from Crete Sunday evening ronclad Hydra to discontinue her con received a full broadside from the Hydra.

Sunday was the last day of the Greek carnival. A number of demonstrations were indulged in by the Greek population here who paraded the town, wearing the Greek minister at New York, but if the reports are true, we don't expect to hear from him for some time."

BITTER WAR IS NOW ON.

Continued from First Page.

Continued from First Page.

Mr. Constantine will write a letter to Greece today and find out exactly what the true situation is. He has many relatives there who are officers in the army and they can easily give him information from the inside.

The Greeks here will rest on their arms and wait developments. One of them said that if the reports were true he was positive that King George would be asked to abdicate his throne.

BANDITS MISS A REGEPTION

HOLD UP OF THE DULUTH LIMITED FAILED TO MATERIALIZE.

The Special Officers Missed the Expected Excitement and the Bandits the Proposed Warm

St. Paul, Minn., March 9 .- A special from

Chippewa Falls, Wis, says: A snowstorm and a belated passenger train were two circumstances that probably prevented an encounter between a gang of bandits and a hundred or more armed deputies last night.

A few days ago the officials of the Omaha road received information that an attempt would be made to hold up the Duluth limited. The place selected for the attempt is a lonely spot in the forest about three miles north of Hawthorne.

Had the Duluth train not been delayed some hours in a snow drift the bandits The baggage and mail cars were filled with deputies armed to the teeth.

flag the train and just as soon as it slowed up two men were to secure control of rified the mail and baggage cars and went through the passengers in the coaches. The dits to flag the train, but would call a halt there.

When the train arrived at the scene of the proposed robbery the bandits had departed. It is understood one of the gang furnished the information.

ANDRE'S BALLOON TO START

And All Northern Canadians Are Requested To Keep Their Eyes Up in the Air.

New York, March 9.-A World special from Ottawa, Ont., says: The government of Sweden has notified the government of Canada that Professor Andre will start from Stockholm about the

the north pole.

It is requested that instructions be given the Canadian officials at different points in the northwest territories and along Hudson bay to report if sighted.

AUGUSTA POSTMASTERSHIP.

A Lively Scramble for Mr. Dunbar's Place Going On.

Augusta, Ga., March 9.

Special to The Evening Constitution.

The inauguration of President McKinley gives new impetus to the postofice fight in Augusta, and all the applicants for the vell as democrats.

The case of the postmaster in Charlesta ho was appointed by President Clovelan ring his first term and has held officiency ears, is cited as a neighboring redent, and the friends of Postmaster bar are hoping that the civil service assions of President McKinley may be ed actual principles in his case. The can be no possible excuse for the val of Postmaster Dunbar except the office was associated was associated was associated.

THE THING

Board, and the Members Resolve To Get Down to Business.

REORGANIZED FOR THE YEAR

As Forecasted in The Evening Conattention Yesterday Captain English Was Elected Chairman.

PATTERSON MADE VICE CHAIRMAN

Major Kendrick Begins His Career on the Board as Secretary-He Starts the Members To Talking About Military Discipline for the Police Force. Will Better the Department.

When Captain Brotherton arose last night and said he wanted to make a no nination for the chairmanship of the new board of police commissioners, every one of the members seated around the table turned on the speaker.

It was understood before the meeting. and so announced in The Evening Constitution yesterday, that the pending deadlock and struggle had been settled and that Captain English was to be chairman of the board.

It was the nomination of his old tac tional enemy that Commissioner Brotherton was making. The two giants on the board have covered and buried their op-The two leaders of the past reigning factions had made up and the of a threatening deadlock disappeared.

Captain English was unanimously elected, and made an appropriate speech. Commissioner Patterson was elected vice chairman. Commissioner Kendrick secretary.

Commissioner Branan made a most befit ting speech when he turned the chair over to Mayor Collier, thanking the members of the board for their earnest support. KENDRICK TAKES HOLD.

Major Kendrick was introduced into the board last night as a raw recruit. He placed his name on the register of the commissioners for the first time.

Now that Major Kendricks is seated around the board it is an important question with the general public on what line he will work. He very plainly showed his position last night. Major Kendrick is an enthusiastic soldier. If there is anything he likes it is discipline To get the pleasing looks of Major Kendricks while on the street every policemar should learn the art of saluting an officer

It was suggested at the meeting las night by him that a man who could teach the patrolmen how to properly salute an officer and learn them the set-up of a soldier be placed in charge of the barracks and that in connection with his other duties he would be the drill master of the po-

Then Major Kendrick wants the military collar for the new summer coats. "It looks much nicer and there is very little if drick. This will be passed on later by the

During the session it was also suggested by Major Kendrick that there be public inspections of the patrolmen.

"I noticed on the street the other day," said Major Kendrick, "one of the ratroleffort was painful."

So get out your military manual with all the fancy maneuvers of the soldier and be able to put them into practice if you want to make a hit with the new commissioner SALARIES ARE CUT DOWN.

The keen-edged ax which Mayor Collier violes with such force, made its appearance in the commissioners' room last night. Their appropriation had been reduced by the mayor and council, and they must fix their salary list accordingly. Chief Connolly lost $200 a year off of his salary. The captains lost $100 off theirs loner Branan had made a careful study of the salary question and submitted an estimate of all the salaries to be paid. The total of his account was only a few dollars over the appropriation. It was adopted by the board.

troimen and officers will hereafter be the property of the city. It was ordered last night that Chief Connolly buy all the buttons used on the uniforms and that whe man is laid off or is discharged he will have to turn over the buttons on his uniform to the chief.

several men who had been discharged had continued to wear the buttons on their uniforms and to ride on the electric cars as

Under the present standing of affairs there will be no trouble in the board of ssioners. Things opened up smooth ly last night, and unless some unforseer at is made there will be harmony among the members forevermore.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Commissioner Nesbitt and Others Will Leave for Augusta Sunday To Be Present.

The Georgia Cotton Growers' Protective Association will meet in Augusta Monday. The meeting will be one of large imporance to the farmers of the state.

Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, commissioner of griculture, is getting ready to go down

Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, commissioner of agriculture, is getting ready to go down and there will be quite a number of prominent men from this part of the state present at the meeting.

The association will make one last appeal to the planters of Georgia to roduce the cotton acreage and will discuss the great question in all its bearings.

Colonel Walliam A. Broughton, who is at the head of the association in Georgia, is very anxious to have a large representation of farmers present and Colonel Nesbitt is seconding his efforts.

Application has been made to the railroad authorities for a one-fare rate for the round trip and it is hoped that the delegates can secure such a concession, as the meeting is one of such vital importance to a large class of producers.

Hon. Hector D. Lane, president of the American Cotton Growers' Protective Association, will be there and will give his views and experience on the matter std the discussions will be of great interest to all who attend.

W. C. HALE

Offered for the Apprehension of the Missing Man.

WANTED BADLY BY CREDITORS

Disclose Further Queer Doings in His Financial Career.

BOUGHT BANKRUPT CONCERN THERE

Gave Southern Mutual Securities for the Stock of the Concern, Which Was Said To Have Been on the Verge of Collapse-Receivers and Attorneys Hard at Work.

A reward will be offered for the arres and apprehension of W. C. Hale, the abconding president of the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association. This has een decided upon, but the amount of the eward has not yet been fixed.

The announcement that a reward will be ffered for Hale will come in the nature of surprise to many people, who believed that scarcely any effort would be made to locate the fugitive and bring him back to face his accusers and the scene of hi misdoings.

The decision to offer a reward for Hale was reached after a conference and a further investigation into the affairs of the association which he so badly man

A prominent gentleman who is interest ed in the settlement of the association's ousiness said this morning:

"The further we go into this investi ration the worse it gets, and you may fee sure that Hale will not be allowed to escape the punishment which is justly due He is somewhere not a thousand miles from Atlanta and the proper reward will bring him back to this city His location is known and it will be easy to get him as soon as the reward is anounced and the detectives are informed as to the amount."

Some further developments as to Hale's nisdoings were made yesterday when Re ceiver O'Byrne and Mr. Jack J. Spalding visited Nashville in the interest of the

HE BOUGHT A NASHVILLE CONCERN In Nashville there is held something like $60,000 in stock in the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association of this city. The association also has several thousan which Mr. L. D. Palmer is the receiver. He was appointed by Chancellor Cooke, of the Nashville district, and treated the Atlanta gentlemen with much courtesy. He proposes to work in harmony with the permanent receivers of the association in this state and to the best interests of the thousands of stockholders throughout the

While in Nashville Mr. Spalding and Mr. O'Byrne developed the fact that some months ago Hale bought out the Hermitage Building and Loan Association of that city. The institution was on the verge of collapse when Hale visited Nashville and made a proposition to the directors, which was accepted. This proposition was that he would issue stock in the Southern Muchange for the stock held by the stock holders of the Hermitage association. The transaction was made against the advice of his local counsel and the general counsel of the association here, and there was never any record of the transaction consequently no one knew of the matter until the visit of the gentlemen to Nashville yesterday and the investigation which followed.

A representative of the Iowa Life Insur ance Company arrived in Atlanta yester day afternoon to consult with the receivompany holds of the association here. He has an engagement this afternoon and it is more than probable that some understand ng may be reached.

NEW DEPOT FOR DALTON.

tailroad Commission 'Asked To Tak Steps in the Matter by the Dalton People.

It is probable that Dalton will at last secure a new union passenger depot, a thing that has been long needed in that growing town.

The present structure would disgrace a country village and now that the people of Dalton are putting on metropolitan airs, they have asked the Georgia railroad commission for relief in the matter.

mission for relief in the matter.

It is the policy of the commission, however, to settle all such questions, where it is practicable, outside of the commission. Correspondence has been opened with the heads of the two railroads passing through Dalton, and Colonel Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and Colonel Thompson, of the Southern, have both intimated that they will take the matter under consideration and build the depot without the intervention of the authorities. The people of Dalton have been working at the matter for some time, but the railroad companies have pleaded hard times and poor business and the people have waited for matters to look up a little.

The new structure will probably be built after modern designs and will give the Daltonians a better showing when they desire to travel over either of the two lines.

DEATH OF MRS. DODSON.

of Hapeville's Oldest Residents Passed Away Yesterday.

HARMONY REWARD FOR OXFORD WILL MORE THAN MARRY HER

Peace Reigns Over Atlanta's Police It Is Said That a Big Amount Will Be Alleged Betrayer of Miss Rosele Wig- Fifty-Fourth Congress Reaches the The Latter Lying Dangerously Wound-Mark in the Number of Dollars gins Has Consented to a Marriage Ceremony.

It Has Appropriated.

Than Risk Wearing the Stripes.

WARRANT WILL BE WITHDRAWN

WEDDING OCCURS THIS AFTERNOON

Young Man Says He Will Make Reparation for His Alleged Wrong Rather Than Face a Humiliating Court

The charge of seduction upon which young Eugene Oxford has been arrested will be withdrawn this afternoon in the event the young man carries out his prom se to marry his victim.

An arrangement was perfected this morn ing, and the ceremony is announced for this afternoon at the home of the young girl, 321 Fair street.

Oxford was arrested last Saturday, as told exclusively in The Evening Constitution. He was charged with having accomplished the ruin of Rosele Wiggins, young girl with whom he was infatuated.

The criminal warrant upon which Oxford was arrested was issued at the request of the girl's father, who became the prosecutor in the case. The young man was tried in Justice Orr's court last Saturday and bound over to the criminal court. At the trial the prosecution was represented by Attorneys Upshaw and Robinson, and Oxford was defended by Mr. George C. Glenn, of Glenn & Roun-The statement of the young woman was given in detail at the fustice trial. She stated that Oxford had frequently promis ed to marry her, and that she had every confidence in him, believing he would carry out his promises. It was on account of this deception, she says, that caused her

One Sabbath afternoon last fall she said Oxford called at her home on the pretense of carrying her to Sunday school. Instead of going to the mission she says he carried her for a walk and under the promise of marriage betrayed her. Oxford made the statement denying that he had ever promised to marry the girl This afternoon Oxford will be released from jail and will make reparation by mar-

BASEBALL AFTER ALL.

PRESIDENT MOYERS SAYS THE AT-LANTA CLUB WON'T DISBAND.

The Club Will Play Other Georgia and Northern Clubs and a Good Schedule Is Now Being Arranged.

The Atlanta baseball club will not dis-

Although the Southern League has gone under the Atlanta club will stay together and there will be ball this season. There are fully a dozen cities around

Atlanta who have independent clubs and Atlanta will play among these. "We want it distinctly understood that there will be no amateur ball in it," said President Moyers. 'There will not be a player but who has played professional ball

President Moyers named over a few of the cities which have independent professional clubs and among them are Knox-ville, Chattanooga, Columbus, Pensacola, Eufaula, Savannah, Charleston and many others.

"We have promised Atlantians that we would give them baseball and we intend to do it. The ball they will get here will be just as good as would have ever been played in the Southeastern League and probably better.
"There are several cities which have written to make your that they wanted a mim-ten to me saying that they wanted a num-ber of games with Atlanta. The clubs I have heard from so far say that they have professional players and that they will give a good exhibition of ball." Atlanta's team will arrive here in the next few days and then they will begin their practicing. Sheridan is now writing to the different clube who want to play professional ball making dates.

There will be ten games with the National League teams. The schedule for these have been arranged and they will be

This will give the ball cranks an oppor unity to see, anyway, the further sects of the season. President Moyers here will be ball, there must be ball.

MORE WORK FOR PAYNE.

Talk of Changing the Plan of Tur ing Over Money Collected by the Marshal,

It is quite likely that a move will b inaugurated at once to have all the mone which goes to the marshal's office turned into the tax collector's hands. Heretefore the tax payer has gone to the marshal's office to pay his indebtedness, and the marshal and his deputies have had the ex-clusive handling of the money since the

In the near future this system may be changed and Tax Collector Payne will have another burden of gold and silver laid upon

Mr. Payne, always cheerful, does not seem to mind the prospects of an avalanche of currency that will be dumped upon him

Anheuser-Busch Browing As

A BILLION LANIER ALIVE

ed at Decatur and Is Not Expected To Survive.

He Expresses No Regret for Having tions and River and Harbor Attempted To Kill the Man Who He Says Wronged Him.

This Morning.

SAYERS HAS SOMETHING TO SAY

He Believes the System of Making Appropriations To Be Wrong and Objects to Senstorial Courtesies Being Shown So Much-Naval and Federal Large Items.

Washington, March 9.-The congression record today contains a statement made by the chairman of the house com mittee on appropriations, Mr. Joseph G. Gannon, of Illinois, relative to the appro-priations made by the fifty-fourth congress. Mr. Gannon's statement is in part

"The total appropriations for the two ses sions of this congress aggragate $1,043,437, 013. The appropriations of the fifty-third congress, which was democratic in both branches, with a democratic executive mounted, according to the official tables to $989,239,205. To this sum, however, should be added $4,400,000 on account of interes ed sinking fund charges for bonds issued by the democratic administration which were not included in the estimates of permanent appropriations submitted to con gress and stated in the tables; which brings the sum total of appropriations for all eb jects by the fifty-third congress up or $983,639,205, or $49,797,812 less than the appropriations, including the deficiencie nade by the present congress.

In explanation of this apparent exces f appropriations by the fifty-fourth con gress over those of the fifty-third congress it should be stated that the fifty-fourth ongress made increases over its immediate predecessor on account of fortifications in sum of $12,563,467; on account of river and harbor works, including contracts therefor, in the sum of $2,476,506; on account of the construction of public build ings, none of which were authorized by the ifty-fourth congress, in the sum of $2,343, 394 for the postal service in the sum of $11.454.35; for the naval establishment in the sum of $8,947,523, and on account of interest and sinking fund charges for the onds issued by the administration just leaving power, $24,983,744; or a total of

CANNON EXPLAINS.

Mr. Cannon admits that the appropria dons exceed the legitimate demands of the public service, but this results, he says, from conditions growing out of the rules of the house, the so-called courtesy of the senate and the excessive estimates submitted to congress. The record shows that in no instance during many years past have the appropriations made by congress measured up to the full amounts recommended and asked for by the adminis tration.

Mr. Cannon condemns the practice of the senate in recent years of amending approclaims of every kind and character outstanding against the government—claim that have no status in many cases other than perfunctory reports from committees mere findings of the court of claims, and recommendations and requests from bureau officers and other officials of the govern the establishment of a tribunal of final jurisdiction whisher these claims may be sent for fuller intelligent consideration.

He joins Mr. Dockery in condemning the present arrangement of dividing the appropriation bills among a number of com

Mr. Sayers, of Texas, another member of the committee on appropriations, also makes public under a leave to print, his views respecting the appropriations for the fifty-fourth congress. He says:

CONTRACT SYSTEM. "I believe in the continuing contrac system, as applied to river and harbo improvements and other necessary public works, but not to the extent to which i has been entered upon by this congress. In the river and harbor act, named at the last session under suspension of the rules, without the opportunity of discussion or amendment, thirty-seven works were authorized to be placed under contracts, involving a total expenditure of $59,616,404. "After critical examination of these contracts authorized by the committee on appropriations at this session it was devel oped that one of these works authorise to be prosecuted under contract for $1,000,000, was so absolutely destitute of merit that the war department had refused to take any steps whatever looking toward the prosecution of the work. "In another case authority was given to enter into contract for an importan work on the Atlantic coast to the exten of more than $4,500,000, for whose prosecu tion a proposal has been made and accepted involving less than one-half that su As to three other important works, the es-timated cost of which authority to enter nto contracts for their completion was based proved to be erroneous and insufficient by about B per cent in each case.

"These illustrations prove that the practice of authorising contracts for public works should not only be carefully con-sidered in the light of the condition of the treasury, but only after the fullest inves-tigation as to the real merits of and the necessity for the improvements contem-plated and only on the most carefully pre-pared and absolutely accurate estimates COST OF THE NAVY.

"One of the causes for the enormous growth in appropriations of late years has been the increase of our navy. Since that work was inaugurated in 1833, seventy-seven ships of all classes have been constructed or authorized to be constructed as a cost of more than $130,000.000 Airead the manher of ships authorized would require.

CANNON MAKES EXPLANATION HIS ASSAILANT STILL IN JAIL

No Steps Will Be Taken To Prosecute Perry Until It Is Seen What the Result of Lanier's Wounds Will Be

Lanter Makes Another Statement

The life of N. B. Lanier, the man shot brough the lungs by H. S. Perry, at Decatur yesterday, told of fully in The Evening Constitution yesterday, still hangs in Those who have been watching around his bedside say that his breathing is difficult, and that it looks only a question of time when the strength he now has will leave him.

Perry, who fired the fatal shot, is still kept in the DeKalb county jail. He is extremely cool and does not seem to realize the position in which his rash act has placed him

"What I did, I did with great forethought and with a perfectly cool head. When the circumstances in the case are known I will not only be exonerated, but the public will say I did what any man who cares anything for his honor would have done.' This was all that Perry would say concerning his act.

LANIER'S STATEMENT TODAY. In a statement made this morning to one of the friends of his. Lanier told of the circumstances and the trouble.

"Perry and his wife parted some time ago," said the wounded man, between gasps. "They finally agreed to again live together as man and wife.

"The cause of their quitting at first was because Perry paid too much attention to other women. This was more than Mrs. Perry would stand, and the only agreement of her ever again living with him was that he was to be her husband and pay attention to no one else. "After they made up Mrs. Perry asked m to watch him, and if I saw him paying any attention to other women to let her know Perry was a fast man and went with wo men of questionable reputation. I saw this and told Mrs. Perry about it.

"She got after her husband about it, and when he learned that I was the one who told Mrs. Perry of his actions he sent me a letter telling me to leave Atlanta. "I did so, as I did not want to get into difficulty. I never knew that Perry was anywhere in the neighborhood when I saw him on the train." PERRY'S SIDE OF THE CASE. The story that Perry's friends are trying to give out for his action is that on Friday night Lanler attempted an assault on his wife. Perry himself won't say a word about this. Nothing will be done further in the case until Lanier either recovers or dies. As scon as the wounded man is strong enough, if he lives, there will be a preliminary trial and Perry will have to answer to the charge of assault with intent to murder. If Lanier dies, then murder will be the case booked against him.

FREUNDSCHAFTBUND SOCIETY

The Annual Massuerade Rall Will Be Given Tonight-The City Council Invited.

The Freundschaftbund Society in this city will give their annual masquerade ball at their hall tonight.

The affair promises to be a great success. There will be a lively crowd present, among them some of the fastisious members of the general council, as this honorable body has een sent special invitations. A committee composed of John Hoffman, chairman, Charles E. Fauss, secretary; H. Menville, George Rapp, T. Oes-gher, Chris Moninger, H. Bush, have charge of the affairs and they promise a delightul evening to all who attend.

it is said, twice the present number of aukeep them all in commission. The cost of their daily maintenance alone is a severe draft upon our diminished revenues. Some of the most expensive of these great ships are already classed by naval experts as obsolete. It would have been wiser if we had heeded the advice urged by many in the beginning in the construction of our new navy to confine appropriations within lines simply sufficient to keep pace with the progress of modern naval architecture.

"The appropriations made for the support of the federal government have grown to such startling proportions within the last dozen years as to render it wellnigh impossible to devise means of raising rev-enues wherewith to meet the expenditures. enues wherewith to meet the expenditures. If the new administration just about to cross the threshold of power carries out its pledges by giving to the country a protective tariff, it will utterly fast to produce the means of meeting expenditures, if they are to be maintained on the existing high phase, unless, persiventure, the protective tariff measure should be supplemented with a tax on coffee and tea, and perhaps other taxes of an equally onerous nature."

VICTORIOUS

In Two Contentions in the West the Employers Finally Submit to Their Terms.

THE AGREEMENTS ARE SIGNED

and Laborers Who Struck in Chicago Returning Again to Work.

SHIP BUILDERS' TROUBLE IS OVER

Company in Cleveland Meet with the State Board of Arbitration and a Settlement Is Made Which the Strikers Consider To Be a Victory for Them.

Chicago, March 9.-Of the 1,200 union plasterers and laborers who struck Saturday and Monday 250 have returned to work, the contractors for whom they were working having signed the union scale of wages, which is operative until May 1st. Contractors who employed 250 more of the strikers signify their intention of signing the agreement as soon as it is presented to them and most of them did attach their signatures at union headquarters during the day and evening and the men will be at work on the buildings again this morn-

The prospects are that 250 more of the strikers will be in a position Wednesday night to return to work by their employers signing the agreement within that time, which would make a total of 750 men whose bosses have refused or intend to refuse to abide the resolution of the central building league to reduce the wages of building operatives.

The quick return of such a large portion of the men to work signifies the collapse of the movement to reduce wages, and the union scale of wages for men employed in the building trades, which terminates May ist, will probably be renewed without any serious labor disturbances.

THE MEN WIN IN THE STRIKE

The Ship Yard Owners Agree To Submit to the Demands of the Men.

Cleveland, O., March 9 .- The 800 employe of the Globe Shipbuilding Company, who have been out on a strike for several weeks, met yesterday with Manager New man, of the company, and Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, and after a lengthy conference the trouble was settled and most of the men will return to work this morning. The company agrees to recognize the mion and to use its influence to induce the non-union men now employed in the yards to join the union. Double time will be paid for work done Bundays and holidays and time and a half will be paid Saturday.

POLICE FORCE ELECTION.

THE OLIVE BRANCH CREATES SOME POLITICAL SUSPICIONS.

me Think It Will Result in a New Successor to Chief Conolly-Will Doubtless Do Away with a Majority Caueus.

Now that the new police board has been duly organised those who are interested in the inside workings of the department will have their attention turned to election which takes place the last of this month, when ane ntire police force will be selected, from chief down to hostler. This election occurs once every two years Of course the all paramount question is:

Who will be chief? So far there is no candidate announced against the present incumbent. Arthur B. Connolly. As stated in yesterday's Even-ing Constitution the rather sudden olive branch move in the police board may have some bearing on the election of the force. one of the commissioners was asked:
"Will the harmonious and unanimous election of Captain English as chairman of the board have any effect on the selection

His reply was rather suggestive. He said: "What condition of affairs do you magine would make the lion and the lamb lie down together?"
"An agreement between the lion and the lamb which was satisfactory to both," he

"Then, if you wish to prognosticate, just work out your political problem on that hypothesis," he said as he winked his official eye.

WHAT IT MAY MEAN.

WHAT IT MAY MEAN.

This may mean that this year the police department will be chosen by all the members of the board, and there will be no causus of a majority faction as there has been in the past. Many times a majority of the board has in a caucus picked out all the officers and men they wished, and when the election came off the minority sat quietly by and sucked their thumbs, while the majority put through their programme. But this year the dove is futtering around the commissioners' room and he is But this year the dove is fluttering around the commissioners' room and he is perched upon an olive branch while he warbles a song of peace and good will.

It is too early in the game to say whether or not this will effect the chief's election. There are those who think that a cheif might be cosen who will be more agreeable to certain members than Chief Connolly is reported to have been. Or it may only mean that the entire force is to be selected without prejudice and perfect harmony.

READY FOR CONVENTION

The International Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Will Take Place at Mobile.

APRIL 21 TO 25 IS THE DATE

Present and Will Deliver Addresses,

ALL ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE

John R. Mott, Who Has Just Completed a Tour of the World Among the Colleges, Will Deliver the Master Address on a "World Wide Student Movement."

Mobile, Ala., March 9.-The committees have been appointed and preparations are being made for the adequate reception and entertainment of the international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, which will meet here April 21st to to 25th inclusive. Among the speakers who have already agreed to take part in the convention are the Right Rev. Bishop Sessums, of Louis-iana, and Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt university, two of the leading ganizers and Christian workers of the south; Pastor C. I. Scoffeld, of Northfield, Mass. Mr. Scofield is an ex-confederate officer and lawyer of the leading preachers and Bible stu-dents of the country. He will have charge of the Bible work of the convent Mr. John R. Mott, the leading young man in Christian work in America today, who has just returned from a eighteen among the colleges of the world, will give the master address of the occ There will be other leading clergy and aymen who will take an active part in Three presidents of previous conventions and nine of the leading members of the nternational committee have already sigaified their intention to be present. The singing of the convention will be under the direction of John P. Hillis, who has been associated with Rev. B. Fay Mills as a gospel singer. Mobile, Ala., and the south expect great things from this con-her power, to do well her part and give her distinguished guests a genuine southvention. Mobile intends as far as it lies in THREE BONDS STILL OUT. efferson and Laurens Counties Are Still Behind and Have Not Yet

The bonds of all the tax collectors and tax receivers have been accounted for ex-cept those of the tax receiver of Lau-rens and the tax collector of Jefferson Captain Wright is still in Florida, where he was called by the illness of his wife, who is at Tampa, and nothing will proba-bly be done until his return. The bonds of the tax officers of Upson vere found in the office of the who died not long after he was re-el and before he had sent the bonds t

Been Heard From.

It is supposed that the tax officers of Jefferson and Laurens made their bonds and that the same fate befell them that overtook the bond of Tax Collector Sanovertook the b ford, of Floyd,

At all events they have not turned up, and neither of the officers can begin the discharge of their duties under the law until the bonds are filed with the comptroller. discharge of their duties under the law until the bonds are filed with the comptroller. In many instances there are irregularities in the bonds that must be corrected before they are filed. In a number of cases a bond has been received at the executive office, where the name of a citizen has been affixed with others following his algnature and his name has been erased.

In such a case as that the bond is sent back as when a name is erased and other names follow, it is presumed that the others signed the bond under impression that that man was to be on the bond. Should trouble arise the other bondsmen would set up the claim that they were not liable for the reason that they were not liable for the reason that they were not liable for the reason that they only consented to go on the bond in case the original signer was on it.

All such bonds are sent back to have the error corrected. This is one among other reasons why the bonds are required to be filed before an official begins to execute the duties of his office.

FEW PLACES LEFT. Sovernor Johnston, of Alabama, Has Almost Completed His List. Montgomery, Ala., March & Special to The Evening Constitution.

Governor Johnston has almost completed the arduous task of making the exec aspectors, who must be practical m and three state examiners of public as nts, who must be expert accountants. SENT FREE TO MEN.

There are yet to be appointed three m

INDIANA MAN DISCOVERS A RE-MARKABLE REMEDY FOR LOST VIGOR

Samples Will Be Sent Free to All Who Write For It.

James P. Johnston, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., after battling for years against the mental and physical suffering of lost maunood has found the exact remedy that cures the tour

ble. He is guarding the secret carefully, but is willing to send a sample of the medicine to all men who suffer with any form of sexual weakness resulting from youthful ignorance, premature loss of memory and strength, weak back, varicocele and emaciation. The remedy has a peculiarity graterial effect of warmth and seems to act directly, giving nesded strength and development wherever needed. The remedy cured Mr. Johnston completely of all the lils and troubles that come from years of misuse of the naturally ordained functions and is said to be absolutely reliable in every case. A request to Mr. James P. Johnston of the naturally ordained functions and is said to be absolutely reliable in every case. A request to Mr. James P. Johnston. Box 1900, Ft. Wayhe, Ind., stating that you would like a sample of his remedy for men will be compiled with promptly and no charge whatever will be asked by him. He is very much interested in apreading the news of this great remedy and he is careful to send the sample securely sealed in a perfectly plain package, so that, its rec-

THE EVENING GONSTITUTION EVERY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY.

00 WHAT IT COSTS 00

BY THE WEEK.

BY THE YEAR. By Mail, postage prepaid - $4.00

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS!

Where The Evening Constitution is delivered by objections will be made by them BY THE Where The Evening Constitution is de-by mall, cash in advance is required, at the rate of $4.00 peryear, $2.00 for six months, $1.00 fo

> PERSONS ing the city for a week or longer ave THE EVENING CONSTITU-TION mailed to any address in the United States for 10 cents per week, Don't fall to do it, It will be as good as a letter from home every day, ex-

Nichols & Holliday, Constitution Building, Adver-ling Managers for advertising outside of Atlanta.

ATLANTA, GA., March 9, 1897.

EVENING CONSTITUTION'S INAUGU-RAL REPORT.

On all sides The Evening Constitution being complimented for its magnificent report of the inaugural exercises on the 4th

Within five minutes after President Mc-Kinley had taken the oath of office the Arst edition of The Evening Constitution was on the street, giving the people a detailed account of the exercises of the day and including every feature to and through the delivery of the inaugural address,

A few minutes after 12 o'clock ten bright, new pages were on the street, and at 2:30 o'clock twelve-page Evening Constitutions were falling on the doorsteps of the city of Atlanta like snowflakes in a winter

No evening newspaper published in the city of Atlanta ever had a more phenomenal run, or ever met an important news development more promptly or more satis-

The Evening Constitution's inaugural re port was more elaborate than that of any other southern evening newspaper, and of the evening exchanges which have reached us not one evening newspaper south contained a report which ed with it in completeness of de-

Southern Associated Press did ex cellent work in its report of every detail of the inauguration exercises, and both in rning and evening reports it illus trated in a practical manner the superiority of the United Press and its allied or zations over any other press associa-

PEACE REIGNS AT WARSAW.

No more gratifying announcement could be made to the people of Atlanta than that the division which has long existed in the police board is at an end, and that the two factions, headed respectively by Cap-tain W. H. Brotherton and Captain J. W. English, have come together.

This factional alignment in the police board has entered almost every phase of municipal politics for the past ten years. The contention growing out of it has done the city no good, and the announcement feud is at an end gives cause for

The Evening Constitution heartily congratulates both Messrs. English and therton for the manly course they have pursued. They are among Atlanta's most esentative citizens, being men of sceribusiness worth and each devoted to Now let the example set by them be followed in every other department of the city government and the effect will be im diately felt in the advancement of the

The Evening Constitution Joins in the general rejoicing and it is prepared to partake of the feast of the fatted culf.

WILL THIS BUILD A CITY! How shall we build up a great me-

Will a revival every month in the year

Will a tabernacle take the place of fac-

Will sensational evangelists take the place of men of business and enterprise?

Will it benefit the town to close the postmee on Sunday? If so, let us close the depot and discontinue the Sunday pas-ger trains. congregate here for business. They did not come here primarily to organize Young and revivals. These things are incidental, and are not the main factors of a city's angelists are needed, and, if they were all like Sam Jones, they would always be welcome, but occasionally we have one who does more harm than good.

We need evangelists, but we also need H. aballs, and just at present we need the Kimballs more than any other class. Still there is room for both. Such evangeists as Jones would never interfere with per and healthful growth of any truly good city like Atlanta, but would aid

POLITICS AND BUSINESS.

ere are a few newspapers in Georgia se whole existence seems to be devoted tration the ghost of a showing. They upon it in advance and condemn it a line of conduct which menaces our wel-fare we propose to sound the alarm promptly and fight them vigorously. But in the meantime, until something de velops, fair play should be our watch Nothing could be more unjust than to condemn the new administration in advance, almost before it has finished kicking its heels at the inaugural ball.

AN INVITING OPENING.

Thousands of gentlemanly citizens in the outh who are now out of a job should do a little serious thinking.

Perhaps they have not been in sympathy with the democratic party for a long time.

Perhaps they have favored the policy Possibly they have quietly given aid and

If they find themselves in this situation they should prepare their credentials and apply for federal offices under the new administration.

We may look out for many surprises in

NOT A SOUTH HATER.

Fortunately we now have a republican president who is not a south hater. Mr. McKinley is interested in econ questions, but he has never uttered a word which indicated any ill feeling toward the

He wants no force bill-no measure directed against one section for the benefit

He has no prejudice against southerners and ex-confederates. He is an American,

mmm. The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Sones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution. ----- and cares very little about sectional lines. This should be said of him as a matter of simple justice.

An Evangelist

of the People

About twenty years ago, when I was on Georgia railroad train, one day, a new ensation was pointed out to me. He was a stout, dark-faced, black-eyed man who was returning from Salem camp ground, where he had preached for the first

"That is the Rev. Sam Jones," said a passenger. "He is a new preacher from up the country, and he waked up the camp meeting. You never heard anything like

My curiosity was excited, and I asked for particulars. I heard just enough to inerest me in the new man, and since then have heard him many times.

Jones is Jones, and will never be anyhing else. Abuse and praise alike are thrown away upon him. He started out on his own peculiar line, and has followed it ever since. Adversity never switched him off, and prosperity has never made him waver.

He has been under the hottest and verest fires, but he has never lost his good numor. He sometimes ridicules his opponents, but he is not a hater of any class of

I verily believe that Sam Jones loves everybody and lies awake nights atudying their welfare. He is no lover of the rich. The poor are always in his thoughts. Ask Bob Hemphill what he has done for the

Sam Jones fires broadsides into society, but the men and women who compose society know that the evangelist is really heir truest friend. He wo his life for them, if it would do any good. He does not stick to the methods of the nitted that garbled newspaper reports reatly misrepresent him.

As a matter of fact, he has a clear Anglo-Saxon style, and more than one doctor of divinity who had been prejudiced against him by newspaper reports has admitted, after hearing him, that there was nothing bjectionable in his utterances. I have studied Sam Jones now for som if there ever was one, and it is simply silly newspaper fake to say that he ha grown rich out of his work. Money cannot stay in his pockets. So long as there are widows and orphans and deserving poor people in his balliwick, Jones will always be hard-up. He is a wonderful man!

He has the humor and charity of Lin oln, the eloquence of Prentiss and the sharp, epigrammatic repartee of Corwin. Altogether, he represents the best and brightest types of the south and south-

Not long ago he attacked the principle upon which our public school system is based, and what he said is simply unan-

He struck at the root of the evil by arraigning paternalism. He showed how ridiculous and unjust it is to tax Bill Jones for the education of Tom Brown's boy, and suggested that it would be just the Brown kid.

This is on the right line, and in a few years, when the people of Georgia find themselves wrestling with the problems of compulsory education and free textbooks, they will agree with the evangelist.

But Sam Jones sometimes uses words and phrases offensive to polite ears. pose he does! He wants to take the gets there.

He has never spoken or written a line that can injure the cause of religion and morals, and many of his sermons are as methodical in thought and as chaste in diction as the finest discourse of our fam-

Sam Jones is no longer an experiment! He has been tested and tried, and among widows and orphans, brighter cottage among the poor, and hundreds of good citifrom the downward path. I am not surprised to hear that the tabernacle is crowded again. It will be packed while Jones is on deck, and it

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND THEIR IDIOSYNCRACIES

With Side Comments on Mileage, Extra Sessions and Other Things of Great Interest To All Statesmen Just at the Present Time.

Special to The Evening Constitution. There have been twelve special session of congress called by the president of the United States. The first was the sessio called by John Alams in 1797 because of the threatened war with France, and the last was called by Grover Cleveland in 1893 for the consideration of the silver question. It is rather singular, consider ing the fact that the constitution does no call for the meeting of a new congress until more than a year after the election of its members, that there have been so fev called sessions. There are two pr reasons why the president of the United States has hesitated about calling congress together. That unfortunate phrase which President Cleveland used in a letter a year or two ago-when he spoke of "having fensive truth in it. When congress is no in session very few members of congress are in Washington and the push and struggle for office, which have been the night mare of every president, are much diminished. It would take a very serious reaso to induce any president to call a special session of congress directly after his in auguration. President McKinley thinks that such an emergency exists.

The second reason is the expense of the extra session, for while the congressman of today receives his pay whether congress is in session or not, he does not receive mileage and stationery allowance and many other perquisites of office when congress is not in session, and there is a small army of clerks employed only during the session whose salaries stop when congress adjourns and begin again when congress reconvenes. Therefore the session of congress is expensive and unless there is much to be gained by issuing call for a special session the president usually waits until the time named in the constitution for congress to assemble. The first extra session, as I have said, was called in 1797 by President John Adams to take action in the matter of the pending difficulties with France, France had discriminated seriously against American commerce, and a commission was sent to the court of France to see what could be done to bring about a peaceable settlement of the matter. Talleyrand secretly offered to have the objectionable decrees rescinded if a sum of money was paid to him, but this proposition was rejected summarily and congress appropriated money for a navy while the president called Washington to the head of the army. Napoleon's reign began at about this time and the first consul made a treaty with the United States, which was satisfactory and which settled the question of the threa ened war. Six years later congress was called together to ratify the purchase of Louisians from France by President Jefferson, The senate approved the act and both houses voted bonds for the payment of the $15,-000,000, which was the purchase price. In this purchase were included nearly an of what now constitutes the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesora, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Oklahoma and Indian Territory

Four years later Jefferson called anothe special session of congress to take action on the attitude of France and England meeting exportation was forbidden but this law was repealed two years later as it was hurting American interests much more than those of other countries. President Madison called a special session of co gress in July, 1811, to consider the war with Great Britain which was then threatening. No decisive action was taken at this so cial session, but war was declared at the session of congress in the year 1812. A year later, the army having be come somewhat demoralized by defeats along the Canadian border, Madison called another special session for the purpose of having it reorganized. 1877, when Van Buren summoned congress to face a financial crisis-the suspension of specie payments all over the country. A result of this special session was the establishment of the sub-treasury system now in force and the issue of $10,000,300 of treasury notes. The panic was not much relieved though and when President Harrison was inaugurated he called anothe special session with which his successor Tyler, was left to negotiate. President Tyler and congress did not get along at all well together. Congress passed two bills to establish a national bank, both of which were vetoed by the president. Congress also repealed the sub-treasury act which was re-enacted later by another congress. The trouble between Tyler and congress resulted in Tyler's political death and in the disintegration of the whig party The slavery question caused the special session called by President Pierce in 1856, in 1861. The session of 1856 was called be cause the army appropriation bill had The house had tacked on it a provision that none of the army should be employed to enforce the acts of the Kanspecial session was held the senate had days a much shorter time than can be hoped for the session which is to begin this

The special session of 1861 was called when war had begun. Congress was needed to increase the regular army, to yote appropriations for the war and to prepare a tariff which should furnish the revenue needed for the extraordinary condition impending. Congress remained in session five weeks, making these provisions, declaring a blockade of the southern ports, defining conspiracy and providing a punishment for it and so on. This was the first extra session called for the purpose of passing a tariff act. The author of the tariff law which congress prepared and passed in so short a time was Justin 8. Morrill, of Vermont then a member of the house. Mr. Morrill, as chairman of the finance committee of the senate, will be nominally the chief agent of the senate in preparing the tariff which is to be passed at the coming special session.

otion, etc. These could not be recon ciled in conference before March 4th. The army was much needed in 1877 in con tion with the great strikes and riots, and there would have been no army if President Hayes had not called a special ses sion, unless someone had been found patriotic enough to advance the money reeded to sustain the force of officers and en-listed men. Secretary Lamont once advanced the money needed to carry the army establishment for a very brief space

An extra session was rendered necessary in 1879 by the failure of another appropria tion bill-the sundry civil bill. This was defeated for passage in the senate because the house had put on it several "riders" to prohibit the use of troops at the polis In the special session both house and senate were democratic and they passed bills containing the objectionable "riders" which the president promptly vetoed. Eventually congress was compelled to pass an unembarrassed appropriation bill, which the president signed.

There was some question about calling

mmm The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Jones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution. homemond

an extra session of the fifty-first congress at the beginning of President Harrison's administration. None was called then and none was held from 1879 to 1895, when President Cleveland, in view of the financlas crisis which had caused so much suffering all over the country called congress together to repeal the Sherman law for the purchase of silver. That was the twelfth session called by a president. The one to be held this month will be the thir-

Several times of recent years special sessions have been threatened. Mr. Mc-Kirley expres ed in private conversation four years ago the opinion that President Cleveland should call congress together to redeem the promises of the democratic party to reform the tariff. He said that if the president delayed he would have trouble getting congress to do what he This proved to be the case, and the tariff bill which was passed by gress finally was very little to the liking of Mr. Cleveland. Mr. McKinley, by taking the tariff bull by the horns, immediately has a much better chance of making it do as he likes.

I see in some recently published paragraphs the statement that the senators, who met in special session Thursday et this week, are very much perturbed because they will not receive mileage or other allowances during the called session. They are not a bit perturbed in fact. The law gives mileage and statienery allowances for the regular session of congres only; but the senators and members four years ago, when Mr. Cleveland called a special session, voted mileage and stationary allowance to themselves for that ession, and drew it, too. I have not heard that any member of the fifty-third congress was conscientious enough to turn his allowance back into the treasury or to

The truth is that the senators and repreentatives in congress get all they car out of the government, directly or indirectly. Senator Peffer, of Kansas, goes way from Washington a comparatively well-to-do man, because he not only saved a good part of his $5,000 a year and allowances, but he had three members of hi family on the pay roll during the greater part of his six years in the senate. One of Texas, now one of the railroad commis sioners of his state, I believe, was the first senator to brave public criticism by appointing his wife private secretary at and representatives are just $4,000 mor than the salaries of the members of the Canadian parliament, which meets at Ottawa next week. They are $5,000 mor than the members of the British parlia to support a man and his family in lux ury; but they are enough to live on, ever and supplies cost more than they do any where else in the country. The stationer: to the congressmen for the loss of the franking privilege. When that privilege was being discussed in the house it was said that the postage of some member on official business alone would amount to $100 or more a year.

As the government had grown tired of hauling the dirty linen of congressmen about the country for nothing, it was cheaper to allow the members of congres $125 a year each for postage or stationers

In the same way the mileage allowance is abused. This allowance was made first at a time when travel was slow and expensive, and when members of congress received pay according to their services. Until 1856, with a brief intermission when the members had salaries of $1.500 each.

Constitutional Amendments.

MARYS GROWN UP LAMB. Mary had a billie goat

With whiskers on his chin, And when he got his dander He followed her to church one day And walking down the aisle

That made the peop The sexton tried to drive him out, Which raised old billie's ire. He chewed his cud right viciously

And both his eyes flashed fire. He stood upon his hinder legs And fetched a mighty bleat That to the sexton sounded like The trumpet call of fate.

And then the congregation rose,

No time had they to lose, For billie kept the racket up And cleaned out all the pews. And then he took a header and The sexton would have fled, But billie struck him in the rear

And stood him on his head.

The sexton called him evil names In language harsh, and when He used some epithet profane The parson cried "Amen!" Montgomery M. Polsem.

THE SCHOOLBOOK BURDEN. There never was, in my mind, a mo outrageous monopoly than the presen ok extertion. A man with two or three children is often unable to take ad vantage of the free tuition offered by the public schools right here in Atlanta because cannot afford the enormous drain upon his resources twice a year for books. They will not allow a child to enter the school unless it is armed and equipped with all the high priced textbooks that are provided by the school authorities, and every time child advances from one grade to anothe it is a fresh outlay of books.

Twice a year the poor man with a sma salary is confronted with the problem of purchasing books for his children. There are eight grades and the pupil must hav new style of grammar, geography, reader, arithmetic and dictionary, with numer ous other books, for every grade. There i no let up to it Instead of providing some sort of a book on one topic that would take the child through at least two grades must have a complete assortment for each grade, although the step from one grade to another is very small indeed. It looks som times as if the school authorities have simply allowed themselves to be duped by

Why, with all their shortcomings, the country schools are not so burdensome as hese. I have recently gone through with another experience buying books. Being the middle of the term I have tried to se cure second-hand books so as to obviate little of the expense, as I know these books would be of no use after the present term. have managed, by close driving, to ge the books at about 50 per cent less than the published price, and some of the books that I bought were as good as new. That indicates somewhat the extortionate prices charged by the publishers.

But what do you suppose those booksellers made on the second-hand books that sold me? From 100 to 500 per cent. had an experience of that sort when I went to move away from here two years ago. I had just bought a lot of books in the fall. Many of them were scarcely solled. I think that the book dealers a lowed me about $1 for $10 worth of books. Of course they soid them out to made a big profit. That is business on their part, but it all goes to show how the people are fleeced in being forced to load them selves down with books, term after term for twelve long weary years until at last the child leaves the high school.

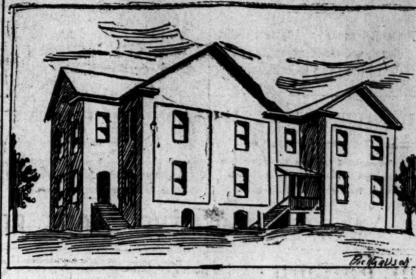

On my various lists were two books that asked for, but the man with whom I was dealing was generous enough to tell me that not think that it was necessary for me to get them as they were not being used this term. I heaved a sigh of relief for I felt that I had saved a few hard earned pennies through his kindness. I tell you there is reform needed in that line a little wors than in anything that I know of connected with our school system. An ordinary child ought to be able to mester the con tents of those books in half the time required in our schools. Half the number of books ought to be requisite for all the knowledge that is gained from this vast array of authorities.

There is a lot of tommyrot about it sor way. It is true, I never had $5 may not be able to appreciate the value of those textbooks fully, but I do know that there is extravagance somewhere. Of course so long as the educational authoritiplying textbooks. It is their business to nake all the money out of it that they can but if the movement that has been set on foot by Governor Atkinson and Co sioner Glenn bears such fruit as I hope to see, there will be a mighty revolution in the way of textbooks in Georgia in the next few years.

Commissioner Glenn told me the othe day that he was at work on a plan which ble the parents of children to provide them with books at a stated price per pupil. He told me that in some cities the books were supplied at the uniform rate of from 50 to cents per pupil. The amount fixed is payable when the pupil begins the term and there is no further charge for books during would be to the poor man who wants to educate his children, but who is not able ginning of every term.

As matters now stand the tax is too heavy to be borne. Everything else is cheap-food, clothing and all the necessa-ries of life. Wages have been cut down the enormous expenditure for textbooks re-mains at the same outrageous figure. There is something wrong at the bottom of the whole matter and the common people who are most vitally interested in educational wherein the trouble lies. So long as they will submit to it just so long will their oppressors continue to levy this tax upon them and it is time that it was stopped. M. M. F.

THE SUMMERHILL SCHOOL THE OLDEST NEGRO SCHOOL

SUMMERHILL SCHOOL

About the question of the education of the negro will always be a certain interest. Its advisability, its scope, its limits are have not been passed over lightly in this opinion of one who both by his position and experience cannot but be considere as the leader of educational interest in this

Major Slaton says in speaking of this work that he had no doubt that the education of the negro as persisted in by the board of education in the city, was not only doing its recipients good but was elevating the whole race. .

A noticeable improvement has been seen by him in the manners of the race as the work of the school became effective among them and the benefit that the community is deriving is really very large.

Such an opinion as this by one who know and speaks carefully of what he knows is a beginning to this article.

The course pursued in the Summer Hill school is precisely the same as that pursued by the schools for white children It has the full eight grades and the studie in each are identical with those pursued in the same grade in the white schools.

disadvantage considered with the white children. The Summer Hill school house is a good substantial one and the latter part of it to be built is as fine as one could well wish for. There is a certain spirit among the negroes that is most com mendable. They will sacrifice anything to give their children an education and fewer negro children probably are kept school on account of being unable to buy books than there are white children de prived of an education.

It is also a well-known fact that the attendance of negroes, in proportion to the number of them in the city, is larger than the whites. One of the examples of this course of education is the present principal of Summer Hill school, C. W. Hill. He has proved to be an excellent principal and a good teacher. His governing of his pupils and his administration of the school would compare well with any school standard wherever found. gro school in the city is not a difficult question, for no less than four colleges are at their command wherein they can obtain the knowledge necessary to fit them for little training outside of the excellent system of school in which he is now a factor. it has proved for the demands of the Atlanta board of education, but a great share of his success is due probably to his natural ability and his adaptability to the teach-

Besides him there are teaching in the school, Georgia Druglar, who is assistant principal; V. E. Dozier, in charge of the seventh grade, and the others, them down from the sixth to the second M. L. Sykes, Cora B. Finley, H. M. Jones, Alice A. Anthony and Rosa Garner and N. O. Bentley, the teacher of the first grade.

Among these is a devotion to their school visible, an earnest interest in their work and an intelligent knowledge of its questions and perplexities.

An evenness in working, a carefulness in detail and general effective in work that is productive of it could not help but be of good results. These teachers preside over and educate 632 children and the order and discipline is everything that could be

As students the pupils of this school are found to be diligent and earnest and by no means dull. This is speaking of them, of course, as a general rule. In the ordinary studies they are quick to learn and some of the best penmanship that is turned in to the office of the superintendent of education is done by students in these schools. In certain studies they do fall slightly behind others, but in the general average they are not deficient or behind the grand average of the other schools The Summer Hill school was organized in 1872 and is with a few others the oldest institution of the kind in town. Today, like all the other negro schools, it is very much overcrowded and again with one or two others has the largest attendance of any

The daily average attendance of scholars is also very good. Probably the school life of these scholars is a larger factor in their lives than it is in those of thers and the incentives for regular attendance are great, but the fact remains that they do attend and profit by the instruction given by the school, and in time the community is the gainer by it.

In fact the Summer Hill school, judging i by the ordinary standards, is found to be a school attended and well taught and one that is doing much benefit to those who are its scholars and those who come in contact with these scholars.

In short it is, to say it very simply-The principal of this school, however, had good school. ACHESON

Messrs. Rollo O. Helkes, of Dayton, and B. A. Bartlett, of Buffalo, are at the Kim-ent of promotion and publicity of the day as a guest of the Aragon hotel. Until his appointment to the position which he now holds, Mr. Justi was connected with one of the largest banks in Nashville. He is a man of thorough business training, widely acquainted, and is doing great good for the big exposition which opens in Nashville in a few weeks. Mr. Justi speaks in glorious terms of the Centennial and says that it will be the grandest show of the kind ever held in the southern states. He expects some fine exhibits from Georgia, and many visitors from this state.

and many visitors from this state.

Mr. Arthur Lewis, manager of the Georgia Cayvan Company, is a guest of the Kimball house. Mr. Lewis is one of the best known young theatrical managers in the country, his acquaintance is quite wide and, he has many friends in every city which he visits. During his short stay with the company here he has been thrown in contact with several of his old friends, and he has many new ones.

Mr. Lewis says that Miss Cayvan has met with a wonderfuly successful season, exceedingly brilli Mr. A. W. Schenck, general manager of the Falls Branch Jellico Coal Company, was at the Kimball yesterday. Mr. Schenck is represented in Atlanta and came here for the purpose of placing some spring orders. He was very successful and goes away with several large orders. The mines of which Mr. Schenck is at the head are numbered among the largest in Tennessee.

Mr. T. J. Stephenson, of Knoxville, Tenn. is the guest of the Kimball house today He is general superintendent of the Knoxville Iron Company and comes to Atlanta is the interest of his company, which does a large business in the local market.

ment existing between himself and Miss Lucy Keen, of Oglethorpe, and the wedding will be celebrated some time during the ball en route home from Macon, where they gave an exhibition shoot Saturday which brought hundreds of people to the gun club grounds and greatly pleased all those who had the pleasure of witnessing The gentlemen are delighted with the south and speak in the highest terms their warm reception from the people

Mr. Frank B. Fogg, of Nashville, is at the Kimball today. Mr. Fogg is a prominent resident of Tennessee's capital city. Hon. Fleming G. duBignon, of Savannah, reached the city last night and we remain here for several days on business. Mr. Thomas H. Rea, of Chattanooga, is

Mrs. A. Goodrich, and other mer the party of Chicago tourists who were in Atlanta yesterday morning, left last night for Florida. After the return of Baby Goodrich the party took a drive over the city and spent the day quite pl

Hon. John Temple Graves is taking a brief rest from his labors on the lecture platform. Mr. Graves is one of the most eloquent lecturers in America and his popularity increases every year.

KIND: FRIENDS.

AT THE SAM JONES MEETING LAST NIGHT IN THE TABERNACLE.

THE CHURCH AND WOMAN

Sam Jones Preached This Morning on the Holy Spirits in Relation to Woman.

THREE THOUSAND WERE THERE

HE TELLS WHY HE USES SLANG

the Tambourine of the Salvation Army Girl-He Doesn't Believe in Division and Strife, but in Unity. Some Rich Humor and Solid Facts.

Sam Jones "touched them up" this morning at the tabernacle in his own artistic style. About 3,000 people were pres-

He spoke upon the power of the holy spirit in its relation to woman's work in the church. He said that woman's work was always done, except when som eman stepped in and objected, and then they retired. They had their work to do. The old ship of Zion was a side wheel steamer and she would turn about in the river if one of the whoels was locked. Let both wheels turn and we will all take a bee line for the millenium shore.

"I expect," he said, "to see some member of the Georgia legislature pass an act entitled an act to amend the Acts of the Apostles, just to get things their way.

"There was no discounting the fact that a woman could talk, and God Almighty ould never have given her that power and then told her to keep her mouth shut. I like to see a woman talk, but she ought not to make too many jestures and jump

"These theological 'cemeteries' have a regular mould to put a fellow in. The ect . big. texts like .'Justification by Faith,' 'Regeneration' and 'Sanctification.' You never see the preacher, because he is behind the text. I don't like to talk about what Calvin or Wesley used I believe in progressive theology old time religion. In Calvin's time they used to have an idea that just so many people were predestined to be saved and that it was all fixed before the wolrd was made. I would not read a vinegar almanac with such stuff in it. "All God wants men to do is what is right, and all the devil wants them to do is what is wrong. God will take you to heaven and the devil will take you to hell. That is all there is in this question. I am a Methodist, just like I am a Jones. It was born in me. I believe Adam was a Methodist, for the first thing he did was to

'Let's leave all and just follow the word of God. If you follow a pope, or a bishop or a D. D. you may go wrong, but you won't go wrong if you follow the Bible. "The only difference between the Christian religion and other kinds of erligion is that it has introduced the supernatural. "Atlanta can get to be a unit on everything except religion. The devil likes nothing better than a split among Christians You can't even get the preachers of Atlanta together. If you ask them all to preach against card playing they won't do Some of them will say: 'We will get the grand jury after them.' Well, a preacher ought to save his congregation from the penitentiary if he does not save them from hell.

"If you have no religious method of your own, take somebody else's. If I was a dog and never jumped a rabbit in my life and I saw a bench-legged fice after a rab-bit I would help him to catch it."

Mr. Jones told how he had preached with and without the divine spirit. All preach ers had had this experience. W ecan never preach right," he said,

He gave a beautiful history of the conversion of Jerry McAuley, and his wife, who at one time were the worst of outcasts in New York. McAuley almost encircled the civilized world.

If God could do so much with such sinners, what could he do in Atlanta if the people prayed for an outpouring of the Holy Ghost. Those good men could clean up the town.

He said he was a sort of Salvation Army man. He told an incident in which a Salvation Army girl was put in prison in Du-Buque for singing on the streets, "I'll Follow Jesus Anywhere, Everywhere." In a cell for thirty days she sang and prayed with the other prisoners. "People ask me sometimes why I use slang. My slang is sorter like the tambou rine the Salvation Army girls use. It's a part of the procession, and it works.

He concluded his discourse with the declaration that Atlanta was never more ripe for a grand revival. He had been in the and it was in the air. After the sermon a large number of people went up to be prayed for.

MISSIONARY RALLY TONIGHT

Christian Workers Will Meet at the Second Baptist Church To Discuss Missionary Work.

The mission workers of the city and all meet this evening at the Second Baptist church and discuss the work in that field. The rally is one of great importance and everybody who can lend a helping hand ha been invited to be present. All the city churches and missionary societies of the city will be represented and many visitors from towns throughout the state will be meeting tonight is of more than usual importance and several announcements may be made and some new ideas for the work in the state will be suggested

PROTECTS LOCAL AGENTS.

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.

Special to The Evening Constitution.

The legislature which adjourned last

SAM JONES'S DEEP SERMON

The Noted Evangelist Spike Seriously Last Night and Without His Usual Sarcasm.

SERMON WAS AN ABLE ONE, TOO

He Paid Tribute to the Atlanta Press and After the Sermon Hundreds Flocked to the Altar.

HIS ADVICE TO THE ATLANTA 40

Religion Is Love, Love Is Loyalty, Loyalty Is a Constant and Never Ending Obedience to the Will of' God"-A Great Crowd Attended the Meeting Last Night.

If anybody went to hear Sam Jones last night for the purpose of just laughing at his jokes, he must have found himself strangely out of place. Those who have heard the evangelist often have said that he can preach as serious and as deep a sermon, when he wishes to, as any minister of the gospel living. And that's what he did last evening. As Mr. Jones himself expressed it, the gathering at the tabernacle last night was the "largest eyer seen in Atlanta on a Monday, a day of the week when the people do not turn out. The large building was filled when the services began WHAT SAM JONES DID. Mr. Jones did three things which marked his meeting: .

PUT SOMETHING IN THE HAT When the Collection Is Taken Up.

If you are too poor, put in a lock of your hair, and if you are bald-headed, spit in the hat. SAM JONES.

Second, he caused hundreds of people to make a resolve to lead better lives.

Third, he paid a glowing tribute to the Atlanta press. Of course it would not have been Sam Jones if he had not injected some spice into the meeting, and before ne began his alscourse he disbursed some of his charac-

ject for a few good jokes. He raid: "Now, brethren, there is that ubiquitous, inevitable collection. It looks as if you are going to pay the money for fixing this building in broken doses. You are going to play the homeopathic racket on the collection. There is a man out there who his whole family with him. You bound, you, if you went to heaven the first thing you'd do would be to dig up the streets to get the gold. (Laughter.) There is a 'possum-headed rascal out there who won't give a cent and he pays a quarter to get in the peanut gallery at the theater. Put | ing out "amen" all during the discourse something in the box. If you are poor and haven't any money, put in a lock of your hair. If you are baid-headed, spit in the hat." (Great Laughter.)

Before the sermon was preached the choir rendered many fine sellections and Professor Excell sang as a solo the beautiful hymn, "Are you ready for the judg-

Mr. Jones selected as his text, "This is a faithful saying and worthy of all accep-

I WISH TO COMPLIMENT THE EVENING CONSTITUTION

on its most excellent reports of these meetings. The paper is doing a good and most excellent work, which is appreciated.

SAM JONES.

tation, that Christ Jesus came into the to save sinners, of whom I am chief."

"I never saw a man," said he, "who was not or had been a sinner. The best man I ever saw was imperfect, and the worst man I ever saw had some good traits that showed he had a noble heart. Between the best man and the worst are all humanity. It is not a safe plan for any one to say that he is a better man than some other person. It is fruitless and does not lift you up or elevate you. Every one must give an account of himself to God. It is a wholesome thing for a man to get down to bedrock facts about his own life. Let him take his bearings to see whether he is leading a life that tends heavenward or hellward. Every person in the great congregation should feel as if there were only present the preacher himself and God. Re ligion, salvation and damnation were after all purely personal things. "This is what every man and woman should say. Who am I what am I and what is my relation to this world tonight? "No man will ever get to be good unless he first wakes up to the fact that he is very bad. Some people say, 'I never drink, I never curse, I never lie,' and I put that down as No. 1 right away. (Cries of Amen.) No man in the scriptures ever said anything good about himself. There was the rich man, who claimed to have kent all the commands from youth up, and yet Christ saw at once that his heart was eaten with greed and avarice, jus as the drunkard's blood is burned up with the flery whisky." Bishop Pierce's life, when he collected a dollar from a man for the Bible fund and then asked him what he was going to de for his soul. He was told to go out in the wood and complain to God about how he was neglected and then recite all his many good deeds; after that to get down and pray just as his heart dictated. The advice wa followed and the man came and said he had tried the experiment and found that he could not complain, and he aidn't know a good thing to tell about. The man and his whole family were converted.

HE APPEALS TO THE FOUR HUNDRED Mr. Jones said he had a word to say to the four hundred of Atlanta, After advising some of the self righteo to go home and test the experiment of trying to flutter shout their rooms with a pair of wings, he said that people were always coming to him and asking him to "clean up so and so."

"Let me say a word to the four hundred of Atlanta," said he, "I know that among them there are some of the noblest hearts that ever beat in a human breast. They are always ready to heed the cry of the suffering and destitute. The young girls who whirl about in the dance are willing to watch far into the night beside thos who are sick. We are not here to upbraid them; we are here to ask them to give their noble hearts to God. Christ forbid that the preachers should seek to arraign class against class and sinners against ertine, the drunkard, the thief and the sinners debauched in crime, but it was

It takes the men who have been the worst sinners to make the best workers in the Church SAM JONES

those who believe they are good, who were hard to reach with the power of the Holy now if you should drop dead. An old lady asked me to go for her old man and clear him up. Why bless your life, the old ga Just then an old man who had been cryonce more said it, and his wife by his side

ON A COMPROMISE. "The churches," said Mr. Jones, "are filled up with fellows who came in on a sort of compromise. They just thought they would join if God would rather have it so. The way to feel is that you are a hell deserving sinner and would be in hell this minute if it wasn't for the grace of He gave the testimony of his old mother and father and his grandfather, who died when he had reached the age of ninetytwo years, to prove to himself that the saying mentioned in the text was a faithful one. He related a story about a Chattanooga brewer who went out of the whisky business to serve God and drifted into utmost poverty. In his distress he was offered a place with a brewery at $200 a month, and he refused, saying he would go down to his death rather than go back on the vows he had made to his God. He has now been aided by church people and is preaching the gospel and saving souls.

Mr. Jones closed his services by asking all who wished to be prayed for to come forward and take his hand. During the singing of a hymn hundreds came up and expressed a desire to live better lives. A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS.

Just before the close the evangelist said he wished to thank the press of Atlanta for the noble work it was doing to help make the revival a success. "Next to the pulpit," he said, "the press can do the greatest good for the kingdom of God in

THE ATLANTA PRESS IS DOING A GREAT WORK

for this revival. Next to the pulpit the Press has the greatest Power for good in this world. May God bless the newspa-per men of Atlanta, SAM JONES.

STUART IN AFTERNOON

E PREACHED TO A LARGE CROWD AT THE TABERNACLE.

Mr. Stuart Selected as His Subject the "Power of the Holy Spirit," and He Delivered a Strong mon from the Text.

E

Cl

More than one hundred people came for ward vesterday afternoon and taking Rev George Stuart by the hand said to him with eyes filled with tears: "I am away from God; pray for me." There were the old and the young, mer and women. One man, old in years, came with his wife by his side and they were both sobbing as the husband said in a choking voice: "My wife here has been praying for me. I am away from my God."

Mr. Stuart preached the sermon yesterday afternoon, Mr. Jones not being present. He Holy Spirit." He said this power underlies all the successful work of the Christian church. If the Christian religion vas not supernatural it was not anything. Christians are powerless without the Holy Spirit. The incident of the Savier restoring the blind man's sight was given as an illustration of the power of the spirit, as no man could use the same carth and the same pool and perform the same wonderful results.

"We may have theology," exclaimed the peaker, "we may have systems and learning and science, but without the power of Almighty God this poor world will go groping in darkness and blindness."

Mr. Stuart said he had seen the power of the Holy Spirit and he believed it would be manifest in Atlanta before the revival

It was only the power of God that could

It was only the power of God that could lift poor, suffering humanity above the sorrows and troubles of this earth. "I will send the comforter to you," said Christ, and He will do it.

In this part, of his discourse Mr. Stuart related two or three incidents which moved his audience to tears. Mcn and women were weeping throughout the large congregation. SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS.

SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS.

He told of the poor woman unto whom a minister's wife had been kind. The minister's wife died and the poor old woman asked some one if it would be right for her to place some wild flowers on the casket which she had gone out in the woods to gather. "I had no money." She said, "to buy any fine flowers." She was told that the offering would be acceptable, and on the day of the funeral she clipped up to the casket and timidly laid the wild flowers on the foot of the coffin, while she whispered: "I give these to one who did so much for ma."

He told the incident of a lady in Nashville, who was told that she must leave her family and go to a distant city to submit to a surgical operation, which was exceedingly dangerous. She called upon Mr. Stuart and said: "I cannot leave my boor little children." He prayed, with her and she arces from her, kuees and said: "It is God's will, and I will submit." She kissed her little ones goodby and it was forever, for the died under the surgeon's knife. With her last breath she whispered: "Thy will, and not mine he done." In that how of femrul trial she was sustained by the Holy Spirit.

He command the spirit of the living God safety when rocked by the tempest, while the ships near the shore were wrecked upon the rocks. Those who go to the deep sea of God's love will weather the storms of life, while those who hug too close to the life, while those who hug too close to the earth will go down.

The Holy Spirit, he said, would lead you, but always in keeping with His revealed word. A Christian man once shouted at a revival: "Glory be to God," and another man sitting near by said: "I would give the whole world for such an experience." And the first man replied: "That's what I have given for it."

"Lay down the world," exclaimed the

"Lay down the world," exclaimed the speaker, "and the Holy Spirit will come unto you."

He closed by stating that you could not receive the Holy Spirit unless you let go the things of this earth and come with clean hands and pure hearts. After the sermon he invited all those who wish to come to him and say "I am away from Gcd; pray for me," to come forward, and a great many responded to the invita-

SELLING HYMN BOOKS.

There has been some criticism of the manner of distributing the hymn books at the revival going on in the tabernacle. Professor E. O. Excell, who has charge are to be used during the meeting, for & cents each. He states that the amount will be returned if the purchaser wishes it after the revival is over. There are many, it is contended, who are not able to purchase the books, and if they advance the money would not like to ask for its return. All hymns sung at the meetings are from the books sold by Professor Excell, and unless you have one of the books you cannot well join in the singing unless you hap-pen to be familiar with the words of the hymns selected.

The books are sold by ushers who pass around among the congregation.

It has been suggested that the better way would be to raise a sum of money by a general collection, after the amount expended on the building had been secured, and that this be used to buy several hundred copies of the hymn books for distribution in the congregation, the books being distributed and taken up regularly. In this way none of them would be lost. If some such plan was adopted it is suggested there would be more singing by the congregation, and there would be no discrimination against those who are not financially able to invest 35 cents for a copy of the hymn book.

THE VOTE TO DATE FOR MOST POPULAR SCHOOL

3,827 VOTES CAST YESTERDAY---TOTAL 44,155

upon the newspapers of the city and on all Still No Change in the Position of the Leaders, Although the editors and reporters personally." the Voting Was Heavy and All the Schools Made a Perceptible Advance.

> The combination was not broken yesterday, and the three schools, Crew Street, Calhoun Street and Walker Street, are all running about even at the head of the column, A total of 3,827 votes were cast yesterday, which makes a total to date of 44,155, but the ballots were so evenly distributed that they caused no very conspicuous change in the standing of the schools. Fair Street is still booming and it looks as if something might be expected from that quarter before the contest ends, while Marietta has by no means given up the fight.

The vote at midnight last night stood as follows:

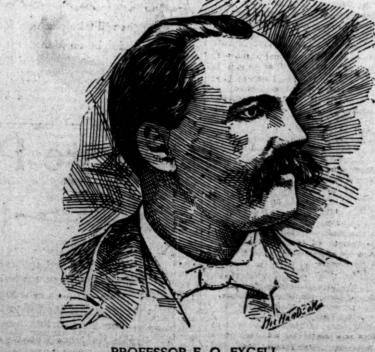

THE VOTE TO DATE.

	Boulevard 766
Calhoun Street 8,867	Davis Street
Walker Street8,545	West End 377
$20 MB ($100 MB R) TO SERVE OF SERVED SHOWS SERVED SHOWS SERVED SHOWS SERVED SHOWS SERVED SHOWS	Formwalt Street 373
Marietta Street3,722	Ira Street342
Boys' High2,723	Ivy Street 339
	Houston Street 219
Williams Street 892	Girls' High 97

FOR THE PRIZE BICYCLES.

The leaders on the boys' side of the bicycle contest have passed the 6,000 mark, and one of the girls has got beyond 4,000, with two others. close behind and more within easy distance. There was a general forward movement all along the line on both sides during the day. The

ote stands:
BOYS.	I GIRLS.
/alter Echols6,528	Ora Hilburn4,064
dmond Riorden6,125	Mny Asbury3,674
alter B. Reeves	Maud Collins
hillp P. Bethea943	Carrie Baylor 1,788
	Ethel Sampler717
	Pearl Blasingame634
vin Bellelsle361	Clara Freeman
aude Baker357	Gertrude Alexander 603
	Derrelle Horsey433
	Daisy Harris 1. 368
	Cora Reynolds 241
	Myrtle Wood233
	Mattle Dickerson209
	Sadie Miller 205
	Ruby Fulton191
	Norma Pritchard 178
ward Scott143	Emma Taoler
rry Johnson	Mamie Kessett138
ney Evans	Selma Agricola
	lone Hanson
fliam Pope	Lillian Nichols
Illam B. Atkinson 04	Carrie Boyce go Winkler 73	Susie S. Bone 101
	Amelia Davis 67
Co Division of the second	The Country Late 1)

PROFESSOR E. O. EXCELL, Who Is Leading the Great Chorus at the Sam Jones Meeting.

month made some changes in the insurance laws of the state which are very much more important than would appear from the attention given them by the press of the state. In addition to the general laws regulating the business of insurance in all of its dealings, which was prepared by the underwriters of the state, two other laws were passed.

One of these laws was for the protection of the local agent. It made it unlawful for an insurance company to write bus-

Model Paper Patterns

Taylor's

Position

Now

Prepare

== POSITIONS SECURED FOR YOUNG PEOPLE ==

By the Southern • Shorthand • and • Business • University.

In "The Grand," Atlanta, Ga., and "The Haddington," Norfolk, Va. The Leading Business Training Schools of the Southern States. Over 6,000 Graduates in Lucrative Positions.

SPRING TERM NOW OPEN. Special Inducements to those entering during the Next Fifteen Days.

Our Graduates always secure positions. The demand for Bookkeepers and Stenographers is greater than the supply.

This University holds letters of high commendation from Governor W. Y. Atkinson, Ex-Governor W. J. Northen, Ex-Governor J. B. Gordon, Ex-Governor Jos. E. Brown, Ex-Governor A. H. Colquitt, Ex-Mayor Porter King, Ex-Mayor J. B. Goodwin, Ex-Mayor W. A. Hemphill, Ex-Mayor J. T. Glenn, and a large majority of the leading business men of Atlanta, HANDSOME CATALOGUE SENT FREE TO ANY ADDRESS.

$25.00 for a Business Course better than that given by any other College in the South. . . .

Enter Now! A Position Awaits You!

$25.00 for a Business Course better than that given by any other College in the South....

FITZ STOCK

Corbett Men Are Willing Now To Accept Poorer Odds Than They First Held Out For.

TARAL NOW PLACES HIS MONEY

He Was Holding Out for 2 to 1, but Has Compromised on Odds

A QUIET TIP BEING TOLD ALOUD

Force the Fight and Fitzsimmons's Surely Win.

New York, March 9 .- Speculative sport-Ing men are inclined to think that now is the best time for placing bets on the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight instead of waiting till a few days before the fight.

Only on two occasions that Fitzsimmons has appeared in the ring in this country has he been the favorite before the fight This was in his fight with Sharkey and the last battle with Peter Maher. As he orls always sure to be in good shape whener he fights, the sports fancy that the tables may turn this time, and that he will enter the ring on St. Patrick's day an odds-on favorite. At least this was the Impression yesterday and the sports who have remained under cover all along come

Fred Taral, who had held out for 2 to 1, compromised at 10 to 8. He says he will wager $2,000 more on the champion at these odds. Jimmy Hayes also was willing to snap at several offers of even money on Corbett and invested several hundred dollars. Ed Nail wagered $800 to $1,600 local sport on Fitzsimmons and mays he is ready to speculate more at the

Joe Harris authorized Jake Shipsey, the okmaker, to back Fitzsimmons for him

There is a quiet tip going the rounds that Corbett Intends to force the fighting. mmons's friends say that if this is Bob will certainly win, as he likes kind of fighting. During Corbett's with Mitchell it will be remembered Jim lost his temper and the admirers as Cornishman contend that if he does his again this time it will be all up with chment Issued Against the Kinct scope May Prevent the Fight from Being Photographed.

PICTURES MAY NOT BE TAKEN

Ddward Gregg, who made the machines, sserts that $4,000 is still due him on their nanufacture. As a result of the attachment the fight may not be photographed.

WANTED IN MARIETTA.

morning Lewis Brown and Perry , two young white men, were ar-by Patroiman Sheridan, on a war-harging them with assalut and bat-

A SERIOUS SHOOTING AFFAIR

Quarrel Over a Woman Is the Cause of a Fight Which Nearly Cost a Life.

Richmond, Va., March 9.-A Danville, Va., special to The Despatch says: A serious but not fatal shooting affray ocurred early yesterday at the corner of Pickett and Henry streets, North Dan-ville, in which Bruce T. Adams, a young married man, was shot three times by Wallace Riley. Both of the parties are white operatives of the Riverside mills. The two men met this morning, and as the result of a quarrel in which a woman is said to be concerned. Adams, it is alleged, attacked Riley, knocking him down. Riley thereupon drew a 38-caliber pistol and fired four shots at Adams at close range. One bullet entered the right breast and passed out under the arm, another passed through the left thigh, the third entered the left hand and the fourth punctured Adams's

None of the wounds are dangerous. The merits of the controversy have not yet been made known. Riley is out under $200 bail.

THE WEATHER.

The high pressure area that was spread yesterday morning has movel eastward and is now passing off the coast, while its center has dropped south as far as the coast of Virginia. A second high is m.v. ing in from the extreme northwest, centwo highs is a trough of low barometer extending from Lake Michigan to Texas. The pressure is longest at Chicago. To combined influence of these opposing for is causing cloudy and unsettled weat. over the entire country from the Rockie to the Aflantic, with rain falling this norning at Marquette, Chicago, Kansas City, Nashville, Knoxville, Cfrigmail, Washington and Buffaio. Rain has been general during the past twenty-four hour n the Mississippi valley and over the states east and north from Tennessee. The heaviest falls have occurred in Tennes leys.

The temperature has fallen in the Mis

GENERAL WEATHER REPORT. Daily report of the weather at selected stations as shown by observations taken at 8 a. m. March 9, 1897:

STATIONS	Temperature at 8 a. m.	Highest temperature.	Precipitation (inches) 13
New York, cloudy. Washington, raining Norfolk, cloudy Jacksonville, foggy Atlanta, foggy Tampa, cloudy Wontgomery, cloudy Vicksburg, cloudy Vicksburg, cloudy New Orleans, cloudy Palestine, cloudy Galveston, cloudy Galveston, cloudy Knoxville, raining Cincinnati, raining Buffalo, raining St. Paul, cloudy Kansas City, raining, Omaha, cloudy Huron, S D, cloudy Huron, S D, cloudy Rismarck, N D, clear Fort Smith, cloudy Below zero.	38 38 38 54 46 66 66 66 68 68 68 68 68 68 68 68 68 68	28 30 51 42 62 62 63 64 64 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65 65
Below zero. Local Fo	recas

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR POOR GIRLS

Started Last Night.

MEANS MUCH GOOD TO THEM

Hemphill, Colonel Bray, Captain Hendrix, Major Slaton, Miss Hemphill and Others Attend the Opening Session of the New School.

Last night, at the Edgewood Avenue public school building, eleven bright-eyed little giris assembled to be enrolled as nembers of the new Girls' Night school. They were all timid, and anxiously looking around to see what they were going to do at their new school. These girls came from the poor families of East Atlanta and are all working to help support their families. Some of them have never before attended a school, while others have been to school, but were compelled to stop and go to work and earn their livelihood.

To see these girls working all day unsatisfied with the little knowledge they have picked up, and when the night comes, to attend this school with the hope of upbuilding themselves, certainly must touch a sympathetic chord in any human nature. Last night a test of their knowledge was made in order that they might be classified into four grades.

Mrs. Cola Spear, the principal of the new night school, said last night: "We are merely testing the applicants tonight in order that we may closuity

"There will be four grades. We will have classes five nights out of the week, just r schools have five days, an will hold from 7 to 9:30 o'clock every

TEACHERS HAVE VOLUNTEERED. Mrs. Spear is very enthusiastic over her new work. There are several teachers of the schools of this city, who have volunteered to assist in starting the school off. After this the pupils will flock to the

Mr. H. T. Inman has come to the front with $150 to start them off with, and Mis. Hemphill is furnishing the books which they shall begin with.

The pupils enrolled tast night ere as fol-

Effie Whitley, Nellie Blunt, Ida Snider, Ada Sharpton, Belle Weaver, Gertrude Palmer, Ada Palmer, Ida Crouch, Ruby Wingfield and Ella Everett. Most of them work in the factories near

Mrs. Hemphill is very enthusiastic about the school, in fact, it was she who went before the board and asked for the adoption of the school. Many were present at the opening

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Colonel Bray, of the board of education; Captain Hendrix, Major Slaton, Miss Lula Belle Hemphill, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Myrtice Smith and Mrs. Harris, who teaches in Ivy

for seats in the new school, a great many being away on account of timidity. In a few days the school will be in good be a grand success.

TURNERS ELECT OFFICERS.

A Splendid Set of Men Are Put the Helm of the Popular

ers of the Atlanta Turn Verein Asso

Yesterday the regular yearly election of were elected yesterday, it bids well to ever surpass this record.

officers are as follows:

corge Rhuman, president; Mr. W. secretary and treasurer; Mr. Chris abers, vice president; Mr. H. Bleim at secretary and treasurer; Measrs Minzo, chairman; C. J. Beiser an apic are on the executive commit atertalnment committee—J. H. Ca-

THE RAILROADS TAKE COGNIZANCE

Another of the Popular Institutions Preparing To Show There Is No | Popular Atlanta Company Will Go Discrimination Existing.

OFFICERS WILL NOT ATTEND | LIEUT, ASKEW HAS RESIGNED

Present-New Depot at Nashville. Dr. C. M. Drake Is Ill-Rumblings of the Rail.

The railroads have taken cognizance of the protest over a discrimination in freight rates which the wholesale men and manufacturers of Atlanta are sending up. They have read all the reports which the newspapers have published regarding the meet ing which is to be held tomorrow afternoon to discuss the situation and will await the result of this meeting with great interest. A peculiar feature about the meeting is that the railroad officers have not been invited to attend. The call which has been issued includes only business men, and the local represen-tatives of the freight department of the roads have not been given an invitation to attend und explain if they can the rates which apply to Atlanta.

The railroad men, nowever, believe that a committee will be appointed to wait upon them in an effort to adjust the matter upon them in an effort to adjust the matter and they will be prepared for the visit. They have prepared a list of tariff sheets showing the railroad rates which apply to Atlanta and other cities throughout the country, and by these sheets they hope to convince the shippers that there is no discrimination, but that the present rates are as low as can be put into effect.

The business men claim that the official classification to Atlanta and points south of the Objective is much higher tann it.

of the Ohio river is much higher than it is on the same shipments to points north of the river. true, but at the same time they say if an investigation is made it will prove that the rates are evened up by the classification on other shipments which are different to points north of the river.

The subject of freight rates is a very intricate one, and it will be several months before an adjustment can be made if one

NASHVILLE'S NEW DEPOT. While Atlanta is agitating the question of a new depot the city of Nasnville is having one completed at a cost of $50,000. Nashville has suffered for years from the want of a new passenger station, and with the Centennia staring that city in the face the railroad officials came to the conclusion that it would never do for the thousands of visitors who will be there this year to enter and depart from the city through the miserable station which has been used for the last decade. A protest went up from the citizens and as a result a new station or passenger shed is now nearing completion. The new station will be a great improvement and will add much to the appearance of the city.

DR. DRAKE ILL. Dr. C. M. Drake, chief surgeon of the Southern railway, is confined to his rooms on Peachtree street. Dr. Drake returned from Washington last week in an ill condition and has not been able to leave his room since that time. His condition is not serious and he hopes to be able to get to Major Q. H. Hudson, chief engineer of the Southern railway, accompanied by his secretary, Mr. W. E. Gaut, will reach At-lanta this afternoon from Washington, Ma-RAILROAD RUMBLINGS. anta this afternoon from Washington, Ma-jor Hudson is on one of his regular trips of inspection over the system.

James Burke, traveling freight agent of the Queen and Crescent route at Chatta-nooga, was in the city today. The celebrated injunction suit against the Seaboard Air-Line, Southern and other railroads, will come up before Judge Hughes, at Norfolk, tomorrow.

OLLECTOR SANFORD'S NEW BOND

to permit Mr. T. V. Sanford to make a new bond as tax receiver of Floyd county, peace seems restored between the Capital and the

RIFLES' TRIP FOR SUMMER

on a Pleasure Outing.

General Regret at His Retiremen from the Service-Interesting Gossip Among the Soldier Boys of the State This Week.

The Atlanta Rifles, one of Atlanta's crack military companies, have on foot a great trip this summer.

The company will not be among those that go to the state encampment, and they are trying to arrange for a pleasure trip. The proposed trip has been frequently discussed by the members at their meetings, and it is now taking definite form. They will leave Atlanta in a special chartered train, carrying with them a number of their

Where they will go to has not yet been where they will go to has not yet been definitely decided. Virginia Beach has been spoken of and received favorably among the boys. A committee will be appointed at the next regular meeting to make deals with the railroads and arrange for the transportation.

The trip will occupy fully two weeks, and if the ideas of the Riffe boys are carried out there is a great time in store for them.

SAM ASKEW RESIGNS. Askew, first lieutenant of com-

Sam Askew, first lieutenant of com-pany K, state volunteer troops, has sent in his resignation.

Captain Massey, of the company, has had it in his hands for several days, but it has not been turned over to the colonel of the regiment.

Lieutenant Askew is one of the most popular men in the state service. He has been connected with the Georgia volunteers for a number of years, beginning as a private in the ranks of the Gate City

His promotion has been rapid. He has served with the Capital City Guards and was made lieutenant of company K. LIEUTENANTS MAURY AND STOKES.

it was left with the members of company K who should be their successors. Second Lieutenant Maury was the unanimous selection for the office of first lieu-tenant, and Sergeant Ttokes was accordingly promoted to succeed Maury. Company K express their regret at the resignation of Askew, as he has been with the company since it was first organized. They passed resolutions of regret that will

ROME LIGHT GUARDS. There was a rousing meeting held by the Rome Light Guards a few nights ago, when the coming encampment was discussed. It was the unanimous sentiment that they would go to camp with the intention of behaving in an orderly and soldierly way.

This company has no first fleutenant at present. While this matter was not brought up at the meeting, it is known that Second Lieutenant A. S. Harper will receive the promotion.

AT ALBANY. On the 23d of this month there will be held at Albany a big chautauqua. The Albany Guards have invited several of the companies throughout the state to be present on the 23d and take part in the cere-ent on the 23d and take part in the ceremonies of the day.

The Guards will entertain all of the companies that come at their armory.

Among the companies that will go to Albany are the Columbus Guards and the Brown Fencibles. These are the two crack companies of Columbus, and they will cut quite a dash in the parside to be held at Albany.

There was a joint meeting of these two companies held in Columbus, and they decided to accept the invitation of the Albany Guards and attend the chautauqua.

ADJUTANT WRIGLEY. Arthur Wrigley, of Macon, has been ap-

The Clarke Rifles, at Athens, Ga., will a among the companies that will go to be encampment at Griffin this year. This one of the best equipped companies in a state and they will make a good showing on the parade ground at Griffin.

HEARD ACTING ADJUTANT.

Internal Disturbances

Are the source of nine-tenths of all bodily discomforts. 'No one is always free from the distressing conditions caused by the inability of the digestive organs to meet the demands made upon them. When you have headache, nausea, dizziness, bad breath or disagreeable taste in the mouth, one dose of

lyner's Dyspepsia Remedy

Will give immediate relief, and a few more entirely correct the unpleasant condition. It acts promptly and pleasantly, tones the stomach and restores the organs of digestion to a healthy state. IT MAKES LIFE WORTH LIVING.

50 Cents a Bottle of All Druggists.

HERE'S $10.00 FOR YOU!

It is in Gold and You Can Get It If You Are a Good Enough Guesser to Prophesy the Outcome of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

I	HI	EE	VI	EN	111	NG	6 (0	N	S	T	17	I	IT	1	0	N	G	U	IE	S	S	IN	G	I	VI.	A	1	CH
				<	~	-		F	I	T	Z		C	F	?		11	N	1	?.	-		=	^	>
1.	W	no w	ill g	et	the	de	cisi	oni	,		•
2.	In	wha	ro	und	?				•																	•
3.	Mi	ute	an	d s	eco	nd	s of	las	t r	ou	nd	?
4.	Rei	nark	8.															•
							•												•
	٠.			•/
			٠			•			•					•		•	•		•	•
		Na	me												•		•					• •
		Ad	dres	15 .									•

ceived by midnight on March 15th, in order to be valid. Address the coupons to

THE SPORTING EDITOR. EVENING CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GA.

College Park..

Atlanta's Most ... Cultured Suburb

O RAPID and substantial have been the improvements at College Park that the Atlanta and West Point Railroad has put on a schedule giving twenty trains daily between that place and the Union Depot.

The price of lots has been reduced and people seeking desirable residence property can find none more inviting than that at College Park. Splendid schools and colleges furnish every advantage for the proper education of boys and young women. Houses are constantly being erected and are always rented before completed. Not a vacant house at College Park! Any information desired can be obtained from

W	. A. HEM	PHIL	L,
	Constitution	Office,
NA POR

D. U. SLOAN, Agent, At College Park.

VOWS WERE SOON BROKEN.

his wife yesterday, charging that she had violated her marriage vows. The verdict was granted by the jury without leaving the jury box.

The Evening Constitution.

Lenten Luncheons.

Social entertainments are limited to singil affairs during the Lenten season. The women who entertain and are entertained in turn are supposed to be busily engaged in various mortifications of the flesh and spirit prescribed under Lenten regulations. Whether this is true or not, the rest from crushes and formal functions is a welcome one is a welcome one.

Luncheons are the most popular forms of repaying social obligations at this season, chafing dish luncheons are dainty af-son, chaing dish luncheons are dainty affairs always.

In Lenten luncheons during Lent the dishes should be strictly Lenten. It is, however, allowable to serve broiled chicken and small game birds. These must not be placed on the table, but served from a side table and only suggested by the hostess. Wine at a Lenten luncheon is not to be thought of, Here are some Lenten dishes:

Always buy live lobsters. Get them home from market as soon as possible. As soon as they are in the kitchen put them in a kettle of cold water slightly salted. Stand the kettle over the fire and when the water has boiled fifteen minutes, if the lobsters are small they are done. If large, the lob-sters should boil twenty or twenty-five min-utes after the water begins to boll. As soon as they are cool enough to handle without burning the hands, lay the lobsters on their beilies and with a heavy knife open the shells down the back and crack the claws with a mallet. A lobster should never be allowed to cool in a closed shell, as the gasses soon destroy its flavor. Open-ed immediately the flesh will be sweet and fresh for a couple of days, if kept in a very cold ice chamber. Kept in a closed shell more than twenty minutes after boiling, the meat of the lobster is unfit to eat.

Oysters, like lobsters, are not good when deed. They should always be opened and removed from their shells when ally removed from their shells when alive. To ascertain if they are alive, as soon as opened, when one of the shells has been removed, touch the edge of the oyster gently, and if alive it will contract. A nice way to serve oysters raw is to serve them in the shell, and not on the half shell, as is the usual condition. Orem the shell, as is the usual condition. Open the oysters, detach the upper shell and then loosen the oyster from the lower shell so it may be lifted freely with the oyster fork. Leave the oyster on the lower shells. Fill a deep plate with chipped ice, completely cover the ice with fresh sprigs of watercress and lay the lower shell containing the oyster lightly on the bed of watercress. Put four of these lower shells on each plate; then cover the oysters with the upper shell. Put half of a small lemon, from which the seeds have been removed, in the center of each plate. In buying salmon always select the middle out. removed, in the center of each plate. In buying salmon always select the middle cut. It, is the best. To boil salmon, arst tie it in a piece of cheese cloth. Put it in a kettle with enough cold water to cover it. Add two tablespoonfuls of Tarragon vinegar and a teaspoonful of salt to each quart of water. Stand the kettle over a quick fire. As soon as the water begins to boil place the kettle where the heat is more moderate, if you are cooking over a coal range. If, however, you are cooking by a sis range, turn the flame down to a moderate heat and let the fish boil gently twelve minutes for each pound.

welve minutes for each pound.
When the fish is cold lift it out of the colorder, where it has drained, and lay it on a platter or plate and remove the skin from the top of the boiled fish. Take an-other platter and lay it over the fish. With both hands hold the two plates together and turn them over quickly so the top one is at the bottom. This will place the salon on the other plate, leaving the side up with the cloth on, so it and the skin on that side may be removed without breaking the fish. Now that the salmon is freed of cloth and skin, stand it in a very cold recloth and skin, stand it in a very cold re-frigerator, where it will harden and be ready to serve. While the salmon is get-ting cold make your mayonnaise as fol-lows: In the bottom of a soup plate put a half teaspoonful of dry English mustard. Add the yolk of a raw fresh egg and stir till well blended. Holding the fork in the right hand, take a bottle of good oil in the left hand and carefully begin dropping the oil, stirring it in with the mustard and yolk of egg with the fork in the right hand. When the ingredients become a stiff waxy paste add a few drops of Tarragon vinegar to the paste, stirring it all the time; this will thin it a little. Now take up the oil again and proceed as before, dropping it in slowly and carefully till the paste is thick and waxy again. Then thin paste is thick and waxy again. Then thin it with a few drops of vinegar. Repeat this process till you have made the amount of mayonnaise required and until it is a proper thickness. The yolk of one egg will easily take up a large bottle of

In mixing a mayonnaise stir it without interruption, and always in the same way, describing a circle. If the room is very warm, stand the plate on a dish of chip-

Next spread the mayonnaise dressing all over the salmon and decorate the top of it as artistically as possible with quarters of lemon, quarters of hard boiled eggs and pitted olives. Place the dish on the table, and in serving put a leaf of lettuce over the salmon. The attractiveness of a dish makes it all the more appetizing.

It is always better to buy the patty shells at a first-class baker's or restaurateur's, as the making of puff paste is rateur's, as the making of puff paste is an art very few are able to perfect them-selves in. Get as many shells as you have covers laid at the table, and prepare the covers laid at the table, and prepare the filling after the following directions:

Put into a deep saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter and place it on the stove.

When the butter begins to bubble add two heaping tablespoonfuls of flour and stir it through the butter till it is a thick paste.

Add to this a half pint of the liquor from a quart of cysters and a pint of cream. Stir it well till it boils, then let it boil two minutes. Season it with salt and white stir it well till it boils, then let it boil two minutes. Season it with salt and white pepper and a pinch of powdered mace. Add a quart of small oysters which have been drained of all liquor. Let the sauce boil till the edges of the oysters curl. In the meantime place six patty shells in a hot oven on a plate. Leave the oven door partly open. As soon as the oysters are cooked fill the shells with the mixture and serve quickly.

Short Stories.

From The New York Journal.

Some time ago a certain Peter Brossolt, of Belle River, Canada, distinguished himself by carrying off a large number of prizes for fancy work at a county fair. Other French Canadian men have taken prizes for Berlin wool work, bead work, embroidered pillow shams, hair flowers, crotchet work, fancy knitting, etc. And yet, under these favorable conditions we do not hear much of the development of the new woman in that neighborhood.

tall that they are above their business. On the other hand, the accommodating men more frequently come up to the required standard of height. In future, candidates will be measured, not specially by their intellectual qualifications, but by their

So much has teen written of the East Side of New York in connection with work in the slums that some persons who are not well acquainted with the city are under the impression that it is one vast tene-ment district. A well-known society lady who lives in an old family mansion on East Seventeenth street, met a gentlemar from a neighboring city. "Ah," said he "I suppose you were out on one of your errands of mercy this morning. I had a momentary glimpse of you while I was investigating the slums." "I had a momentary glimpse of you, too," was the reply. "I was just stepping out of my own

Parliamentary Law Drills

The Woman's Club has arranged for beries of lectures on parliamentary laws, by Dr. Morse. The first one was delivered this morning at 10:30 o'clock. This course is arranged by the civics section of the Woman's Club and, with the accompanying parliamentary drills, will be of great benefit to any woman who takes part in any sort of public meeting. It is often necessary for a woman who does church or class work to conduct a committee meet-ing, and just as often the woman is utterly at a loss and lacking in self-possession

~~~~~ The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Jones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution.

home

through inexperience. nen are urged to attend and those women outside the club who desire instruction may attend by paying an admission fee of 25 cents, or by purchasing a season ticket for $1.50 for the twelve lec-

Girls' Night School.

Another night school for girls was or-ganized last night at the Edgewood ave-nue school. Out of the seventy pupils enrolled only eleven were present, but the others will come in if the measure of suc cess to be attained by this school is like that of the others. Among those present who are particularly interested in this charitable enterprise was Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Miss Hemphill, Colonel Bray and Captain Hendrix, of the board of education; Miss Myrtice Scott, principal of one of the city schools; Mrs. Harris, teach-er of the first grade of Ivy street school. Mrs. Cole Speer will be principal of the new school and Miss Scott and Mrs. Harris have volunteered to teach in it free of charge if their services are needed.

Mrs. Hemphill has undertaken to furnish books for the school, and Mr. Hugh In-man will contribute the sum of $150 toward The Marietta street night school for girls has been in operation three weeks and has an attendance of 120 pupils. Another night school for boys is conducted in the base ment of the Boys' High school building, and has a large attendance. Professor W. The good work to be accomplished by They reach that class of young people who have no other educational advantages

With the Students.

In the March number of The Cornell Widow, a college paper, appears a clever sketch by Edward Dougherty, an Atlanta boy, who has taken many honors in that famous university, where only true merit

The March Georgian, the magazine of the University of Georgia boys, is sparkling with interesting articles by G. Glenn, George Walter, Shelby Myrick, R. L. Woodberry, Clifford M. Walker and J. M. Hunt. The editorial staff of The Georgian is as follows: James Walter Mason, editor in chief; Thomas B. Conner, literary editor; Harry Dodd, exchange editor; Clifford M. Walker, business manager; M. W. Peacock assistant business manager. Their editorials are always clean and full of interest.

Items of Society.

Mr. William Nixon, president of the Atlanta woolen mills, has returned from a business trip north.

Hon. A. O. Blalock, Fayette county's able representative in the last legislature, spent Saturday in the city.

Miss Lucy Peel, the beautiful Atlanta belle, who received such distinguished honors and was the acknowledged queen of all the visiting girls in New Orleans this winter, has returned home and is receiving congratulations from her many friends.

gratulations from her many friends.

Mrs. William Dickson had the honor of being renominated for vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Vice President Stevenson and seconded by Miss Washington. The Gridiron Club, so famous all over the land, entertained Mrs. Dickson while she was in Washington in appreciation for the beautiful reception which she gave in compliment to them while they were here during the exposition.

Mr. Vaughn Nixon, who has been ill at the Kimball, is well again, to the delight of his friends.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon boys all over the country are very much gratified that President McKinley wore, as a member of the fraternity, a jeweled Sigma Alpha Epsilom badge and that the members of the fraternity present during the inauguration were provided with seats of honor.

Professor Looney, of College Park, spent Sunday in the city with friends.

Mrs. Grant Wilkins will accompany the Georgia editors and their wives to Nassau.

Hon. R. Scott Parks, of Alabams, one of the most influential McKinley men in his state, passed through the city yesterment awaits him.

—:o:—

Miss Lute Gordon returns today from a few days' stay in the country. Her friends will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from a slight attack of the grip.

Miss Juliet Cox, the bright and pretty young daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Albert Cox, with her clever brother, Herman Cox, are two of the latest members of the Children of the American Revolution.

Miss Janie Speer, who represented Georgia at the Children of the American Revolution congress recently in Washington, is descended from the Pickens of South Carolina, General Norwood and William Speer of revolutionary fame. Little Miss Speer and her mother will return to the city this week. Since the Children of the American Revolution congress they have been visiting Mrs. Dan Speer, who now makes her home in Washington.

Mr. George Oliver Tenney, of Spartan-burg, S. C., who has been spending several days in the city, left for New York city

Mr. Wheeler, a leading member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and one of the most popular students at the Tech-nological institute, leaves today for his home in Southern Georgia.

At the Second Baptist church this even-ing there will be a most interesting raily of Baptists from all the cauches in the of Baptists from all the churches in the city. The various pastors will be there, with a reception committee appointed from each church. The object of the entertainment is to have the people know each other; and strangers, whether Baptists or not, are invited to be present. This is a lovely idea, and will be hailed with because by strangers who there of the city. pleasure by strangers, who have no other means of meeting the people than through their church relations. Complimentary refreshments, songs and short addresses will be features of the entertainment for Quite a large party of Georgia publishers and editors will take advantage of the ed-itorial excursion to Lake Worth, Florida, and Miami, on Biscayne bay. They are now perfecting plans to take this ideal and restful trip to Nassau. The annual out-ings of Georgia editors can but bring about a broader acquaintance among them; and there is nothing so conducive of good feeling and comradeship as just such informal trips as these yearly jour

Mrs. Albert S. J. Gardner is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. M. G. S. Gardner, in Augusta.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Hugh Inman. They have recently returned from a visit to Mr. Richardson's mother, in Louisiana.

Mr. Richard Bell has returned from Chi-

Mrs. William Little left yesterday for Columbus, where she will visit her son, Mr. John D. Little.

Mrs. Lowndes leaves tomorrow for Athens, where she will visit Miss Emmle Bell Lowndes, who is a student in the Lucy Cobb institute.

Mrs. Frank P. Rice left this morning for Gadeden county, Florida, on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Emma Lott.

The Young Matrons' Club gave a de-lightful card party at Mrs. George Parrott's residence on Howard street, last Friday evening. Mrs. Robert Cramer won the first prize, a handsome green leather pocketbook with gold trimmings. The men's first prize was captured by Mr. Dick Harris. It was a whisk broom with silver handle set with amethysts Ar and Mrs. Henry Grady, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Harris, Miss Mildred Cabaniss, Miss Hellman, Mr. Billy Hill and Mr. Jim

-:0:-A. E. S. A.

The Atlanta Equal Suffrage Association will meet as usual in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Wednesday, March 10th, beginning at 3 o'clock in the -:0:-

OUT OF TOWN SOCIETY.

KINGSTON.

Last Friday evening the Dixie minstrels, a company composed of sixteen of our best young men, gave their first entertainment, which was highly entertaining. The jokes were funny and well put, the songs were the very latest and excellently sung, as some of the members have very fine voices. The second part of the programme was an exhibition of the wonderful power of Professor Mokely Macoon (Mr. Milt Saul, of Atlanta,) in hypnotising and mind reading. It was very amusing.

The third part of the programme was entitled "Romeo and Juliet, or the Belle of Blackville," a comedy, which was full of laughable situations and funny experiences. There was a full house, quite a number of visitors from adjoining towns and cities. March 9.

and cities.
Colonel Mark A. Hardin, of Atlanta came up purposely to be present and expressed himself as being well paid for his trouble. The neat little sum realized will be expended upon our park. Every one was so pleased with the performance that a repetition has been requested and will be given Friday evening. March 12th.

BRUNBWICK.

AGAINST RELIGIOUS THE TRUSTS WAR RAGING

The Finding of the Lexow Committee | Coeur d'Alene in Washington State Wrought Up Over a Recent

WILL MAKE ITS REPORT TODAY | EDITOR DRIVEN FROM TOWN

To Be Presented to the New LEGISLATION LATER

enuter Lexow Will Prepare a Bill To Prevent a Continuation of the Combination That "Restricts the Necessities of Life" as the Finding of the Report Is Worded.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.-The report of the Lexow trust investigating commi will be presented to the senate today.

It contains about 10,00 words. The ter timony taken before the committee is reviewed at length and while no special drive is made against any individual trust, the committee treats all of the combine investigated alike.

They found that these combinations to restrict the necessaries of life do exist, and that the aggregations of capital which have been formed were organized in nearly every instance for the purpose of regulating the trade, suppressing competition, controlling the output and dictation of prices.

The report dwells at length upon the great danger that is likely to arise from the continuance of the operations of these aggregations of capital and protests that affirmative legislation should be enacted with a view of restraining, if not entirely prohibiting, the operation of such monster

The report states that the committee lieves the factors' agreements between the trusts and their agents are to a great extent the potential agency through which these combinations are enabled to fulfill the purposes of their organizations.

The committee is working on the remedia legislation, but Chairman Lexow does not think he will have the bills for introduction today.

SIDNEY LANIER'S SON WEDS

phine Ledyard Stetson, a Niece of A. Foster Higgins. ...

Greenwich, Conn., March 9.-At Christ pal church yesterday afternoon Hen ry W. Lanier, of New York, and Miss Jo ephine Ledyard Stetson, a niece of A Foster Higgins, were married by the Rev M. G. Thompson.

Charles Lanier, assistant editor of The Review of Reviews, was the best man, The bridegroom is a son of Sidney Lanler the Georgia poet. Mr. and Mrs. Lanier will live in New York.

FIVE YEARS FOR EMBEZZLEMENT. Robbery.

Boston, March 9.-Allison C. Mason, for mer president of the Globe Investment Company, who recently pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling $3,000, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the state prison yesterday.

jessamines and jonguils interlining paims and evergreens with artistic effect, the whole receiving much admiration from the

The Ladies' Card Club was entertained by Mrs. A. C. Banks Tuesday afternoon. Her guests were: Mesdames D. Wyatt Aiken, Beldan, Stiles, Farker, Barkuloo, E. H. Mason, Elliot Hopkins Candler, Fen-gar, John Wood, Misses Elia Symons, Chyler Nattle Brantley.

Cuyler, Nottle Brantley.

Miss Mary Haines and Miss Gerrard, of Savannah, at present guests of Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, are the recipients of much social attention in Brunswick. On Tuesday even ing their hostess tendered a delightfui "multi" party in compliment to her guests, which was attended by the younger set, and on Wednesday Mrs. J. D. Sparks gave and on wednesday ares 3. D. Sparas gave a charming dinner in their honor. The popularity of these visitors has made their stay especially pleasant and they have proved quite an addition to the social

ROME.

Mr. and Mrs. Whit Huff complimented Mrs. Don Halsey, of Virginia, who is the guest of Mrs. C. J. Pruden, with a dining on Friday evening. It was elegant in every detail. The honored guests were: Mrs. Don Halsey, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pruden, Miss Mary Berry; Mesars. Berry, Scullins and Jones.

La Chacota Clara will meet Wednesday with Miss Linnie Thomas.

Mrs. M. G. McLonald will entertain the Fortnightly Club on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. H. Lavender and daughter have returned from Selma. Miss Lavender will have this week some very charming and accomplished young ladles of that city as her guests. March 9.

accomplished young ladies of that city as her guests. Miss Carrie Clark is soon to have two lovely visitors in the persons of Misses Gussle and Lucy Jones, of Selma, Ala.

Misses Gussle and Lucy Jones, of Seima, Ala.

Miss Elizabeth Branham, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. T. Crouch, will return to ner home in Tennessee on Tuesday. Miss Annie Dowdell, of Atlanta, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. T. Mitchell, but will doubtless made her home here now with Mrs. J. F. Wardisw.

Miss Minnie Langford, of Atlanta, is visiting her brother, Mr. Walter Langford, on Fifth avenue.

Mrs. William Adkins and daughter, Hasel, have gone to Florida for a stay of six weeks. They go to join Mr. Adkins, who is there on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bass are now in New York, where Mr. Bass is purchasing his spring stock. They are expected nome this month and will make their home as the Armstrong.

Newspaper Article.

a Compromise Is Finally

ABOUT A YOUNG LADY

Effected.

and the Response in the Newspape Was the Cause of the Old Religious Trouble in the Town Breaking On Afresh.

Spokane, Wash., March 9.-A religious war that has been waged between the miners in the Coeur d'Alene for years was given fresh impetus on Sunday by an occurrence that threatens to lead to the hedding of blood.

At a recent entertainment at Wardne Miss Johnson, a school teacher, made ar attack on the Catholicts. In last week's issue of The Wardner Citizen. Editor C. R. Burris made some severe criticisms upon Miss Johnson's character. Members of the American Protective Association, to the number of 100, met and appointed a committee to bring Burris before the meet-

He was dragged from his office through the streets to the place of meeting. A stormy discussion ensued as to what to do with Burris. Some favored a coat of tar and feathers, while the majority wanted to hang him. Finally, after a strong appeal to not commit murder, a motion prevailed to run Burris out of town, which was done, under escort of the mob.

Late yesterday warrants were issued for the arrest of eight ringleaders on a charge of conspiracy and inciting riot. Sheriff Henri and five deputies started to the mine last evening to make the arrest and it is believed they will be resisted.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODIES

One Hundred and Five Bodies Found and Sixty-Five Still Missing in the San Francisco Mine.

New York, March 9.-A Sun special from Zacatacas, Mexico, says:

The search for the dead bodies in the San Francisco mines, near Sombreirete, this state, still continues, One hundred and five bodies have been recovered and sixty-five miners are still missing. Nearly all of the bodies were ourned so as to be unrecognizable. The government has sent a representative to the mine to make an investigation into ### the cause of the fire. OKLAHOMA DIVORCE INVALID

Judge Lawrence, in New York, Gives Another Adverse Decision the Territory's Acts.

New York, March 9.-Justice Lawrence, in the supreme court, has declared another Ckiahoma divorce invalid.

In 1896 John F. Driscoll told his wife that he was going to Iowa to get a positicn, but instead he went to Oklahoma and got a decree of divorce against his wife on the charge of cruelty and abandonmert. When he returned to this city his wife had his arrested in a suit which she instituted for absolute divorce. The court holds that the divorce decree had no validity whatever, as the Driscolls were not residents of Oklahoma, and the courts there had no jurisdiction in the matter.

A COTTAGE AT NEWPORT.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer Will Again Rent "Arleigh" for the Coming Summer.

Newport, R. I., March 9.-Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, of Chicago, it is learned, have taken for another summer the beautiful villa at the corner of Parker and Bellevue avenues, owned by Mrs. H. Ruth-ven Pratt, and known as "Arleigh."

They will arrive about the middle of July and remain till late in September, giving at least one large social function, as they

DEMOCRATS' SIGNAL VICTORY

City Which Gave a Republican Majority in November.

elections yesterday the democrats elected their entire ticket with the exception of two councilmen by majorities ranging from 25 to 170.

The city gave a republican majority of about 200 af the November election.

the greatest of mait tonics, is invaluable to nursing mothers, feeble children, the infirm and convalescent. For safe by all druggists.

GEORGIA CHAUTAUQUA,

Albany, Ga., March 29th, 1897.

For the above meeting the Southern rail way will sell tickets from all points is Georgia to Albany and return a R rate of one and one-third fares for the rountry. Tickets on sale March 20th to Stinclusive, with limit three days from datof sale. For military companies a rate of cent per mile will be made. The Southern railway has the short and direct line through trains daily. For information apply to any agent of the Southern Railway Company. Ticket office Kimball house orner, Atlanta, Ga.

A VERNOT, P. A.

C. E. GERGEANT, C. T. A.

W. D. ALLEN, D. P. A.

Notice.

All Watches, Jewelry and other articles left for repairs and remaining with us over 60 days will be sold for charges at public auction 30 days after date of this notice, March 8th, 1807.

A. L. DELKIN, Agt.

MONDAY, MARCH 8th.

BUCKLER STOCK CO.

MATINEES Wednesday 2:30 P. M Monday Night Ladies Free.

Seats now selling at Phillips and Crew's, Kimball THE

TONIGHT

MISS GEORGIA CAYVAN And Her Own Company,

PRESENTING TONIGHT MARY PENNINGTON SPINSTER

No increase in prices. Sale at Grand Box Office. 'Phone 1070.

First Shipment of New Cure SMITHFIELD HAMS

Only 22c per pound. We have other brands of Ham at 121/2c per pound up, but for exquisite quality nothing SMITHFIELD HAM.

G J. KAMPER GROCERY CO. 390 and 392 Peachtree St.

PHONE 628.

ONE CENT A WORD

Pays for "ads" in the Want Column of The Evening Constitution.

STATE OF GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—Ex-parte John A. Benedict, et al. Superior court. No. 584, March term, 1897. Petition for charter.

To Said Court.—The petition of John A. Benedict, J. O. Scott, Edmond Scott and Robert Zahner, respectfully represents:

1. They desire for themselves, their associates, successors and assigns, to be constituted a body corporate under the name of

ATLANTA DAIRY

name of

ATLANTA DAIRY
and by that name to acquire, hold and enjoy all the rights, powers, privileges and franchises incident to bodies corporate or conferred upon them by the laws of said conferred upon them by the laws of salu state.

2. The object of the corporation is to be pecuniary gain and profit to its stockholders, and the business in which it is to engage is the carrying on of milk, butter and cheese dairies; the manufacture, purchase and sale of dairy products and dairy property; the erection and construction of dairy buildings, apparatus and appliances; the conducting of dairy lunch counters and eating houses, and the manufacture and sale of ice cream. It shall have the power to lease, purchase, hold, improve, encumber, sell and transfer real and personal property, as its purposes may require, or as may best promote its interests.

sonal property, as its purposes may require, or as may best promote its interests.

3. The capital stock shall be four thousand (4,000) dollars, divided into two hundred (200) shares of twenty (20) dollars each; it may be increased from time to time to any amount not exceeding fifty thousand (50,000) dollars, by a direct vote of three-fourths of the outstanding stock, at a special meeting called for that purpose. Subscriptions to the capital stock may be paid in casn or property suited to corporate purposes and at its fair value.

4. The principal office and place of business shall be in said county of Fulton, state of Georgia. The board of directors shall be composed of not less than three stockholders to be elected annually at the annual meeting to be held for organization after the granting of a charter.

Wherefore petitioners pray the granting of an order of said court investing and clothing them, their associates, successors and assigns with the corporate character, authority, franchises and powers aforesaid, to remain in force twenty years, with the privilege of renewal of the same at the expiration of that time. This, February 15, 1897.

Filed in office this, the 18th day of February, 1897.

G. H. Tanner, clerk of the superior court of said county, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy, from the files of said court, of the application for charter of the

ter of the

ATLANTA DAIRY.

Witness my hand and the seal of sai court, this, the 15th day of February, 187.

G. H. TANNER,

Clerk Superlyr Court, Fulton County, Ga.
feb 16-4t-tues.

Rhodes, Snook & Haverty FURNITURE CO.

DISSOLUTION SALE. We think we've made it plain. We are going out of business. and our big Dissolution Sale is the success of the year. Furniture, Carpets, Mantels.

Three Big Departments Overflowing With Bargains Run Your Eyes Over This List. Oak Bed Room Suits, Roll Top Office Desk. like illustration...$11.75 Flat Top Office Desk.

..... $6.00 Sideboards, Oak...$12.75 Worth $13.00.

Sideboards, Oak...$15.00 Worth $22.50. Folding Beds, Oak $11.75

Worth $15.00. High Back Cane Seat Chairs, 6 for.....$4.50

......$1.00 Cobbler Seat Rockers ..... $2.00

Woven Wire Springs

Feather Pillows, 50c each High Back Ro-

Worth $16.00. Hundreds of Odd Pressers, Chairs, Beds and Fancy Articles of Furniture to be sacrificed to get rid of our stock ### quickly. CARPETS.

Best all Wool Ingrains,

.....50 Best Body Brussels, $1.00 Axminsters ..... Moquettes.....85c

30x60 in. Smyrna Rugs, $3.00 kind.....$1.55 36x72 in. Smyrne Rugs, $4.50 kind...... $3.25 9x12 ft. Smyrna Carpets, $35 kind...$20.00 3x6 ft. Japanese Rugs, 99c 9x12 ft. Japanese Carpets.....$8.50

12x12 ft. Japanese Carpets.....$10,00

The very evident discrimination of wide-awake buyers is shown by the big purchases they are making daily in our Mantel Department. It shows that they know a good thing when they see it.

Bargains in Mantels that will astonish buyers. See our stock before you place your orders. Oak Cabinet Mantel with bevel mirror, tile hearth and facing, grate and frame, for $12.50. Can't be duplicated under $18.50. Our quarter sawed oak Cabinet mantel, 18x40 French bevel plate, tile and grate complete, at $19.58 is a $30 outfit. See our mantels and save money. Rhodes, Snook & Haverty. Following are the receipts at the ports

Memphis 257 224
Augusta 257 125
Estimated receipts at all ports 15,000 bales, against 14,505 last year and 24,275 in 1895.
Estimated receipts at New Orleans tomorrow 5,000 to 5,500, aaginst 3,151 last year and 11,279 in 1895. Houston expects 1,500 to 1,600, against 2,499 last year and 1,113 in 1895.
The official close of the cotton market, at 3 o'clock, this afternoon (New York time), was as follows:
March. 6,91-93; April. 6,95-97; May, 7,01-02; June. 7,05-06; July, 7,09-10; August, 7,10-11; September, 6,82-84; October, 6,72-73; November, 6,73-75; December, 6,78-79; January, 6,83-85. Market firm; sales 103,100.

The Liverpool Market.

Liverpool. March 9—12:15 p. m.—Cotton, spot quiet with prices firm: middling uplands 3 15-16; sales 8.000 bales: American 7.400; speculation and export 500; receipts 28,000; American 14,500.

3 57 Buyers 3 57-64 8 57 Buyers 3 57-64 3 57 S 5 57-64 3 57 S Sellers 3 58-64 3 57 Buyers 3 58-64 3 57 Buyers 3 58-64 3 57 Buyers 3 58-64 3 45 Sellers 3 45-64 3 45 Sellers 3 45-64 3 45 Sellers 3 45-64 3 45 Sellers

Futures opened steady with demand moderate.

The following is the statement of the receipts, ship ments: mistock in Atlanta:

RECEIPTS SHIPM'TS | STOCK.

1294 898 2250 771

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, March 9.—Private cable quote wheat steady at a decline of 1d.

wheat steady at a decline of id.

Board's opening Liverpool cable—Spot wheat, steady; futures %d lower; spot corn quiet, and %d lower; futures quiet and %d

Lendon opening cable—English country markets steady. French firm. Cargoes— wheat, dull; corn, quiet. On passage— wheat, weak and 3d lower; corn firm. Berlin—Wheat ½ mark lower.

Primary receipts of wheat, 264,000, against 143,000; shipments, 128,000, against 150,000.
Corn, 610,000, against 507,000; shipments, 407,-

Total clearances at all ports—Wheat and flour, equal to 162,000 bushels of wheat. Corn, 495,000.

is—Wheat 5@30 centimes lower; flour 70 centimes lower. Berlin—Wheat, % mark

Northwestern receipts of wheat-327 cars, against 359 cars last week, and 467 cars

last year.
The Orange Judd Farmer: "If the present estimate of correspondents is as relia-ble as such estimates have heretofore been it indicates, in connection with rapidly de-creasing supplies of wheat in visible quarters, that before another crop can be harvested the grain bins of the country will be swept cleaner than in any year since 1881, when the price of wheat in Chicago reached as high as $1.13 per bushel before the next crop was available. When the 1897 crop is harvested in this country at least, it is evident that the accumulated supplies of past years will be gone, and that con sumption will practically have overtake

EQUAL TO AN OSTRICH. A Young Man Who Swallows Glass and Nails.

From The Baltimore Herald. Students at the Baltimore Medical col-lege experimented with an ostrich yesterday, and it was a human ostrich at production.

Following is the range futures in Chicago today:
Wheat-

lower. Antwerp-Wheat, 121/2 centimes low ard's closing continental cable-Par-

Futures closed very steady.

Total ..

1,684 749 1,642 224 125

today compared with the same day

Galveston... New Orleans.. Mobile....

Savannah..... Charleston..... Norfolk....

A SLIGHT DECLINE IN COTTON CONTRACTS

Attributed to the War Cloud in Europe--Active Stocks Are Lower and Wheat Gains a Fraction.

EXCHANGE GOSSIP.

By Private Wire to Paine-Murphy Co. New York, March 9.—People who are in-terested in Sugar and who have just re-turned from Washington, admit that the present sentiment there is in favor of a specific duty on all sugars. They are conont, however, that this will be changed her in committee or house to a high valorem duty when the cases are ught before the framers of the law. It is a fact that there is a concealed protec-tion in an advalorem duty on raw sugars which amounts to almost 3 1-16 cents per pounds. All sorts of reports are certain to come from Washington, but ad valorem duties, with the present differential on re-fined, are expected to be the final outcome. Consols, 111 15-16 for money, and 112 1-16 for account.

London, 2 p. m., steady.

London, 2 p. m.—Bur silvier quiet—29 es for American stocks, consols, etc., show London markets generally steadier and do not bear out the alarming dises in some of the morning papers. There was talk last evening that the Manhattan dividend might be made 1½ as a compromise. This, however, was regarded as doubtful on account of the comparatively small amount saved.

The decline in Western Union was due to weakness in Manhattan. The stocks are close together in the room and traders who

The only fact attracting much atsales. The only fact attracting much attention was the purchase of stock on a scale by J. W. Davis & Co.
Americans in Lo. lon closed steady.
Barnings—Illinois Central for the month of February—increase $48,459.

ited to Mr. Well, but was chiefly on traders

Southern Exchange Stock Letter.

Atlanta, March 9.—There was an attempt on the part of a certain clique to open the market down and keep it down, but the effort was not successful owing to the bulk of the trading looked like matched orders. There was some covering of shorts, and the selling was by brokers who are supposed to execute orders for insiders.

London cables received just before the opening stated that the market there was somewhat lower than the official prices, which would lead one to suppose London

The interest on the floor centered on the Manhattan dividend. When it was announced that it had been reduced 1 per cent, it immediately sold down 1 per cent bulk of the trading looked like matched on very light sales.

Generally the market had a good under-tone but outside business was extremely

New York Stock Quotations

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ATTEMPT TO THE  | Part of the same of |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|---------------------|
| Yesterday's                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                 |                     |
| Close                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | . Open.         | N.Y.T.              |
| Atchison 113                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 6 11%           | 11%                 |
| Am'n Sugar Refining 1163                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 6 11636         | 11576               |
| Bur and Quincy 769                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 76%             | 76%                 |
| Chicago Gas                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 6 771/6         | 77                  |
| Bur. and Quincy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 3514            | 3434                |
| American Tobacco 77                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 7714            | 77%                 |
| Jersey Central 935                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                 |                     |
| Louisville and Nash 493                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 4014            | 481/2               |
| Missouri Pacific 213                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 22              | 20%                 |
| Tenn. Coal and Iron. 281                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 27%             |                     |
| Tenn. Coal and Iron. 2071                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                 | 107                 |
| Northwestern                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 3 101           |                     |
| Southern Railway pr.M 273                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 28              | 28371/6         |
| Northern Pacifi pref 373                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 8 38            |                     |
| New York Central 961/2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 96%             | 9634                |
| Omaha 56                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 55%             | 5.0                 |
| Pacific Mail 26                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 26%             | 263/8               |
| Reading 251                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 251/4           | 24%                 |
| Rock Island 677                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 68              | 67%                 |
| Rock Island                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 77              |                     |
| Union Palific 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 67/8            | 7                   |
| Western Union 823                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 82%             | 82%                 |
| American Spirits Co 137                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 141/8           | 13%                 |
| U. S. Leather pref 595                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 59%             | 591/4               |
| Manhattan 85%                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 85              | 84%                 |
| The same of the sa | WALL ASSESSMENT | THE PARTY NAMED IN  |

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Noon Cotton

Letter. March 9.-Liverpool futures opened quiet at practically yesterday's close; sales 8,000 bales; middling 3 11-16d. The 2 p. m. cables showed a slight improvement in the spring and fall months with an advance of 1-82d in spots, but part of this gain was lost at the close.

On account of the weakness in Liverpool York market opened 5 to 6 ler yesterday's close, May touch-ut at the decline there was some city for Liverpool account, un> to 6.97. New to 5,000. art receipts ork easy and unchanged idling; sales 735 bales. ded quite often happens, as ded today when Liverpool w our advance of yesterday, cral opinion was that Liverpool in higher than yesterday's close. Close yesterday were quite favor da compromise of the Greek at today there seems to be some which is having a depressing the company of the component of the Greek which is having a depressing the component of the compo not expect much support

The name of this queer individual is Samuel Harrison, and he is a man of good appearance, being twenty-two years of age. He was born in Syracuse, N. Y. He took dinner at the medical college yesterday and the students were his invited guests. The menu was an elaborate one, and seemed to be enjoyed with considerable relish by the man from Syracuse, but the students passed it by. The first course of Mr. Harrison's midday meal consisted of three lath nails. He was next served with a penknife, the blade of which he bit in half and proceeded to masticate in the same manner that an ordinary individual would tackle a fried oystar. As a side dish he ate a pair of two-inch screws, and the roughness of these wood fasteners seemed only to sharpen his appetite. A three-inch

..urphy & Co.

South Pryor Street (Jackson Building.)
Telephone III.
Private Leased Wires Direct to New York, Chicago and New Orleans. rk, Chicago and over our wires for Cot-fere executed over our wires for Cot-Bitocks, Bonds, Grain and Papvisions, ash or on margins, as securities bought and sold. Greenoes: Lowry Banking Co., Capita-hank or any of our wholessle marbefore him, which the human cetrich seemed to enjoy hugely. This dish was served without any garnishment whatever, not even the leather heads of the old-time tacks, and it seemed to be really an epicurean treat for the man from the Empire State. After he had finished with the fricasse of tacks, called for the desert. This was a most palatable dish for the gentleman with the wonderful appetite. It consisted of a plain finit-glass lamp chimney. It was a lovely piece of work, with a frilled top, and as transparent as Lake Holland ice. If he had enjoyed the other courses on the very peculiar bill of fare, he simply went into rapture over the lamp chimney. He daintily picked up the transparent globe between two fingers and bit a large piece out of the frilled top, the last piece had been masticated, and he He continued to chew up the chimney until then topped it off with a drink of plain then topped it off with a drink of plain cold water. After picking his teeth with a seven-inch rattailed file he said he felt much better, and thought he could survive until supper time, when his repast would consist of something light, probable a ragout of barbed wire, with zinc salad.

would consist of barbed wire, with zinc salad.

The members of the faculty who were present watched the performance very closely, and declared that Harrison had actually eaten all of the articles named. He stated to the school that he had been living off this diet for seven years, and, from his appearance, seemed to thrive on this very peculiar meal.

In explaining to the physicians as to his wonderful digestive power, Harrison stated that before performing his wonderful feats he ate a very heavy dinner, consisting entirely of sclids, such as meat, bread and the like. He also said he made a business of exhibiting before the medical fraternity, and in the past seven years had given exhibitions at most of the leading colleges throughout the country. He is a small man, with a splendid constitution, and stated he had never been sick a day in his life.

A BRAZILIAN MESSIAH.

The South American Republic Has Religious Sensation.

From The New York Sun. Brazil is having trouble with a Messiah who has appeared in the state of Bahia, attended by a band of 3,000 fanatic adherents, armed with winchester rifles and roclaiming a holy war for the re-estab-shment of religion and of the monarchy. He asserts that he is Jesus Christ, wears long hair and a blue tunic, and keeps rear him twelve disciples whom he calls his apostles. He indulges in ecstatic visions, uring which he declares that he receives his inspiration from God.

The man's name is Antonio Conselheiro. He comes from the town of Aracaty, in the province of Ceara, where he had a good deal of property and lived comfort-ably till a terrible domestic tragedy befell him. His mother and his wife were unable to agree, and, in order to put an end to their constant squabbles, he had decided to move out of town with his wife. His mother then told him that the reason for her hatred of her daughter-in-law was that she was betraying him and that she would prove the truth of her statement to him. He gave out that he was going off on a journey, hid in ambush, and at nightfall saw a man in the darkness approaching his house. Conselheiro crept up to him and stretched him out dead with one blow of his knife. Then he examined the body to find out who his rival was, and to his horror discovered that he had slain his nother. To insure the success of her infamous plot against her daughter-in-law she had put on men's clothes and acted the part of the fictitious lover.

Conselheiro, out of his mind with despair, and horror at his act, fled, and was not heard from again until his exploits in Ba his became known. His remorse had driven him into mysticism and fanaticism, and he found it easy to gather around him superstitious peasants who believed in his revelations, and were ready to obey him blindly, and to give up their lives for the holy cause. The region where they have collected is in the mountains on the bor-ders of the desert interior. At first they were left alone, but after they had estab lished their authority in a number of villages troops were sent against them by the government. A battle was fought in which Consolheiro lost 150 men killed, but the government lesses were equally large. Recently, according to Le Figaro, the fanatics were threatening the town of Joa-zeiro, on the San Francisco river, and troops were harrying there from Alagoas, on the coast. Conselheiro, however, holds a very strong position, his men being intrenched in the passes of unexplored mountains, with a broad stretch of unknown and desolate country behind them.

GEORGIA PRESS PERSONALS

er. There will be no Bradstreet's report today.

While the speculative feeling in wheat is weak there is a good inquiry for cash, both foreign and domestic account, while Liverpool is quoted lower for futures. Nearly all foreign markets report spot Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sears, of Atlanta, came down last night and will spend a few days with the family of Captain E. M. Word, on Poplar street.—Griffin Call. Mrs. W. S. Dunean, of Atlanta, is the wheat steady with good inquiry.

Receipts in Chicago today—Wheat 32 cars; corn, 401 cars; oats, 435 cars; hogs, 20,000 head. guest of her sister, Mrs. W. F. Hays.-La-Grange Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Starnes left yesterday for Atlanta, where they will spe few days with friends.—Griffin Call. Dr. C. H. Redding, of Atlanta, who ha been the guest of Colonel R. J. Redding for several days, left yesterday for Augusta.— Griffin Call. O. E. Heath, formerly with J. B. White

O. E. Heath, formerly with J. B. White & Co., of this city, has accepted a posttion with Douglas, Thomas & Davison, of Atlanta, and removed his family to that city. His many friends in Augusta wish im success.-Augusta News.

Mrs. Holmes has returned to her home to Atlanta, after a month spent with friends in the city.—Americus Herald.

Mr. Charles Evans returned to Atlanta today, after a short visit here. Mrs. Evans will remain a few days longer before re-turning home.—Americus Herald.

Miss Minnie Daniel, of Atlanta, has returned to her home, after a short visit in the city, the guest of Miss Belle Snyder.— Americus Herald.

Robert Hall, of Atlanta, who has been on

Robert Hell, of Atlanta, who has been on a visit to his parents here, has returned to his work.—Elberton Star.

Mr. Alva Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Matthews, of Barnesville, has just completed his spring examination at the Technological school in Atlanta, and he stands first in every study except one, and second in that one. It is a very fine record and shows what the pupils of Gordon institute do when they go to other schools.—Barnesville Gazette.

Old man Travis Grimes fell last week while on his way home and broke his arm.
The accident happened on the road near the place where he was knocked down and robbed last year. This seems to be an unlucky spot for the old man.—Gwinnett

Mr. George W. Lockridge, the mail carrier from this city to Walesca, was united in marriage Thursday to Mrs. Lawson, of Cassville. The groom is sixty-three years of age and the bride forty-six. They have the best wishes of a large number of friends for their future happiness.—Cartersville News.

The six mail carriers in Athens have organized a branch of the Letter Carriers' Association of the United States, of which order there are 14,000 members. The officers of the Athens branch are E. P. Stone, president; E. J. Hale, secretary, and J. M. Mabry, treasurer. Their charter will arrive next week.—Athens Banner.

ALIMONY FOR MRS. ARNOLD

By the Terms of Settlement of the Divorce Suits She Will Get $100 Per Month.

THAT IS THE TALK TODAY

frs. Arnold Will Reside in Kentucky Mr. Arnold in Atlanta, Says C. H. Arnold Today.

INTERESTED PARTIES WON'T TALK

pers," Says Mr. Walter R. Brown, Who Is Counsel for Mrs. Lida Pope Arnold-Everybody Is Silent in Regard to the Matter.

"Mrs. Arnold and I have agreed on a settlement of our matters, and I hope the newspapers will stop talking about it. I can't see why they want to drag our troubles before the public, for it has nothing to do with our matters."

In the above card, which was signed by C. H. Arnold, the announcement has been made that the Arnold divorce case will be settled outside of the courts. This statement was verified by Arnold's counsel this morning, who made the mere announcement that the case would never come to trial provided the case would never come to trial provided the case would never the settlement were carried on.

The settlement between Mr. and Mrs. Arnold was made on February 26th in this The attorneys flatly refused to talk about the matter, and from all evidences the counsel for both side have made an agreement to keep alient as to the character of the settlement. It is known, however, that the above date was the date of understanding bee from her home Mrs. Arnold c Kentucky to this city in order that she might be present at the time of the set-tlement. She was in the city several days. THE UNATTRACTIVE "NOW."

Delightful Morning with thy rosy tints, And blushes Nature's softest kiss imprints With song-bird notes and dewy freshness And love and beauty breathing through the FUTURE. Entrancing Evening with the veil of light, And charms possessed by neither day nor breath, The weird sweet sadness of an angel's death.

PRESENT.

But Noon—so beautiless, with beating sun, With rush of duties and with tasks undone, Sweet Memory pictures now the morning bright. And Hope sees dreams of evening's toften Gainesville, Ga.

CLEANED FROM STATE PRESS

Bismarck declares that life no 'enver terests him. This excites a suspicion that the grim old statesman is a populist.— Americus Times-Recorder.

mark a few days ago that a girl always remembers a thing by what dress she work when it happened.—Americus Times-Re-

Atlanta will enlarge her limits. The Gate City is evidently trying to keep up Waycross.—Waycross Herald.

There are several republicans in Clayton county now since Major McKinley's elcotion wanting to eat from the pie counter, you know, but doubtless many of them will be left at home to continue their usual occupation.-Jonesboro News. A foreigner carrying a small emery wheel was in town Wednesday sharpening wheel was in town wednesday sharpening scissors, razors, etc., and was kept busy. He sharpened a razor for Evan Ballard, which has been in the family more than a hundred years.—Eatonton Messenger.

I have seen papered walls and papered ceilings; but not till I came to Tifton had I ever seen papered streets. Our streets and public squares are literally paved with papers, tin cans, and broken bottles, and dry goods boxes and barrels adorn our dewalks. Let the good work go on. -Tiftor

Conyers now has the best school in her history. Over two hundred students have matriculated this term and everything in connection with the school is moving smoothly and profitably. We have every reason to be proud of our school and our efficient teachers. Convers Weekly. reason to be proud of our school at efficient teachers—Conyers Weekly.

TO PROTECT WILLS.

A Connecticut Judge's Plan for Carry. ing Out a Testator's Wishes.

ing Out a Testator's Wishes.

From The Hartford Times.

The only practical and simple scheme for the prevention of attacks on wills is that proposed by Judge John H. White, of Hartford, and defeated by the legislature of 1895. It provides that every person on making a will may deposit it with a legal officer, who shall give public not ce that a will has been so offered, and that all who wish to attack the capacity of the testator shall have a certain time in which to offer evidence and bring the matter to a decision. If no objection to the testator's capacity is made within the time specified the wint cannot be attacked on that ground after his death.

The contents of the will are not disclosed even to its custodian. No one has any ground to attack it, b. cause he is left out or gets less than he thinks he should have. Evidently the peop.e will think twice about attacking the testamentary capacity of a man who is there to de.end nimse f, especially when they are uncertain how be has devised his property, and may be bitting off their own noses. As Mr. Swivelier remarked about the sooms at Bevis Markis: "The contingent advantages are extraordinary." Under this law there would be no premium on will breaking.

The proposed law does not require any

HE FORGOT THE OTHER BARREL HE FORGOT THE OTHER BARREL.

Messrs. A. F. Thomas and A. J. Wood, who moved rear Little Rocky of late, are enjoying an elegant time in the night catching fish. Some time ago Thomas had a very hard struggle catching a turkey be had shot and wounded. In shooting the wild fowl he succeeded in breaking its wing. Startling off at full speed, forgetting he carried a double-barrel gun, he ran him until he was entirely exhausted and at to give up the race, when the turkey crossed the stream of Big Rocky on a log, and as Thomas had to stop, then it was he remembered his gun was double-barreled and he threw it to his shoulder, pulled the trigger and sent the fowl lifeless to the ground.—Dublin Courier.

THE HAUGHTY HOGS. THE HAUGHTY HOGS.

The hogs are becoming quite bold of late, and seem to feel that their right to roam the streets of our fair city at their own pleasure will never be curtuiled. Besides making many places in streets where they "most do congregate" unfit for ladies to pass, one of the filthy beasts was so bold as to attack a little school girl Wednesday at the old academy during the noon recess. The little girl was outdoors eating her lunch when the hog attacked her, threwher down and secured her food, and perhaps but for interference by other scholars might have done serious harm to the child.—Dublin Courier.

HE STRUCK THE SCENT. A few days ago a farmer living at the foot of Lookout mountain, in Broomtown valley, had occasion to go to the top of the mountain, and following a near way up a gulch, overhung with huge cliffs he came suddenly upon a small cave, and noticed that smoke was issuing from a crevice in the rocks just above him. He stood still a moment pondering on what it might mean, when the odor of still siop greeted his nostrils; then with a discretion worthy of all emulation he quietly stole away. He wasn't hunting any wild stills that day.—Summerville News.

SHERIFF GOT HIS MAN. A good story is told on Sheriff Penn in connection with the arrest of one of the Towns boys, who are now in juli at this place Sheriff Peen was watching the dwelling of young Towns's father, hoping to catch the young man as he came in at night. The night was biting cold, and Mr. Penn, in hunting around for a pent of vantage ground where he could watch the house, and at the same time be protected in a measure from the severe cold, came across a potato bank, or house used for storing sweet potatoes. Into this rhelter the sheriff crawled and proceeded to make himself as comfortable as circumstances would permit, but his fonely vigit had hardly commenced when another individual, seeking shelter from the cold, cowled in on him. His actions excited the sher-iff's suspicion and he accordingly "yemp-ed" the intruder; and it proval that he ed" the intruder; and it proved that he was right, for he had captured young Towns, the very man he was looking Summerville News.

THEATRICAL COMPANY STRANDED Cuba Libre Is Not in a Hopeful Condition in Columbus.

Special to The Evening Constitution.

If the cause of Guban liberty fares as badly as that of the "Cuba Libre" theatrical company, an aggregation which reach ed Columbus Friday, the struggling patri ots on the little island had better give up at once.

The Cuba libre company presented their play at the opera house Friday evening to a small audience. For Saturday night "The Siege of Vicksburg" was booked, but the house was so slim that the Thesplans decided not to play, and so the handful that had gathered was disappointed in vittosering the scenes of the great Missis. witnessing the scenes of the great Missis-sippi battle.

sippl battle.

"Cuba Libre" was a new play, constructed for the times. In it the struggle in Cuba was depicted in a way to arouse the sympathy of Americans. It met with but poor success, however, and the result of the small houses was the disbanding of the small houses was the disoanding of the company in this city following the performance at Springer opera house.

The actors and actresses will give a benefit Thursday night, by which they hope to raise enough money to get home.

Mr. Jumbo Hunter and Mr. Sledge Coliler have been busily engaged for two weeks going through the fl. fas. from the marshal's office, and have passed upon 20,000 fl. fas. Two thousand of these are no' good, and many are blank inside and stamped on the outside, "not found," in-dicating that the man whose name marks them has not been seen. Many of the men's names appear in the directory, and many have not changed residence in sev-eral years.

As all of the fl. fas. are not out of date

TO CURE NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean. Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Interesting Experience of an Indian apolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more mis-understood than nervous dyspepsia. Peo-ple having it think that their nerves are to blame, and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicine and spring remedies; the real seat of the mischlef is lost sight of, the stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregu-lar; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with Joss of flesh and appetite, with ac-cumulation of gas, sour risings and heart-burn.

with Joss of flesh and appetite, with accumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, of No. 61 Prospect street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes as follows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable result. They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a bookkeeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome all these obstacles, for I have gained in flesh, sleep better and am better in every way. The above is written no tfor notoriety, but is based on actual fact. CMCFW but is based on actual fact. Respectfully yours.

A. W. SHARPER.

1 Prospect street, Indianapolis, Ind. It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of stomach. They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of flesh and appetite, sleeplesaness, palpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.

Send for valuable little book on stomach disease by addressing Stuart Company, Marshall, Mich.

All druggists sell full sized packages at D cents.

SUGGESTIVE STATE STORIES. WHO WILL PAY SMITH'S BOARD?

"The Man Who Let Him Go," Say the Commissioners.

WHAT THE SHERIFF SAYS

If the County Refuses To Pay for the Care and Detention of Prisoners the Sheriff Would Like To Know Who Poots the Bills-An Interesting Point of Law Comes Up for Discussion.

The action of the county com efusing to pay Sheriff Nelms the jail osts resulting from the incarceration of Otis Smith, has raised a unique point of law which the sheriff is discussing

The sheriff says Otis Smith was regularly committed, so far as he knows, and was presented to the jatter by an officer of the law. Smith was placed in the jail upon the criminal warrant charging him with embezzlement and the county charged for his detention as in all criminal cases

When Smith was released the bill went to the county commissioners, and the entire jail bill, with the exception of such charges as were made for Smith, was paid. The $2.57 which was charged for Smith's detention was stricken from the account and is not to be paid by the commissioners. "I am not one of these chronic kickers," said Sheriff Nelms, yesterday. "All that I want to do is to discharge my every obligation as jailer of Fulton county. It's the people's office and not mine, and I don't want anything that I am not entitled to. "The question I am now investigating is what I am to do should any similar case arise. I am entitled to receive the pay for the expenses of the care of prisoners I am going to see what prisoners must be refused. The question is one that is knotty The criminal code of Georgia provides that no jailer or sheriff can refuse a regucommitted prisoner under a heavy penalty. It is under the circumstances that

Sheriff Nelms is thinking over the mat-The commissioners decline to discuss the matter, further than to say that the county should not pay for jail costs where the prisoner was jailed and then released upon the settlement of the prosecution. "Whoever turned him out should pay the jail costs," said one of the commis

AT THE THEATERS.

this afternoon. "We don't think there is any obligation upon the county to pay the board."

GEORGIA CAYVAN. Miss Georgia Cayvan and her company opened an engagement at the Grand last night. The appearance of Miss Cayvan and her company was well received and appropriate honors were tendered Miss Cayvan.

"Squire Kate" was the bill. It is a delightful drama in four acts by Robert Buchanan. Miss Cayvan, as Catherine Thorpe, mistress of the Weald farm, pleased the audience by her sweetness of disposition and acting, and she was followed throughout the play with attention. Mr. throughout the play with attention. Mr. George Woodward, as Gaffer Kingsley, the old miser, whose avarice and love shekels causes all the trouble, made, ever, the biggest hit, as Mr. George Heathever, the biggest hit, as air, deerge feath-cot. Mr. Orrin Johnson is deserving of mention. The other members of the com-pany are good and the play itself is un-doubtedly one of the strongest of the "Squire Kate" will be repeated at matinee this afternoon. The engagement tonight with "Mary Pennington,

"PALMER COX'S BROWNIES." One of the stage novelties of the year tacular production, "Palmer Cox's Brown les," at the Grand next week.

The flying ballet, which was a sensation for over a year at the Folies Bergere, in Paris, was secured for "The Brownies." it is said to be the most mystifying stage flusion that has ever been invented. The dancers, shapely young women, float in all directions through the air, and it is quite impossible to discover how they ap-parently defy the laws of gravitation.

BUCKLER STOCK COMPANY. The Buckler Stock Company, thoroughly reorganized and with a number of up-to-date specialty people to furnish fun an ent, began an engagement at the Lyceum last night that gives every promise of being a success.

The company is a good one and presented in a most acceptable manner the comedy drama, "Still Waters Run Deep." There is no intermission during the performance, for between each act there are a number of excellent specialties introduced. These specialties are really the feature of the enertainments to be given, for at every per-formance they will be changed. Tonight every musical number and every dancing specialty will be changed and an entirely new comedy given. Tomorrow af-ternoon there will be several surprising features introduced at the matines. Popular prices are changed to both the night and afternoon entertainments and the Ly-ceum bids fair to become one of the most opular family resorts in the country.

THE FUNNY CHROMOS COMING. THE FUNNY CHROMOS COMING.
Peters and Green, the "Funny Chromos," will be seen next week at the Columbia theater. This is a return engagement, the company having played a week hast month at the same theater. New farce comedies with new and up-to-date specialities will be introduced. Popular prices will prevail, 15, 25 and 25 cents, and ladies will be admitted free Monday night, provided the usual conditions, as to escort with paid ticket, are compiled with.

compiled with.

There will be a matinee Wednesday, at which the full returns, by special wire, will be given between the specialties.

This Clever Monthly Is Now on Sale It Is a Creditable Edition.

The March number of John Young Garlington's clever magazine, The Alkahest, is out and in the hands of the newsdealers in the city.

The edition is very pretty, from an artistic standpoint, and is well composed from a literary point of view.

Mr. Garlington is getting together one of the most readable of the many pagazines on this style in the country. The contributions in the March number are ontributions in the March number are cell worth reading. Some of the writers of note whose names appear under articles are: Kenneth Brown, Edward Rockell, Benton Neal Thornton, John Young ariington, William Thornton Whitsett, ohn Keely. There is a pen sketch of afcadio Hearn by John Henderson Garn-

OFFICE, 16 PEACHTREE STREET.

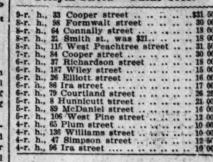

FOR SALE. HAVE a new, high grade bicycle, cost 375, will take 335; must sell. Answer quick. Road King, care Constitution.

HOTELS.

EXCHANGE HOTEL, 163 Marietta street.
Nicely furnished rooms for rent, reasonable. A. J. Adkins, proprietor.

mch 8 2-t

For Rent by J. Covington, 19 South Forsyth Street. 'Phone 1619.

GEORGIA SPECIALS are manufactured in Atlanta. A strictly high grade wheel in every respect and guaranteed for one year. As an introductory measure we will sell first fifty wheels built for $35 cash, first come, first served. Wheels shipped C. O. D. anywhere subject to examination when $3 is sent with order to guarantee freight. Georgia Bicycle Company, $0 South Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

NOTICE, BROOM MAKERS.

WANTED—At once experienced teers and sewers at Exposition Broom works, 301 Marietta street. CANVASSERS WANTED.

WANTED—Gentlemen and ladies to can-vass. $50 per month salary. Call at 43 Walton. S. V. Hopkins. AGENTS WANTED.

WANTED—Gentlemen to travel; represent well-established house. Salary $75 per month and expenses. References. J. R. Blackford, Lowndes building, 506, 5th floor.

Try Our Cool, Delightful Soda Waters. REFRESHING HOT DRINKS.

Full Line Domestic and Imported Cigars. Best Havana Cigar in Atlanta J. D. HIGH & CO. I FORSYTH ST.

DENTISTRY!

Gold Fillings, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00. Other Fillings - - 50c, 75c, $1.00. FIFTH YEAR IN CITY. 13 EDGEWOOD AVENUE.

The Ink Used on This Paper -IS FROM

The Standard Printing Ink Co. No. 20 W. Canal Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. ESTABLISHED 1857.

PERSONS

Leaving the city for a week or longer can have The Evening Constitution mailed to any address in the United States for ten cents per week. Don't fail to do it. It will be as good as a letter from home every day, except Sunday.

ONE GENT A WORD

Pays for "ads" in the Want Column of The Evening Constitution

RAILWAY: -: SCHEDULES.

Arrival and Departu of All Trains from This City—Standard Time. Southern Bailway. 10. ARRIVE PROM
13 Jackson ville. 4 20. am 113 Chattanoogs. 4 45 am 125 Washington. 5 10 am 120 Coumbus. 45 5 30 am 126 Chattanoogs. 5 55 am 25 (Green ville. 5 30 am 127 Cornelis. 4 20 am 112 Kichanood. 7 20 as 127 Columbus. 10 40 am 17 Kichanood. 7 20 as 127 Columbus. 10 40 am 17 Chattanoogs. 7 20 am 128 Birmingham. 11 60 am 17 Casttanoogs. 2 00 am 128 Birmingham. 11 60 am 17 Macon. 406 pm
120 Chattanoogs. 2 15 pm 25 Eirmingham. 4 50 pm
127 Wasnington. 3 55 pm 17 Eirmingham. 4 18 ed.
17 Hunnwick. 7 49 pm 125 Columbus. 4 20 pm
128 Columbus. 6a. 9 20 pm 15 Cornelis. 4 20 pm
129 Columbus. 6a. 9 25 pm 125 Taliapooss. 5 15 am 120 Grav v. Miss. 10 6 pm 125 Taliapooss. 5 15 am 124 Chattanoogs. 10 56 pm 125 Taliapooss. 5 15 am
124 Chattanoogs. 10 56 pm 125 Washington. 11 50 pm
124 Chattanoogs. 10 56 pm 125 Washington. 11 50 pm

Central of Georgia Bailway.

| $\frac{49}{96}$ | $\frac{6}{96}$ | $\frac{1}{96}$ | $\f

Georgia Bailroad.

And the Band Played On.

ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 9, 1897.

TWO CENTS.

OUR POPULAR SCHOOL CONTEST. TUESDAY, MARCH 9.

Second Edition

VOL. I. NO. 42.

BITTER WAR IS NOW ON; GREECE DEFIES POWERS

The Reply to the Ultimatum Has Been Sent, and the Grecian and Turkish Troops Hasten to the Clash of Arms in the Conflict That Is Now Made Inevitable.

ARMIES ON BOTH SIDES FLY TO FRONTIER

Prince Constantine Takes Command and Makes Ready for the Battle--Bridges Are Destroyed and Railroad Tracks Are Torn Up--Headquarters of the Turkish Army Are Cut Off from Salonica. Admirals Give Commands.

government to the ultimatum of the powers having been delivered to the foreign representatives here, preparations for hostilities

Crown Prince Constantine is about to start for the Turkish frontier to assume and of the Greek troops there and several of the Greek transports have landed great quantities of war material and large numbers of horses and mules at Volo It is reported that the Greek bands have destroyed a number of bridges on railways between Monastir, the present headquarters of the Turkish army, and Salonica.

M. DELYANNIS,

GREEKS ORDERED TO LEAVE

The Vice Consul Included in the Command of Admiral Canevaro, of Canea, March 9.-Admiral Canevaro, commanding the united fleet of the powers, has notified the Greeks here, including the Greek vice consulate, that they must leave the island at once.

It is reported that the slege of Kandamo has been raised and that the Mussulmans who were beleaguered there have moved to a place of safety.

The insurgents made an attack upon the Turkish positions at Akrotiri yesterday, but were stoutly resisted by the Turks and finally repulsed. The insurgents were re-enforced during the night and renewed their attack upon the place today.

MILD MEASURES PROPOSED.

Salisbury and Germany and Italy Agree Upon a Plan To Blockade Greece.

London, March 9.—Communications which Lord Salisbury wired to the powers last evening concerning the reply of Greece to the collective note of the powers have resulted in the concurrence of France and Italy with Great Britain that coercive asures toward Greece should be delayed and negotiations continued at Athens.

A telegram was received at the foreign office from Rome which states that the Italian government considers the Greek note of too negative a character to justify the powers in taking any immediate ac-Dispatches from official sources in Ber lin say that certain measures of blockading Greece must be observed, though they may

The form of blockade which Germany favors is something similar to that which was put into operation in 1886, which was ntly a peaceful blockade. pre-eminently a peaceful bioexade, Under the German plan, as outlined in Berlin dispatches, a fortnight should elapse before any action is taken. At the expiration of that time a pacific form of blockade should be put into operation under which any Greek or other vessel that may be arrested will not be confiscated, but will be released when the blockade is raised.

SALISBURY AND THE QUEEN.

The Two Confer, but the Result of Their Deliberations Are Unknown,

London, March 9.-Lord Sallsbury went yesterday to Windsor Castle, where he conferred for some time with the queen. The subject of the conference has not been made public, but it is supposed that it had some earing on the Cretan question made, the queen is to start for the Riviera on Wednesday, and the prime minister ould undoubtedly have visited her majesty under any circumstances prior to her departure.

It is announced here that the French, German and Russian ministers have approved the carrying out of the threat con ained in the identical note of the powers to blockade the coasts of Greece in the event of her refusing to accede to the denand that she withdraw her troops from Crete and her fleet from Cretan waters.

Their reason is that although the reply of Greece gives some hope of a compro mise, it does not comply with the demand made by the powers.

GREEKS NOT PLEASED.

They Discuss the Answer Just Made by King George to the Great Powers.

The Greeks of Atlanta are not pleased with the answer made by King George to the foreign powers.

"He asks for too little," said C. Constantine this morning. "We can plainly see that the Christians will finally be suppressed again and then there will be another war, for Greece will not permit these harbarians to massacre their countrymen. There was a big crowd of the Greeks at the store of Constantine on Edgewood ave nue yesterday and they were all agains

ANDRE S. SKOUZES

"It may be that the American paper have not the full reply made by our king to the other powers and there may be in that part which they did not get something them.

"I am sure that our country would not let King George rule if he had no more patriotism than that.
"Do you remember," said Constantine, "that the crown prifice went out and joined his army. Well, it was known at this time what George's answer would be by him, and if there was to be such a sub-mission as the American papers print, what was the use of the crown prince placing himself at the head of his troops. "There is something about the affair that we can't understand. If what is in the papers is true, it means that there will be no war. But we either want the Turks driven from Crete or we want it fixed so they can't harm the Christians in any way."

LONGSTREET AND BUCK

Patch Up All of Their Old-Time Differences of Opinion and Shake Hands.

THEY CALL UPON PRESIDENT

Who Is Urged To Give General Wade Hampton's Shoes to General Longstreet.

WHILST BUCK WILL HIE TO BRAZIL

The Latest Changes in the Political Kaleidoscope, Which Discloses Reconciliations. Mutual Agreements Divisions of Pie and Plans for the Future.

Washington, March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. Buck and Longstreet have gotten together at last, their visit to the white house, in which the former strongly urged the latrailroads, the place now held by Wade Hampton, being the token of peace.

If President McKinley makes this ap pointment, it removes Longstreet from the contest for the ambassadorship of Mexico and makes room for Colonel Buck to press his own claim for the embassy to Brazil. This is highly important to Colonel Buck, ecause it is well understood that the president will give only first-class mission to Georgia; and if Longstreet was to continue pressing for the Mexican position, both white-winged dove of peace would flutter over the situation which has heretofore been angry and irritant. To those who remember the course of republican history in Georgia, it will be recollected that there was a time when Colonel Buck was not in the leadership, but was quietly pursuing his vocation as clerk of the United States

ENTREE OF LONGSTREET. ENTREE OF LONGSTREET.

The reconstruction leaders of the party had all fallen by the wayside, and the party error committed by Jonathan Norcross in his race for the governorship in throwing aside his negro constituents and calling for a white republican party broke up the activity and the combination which began in 1888 and continued its unworthy career for several years thereafter.

It was in this emergency that General

It was in this emergency that General James Longstreet, who had while in Louisiana become attached to the fortunes of the republican party, took up his residence in Georgia. His fame as next in command

as a leader of the party in Georgia. He was appointed United States marshal and held several other offices, finally receiving the mission to Turkey, which took him ou of the country. BUCK'S CHANCE. This was Buck's opportunity. Before

General Longstreet had a chance to return Buck was formally seated in power. The contest between the two came upon the election of General Harrison to the presidency. Both men made trips to Indianapolis and fought bitterly for recognition. Colonel Buck succeeded in convincing President Harrison that he had done the hardest that oLngstreet had lagged by the way. The result was Buck's recognition, his ap pointment to the position of United States marshal and General Longstreet passing

four years in obscurity. When the late campaign opened, Buck had grown weary and cautious. He wanted something bigger than was in sight in Georgia, but it was necessary to combine all interests. He made terms with his oldtime enemy, who in turn, pressed by poverty, was willing to make terms with the new dealer. They appeared together in St. Louis; they spoke from the same platform during the campaign; and it was understood that neither one would sign an application for office unless the other had en consulted. It was in this emergency that it was discovered that Longstreet desire for the Mexican mission would run counter to the wishes of Buck.

TOGETHER NOW. The call of the two gentlemen upon President McKinley shows that they have reached a modus vivendi. If President McKinley appoints Longstreet to the railionership it will satisfy the wants rather than the ambitions of the latter, while it will leave open the vacant embassy to be claimed by Ruck and se-

All this will raise an interesting state of affairs in Geogria. With Longstreet too old for active leadership and removed from home by services on the Pacific railways and with Buck appointed to a mission so far away as Brazil, the state will be left with-Georgia, and he will be the active leader o the republican party in that state.

ARGUMENT BEING HEARD.

Judge Marshall Clarke and Hon. Porter King Spoge This Morning in the Thurman Will Case.

Argument of counsel in the Thurman will case was resumed this morning at 9 o'clock before Ordinary Hulsey. When the hearing adjourned yesterday afternoon Judge Marshall J. Clarke, repre enting Mrs. Dr. Thurman, was speaking and he continued his speech this morning when the hearing was taken up.

Judge Marshall Clarke takes the poston that the will executed by Dr. Thur act of a husband, and that the latter will

At 1 o'clock Mr. Porter King began his

ALIMONY FOR MRS. ARNOLD

By the Terms of Settlement of the Divorce Suits She Will Get $100 Per Month.

THAT IS THE TALK TODAY

Mrs. Arnold Will Reside in Kentucky Mr. Arnold in Atlanta, Says C. H. Arnold Today.

INTERESTED PARTIES WON'T TALK

"It's Not a Matter for the Newspa pers," Says Mr. Walter R. Brown, Who Is Counsel for Mrs. Lida Pope Arnold-Everybody Is Silent in Regard to the Matter,

"Mrs. Arnold and I have agreed on a settlement of our matters, and I hope the newspapers will stop talking about it. can't see why they want to drag out troubles before the public, for it has nothing to do with our matters."

C. H. Arnold, the announcer counsel this morning, who made the mere ement that the case would never come to trial provided the conditions of the settlement were carried out. The settlement between Mr. and Mrs.

The attorneys flatly refused to talk about the matter, and from all evidences the counsel for both sides have made an agreement to keep silent as to the character of the settlement. It is known, however, that the above date was the date of understanding between the two.

It is known that in her plea, Mrs. Arnold asked for $200 a month allmony and it is rumored that Mr. Arnold offered her $100 which she accepted.

Mr. Arnold was seen this morning fail to see any reason which would prompt me in giving the public our terms of set-

SUITS ARE STILL PENDING.

In the above card, which was signed by made that the Arnold divorce case will be settled outside of the courts,

This statement was verified by Arnold's

Arnold was made on February 26th in this

Kentucky to this city in order that she might be present at the time of the set-tlement. She was in the city several days.

mede the following statement:
"The settlement has been made and I

The two suits are at present on record is

Second Edition

MR. VEAL IS CLEARED

Charles Joiner Fails To Appear | He Is No Longer Secretary of the and the Charges Against Veal Are Withdrawn.

CASE FALLS FLAT TODAY TRUSTEES LOOK INTO HIS BOOKS

The Board of Health Referred the Matter Back to the Council and That Forecasted in The Evening Constitution Today.

When the Veal case was called before the board of health in the council chamber at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Frank Arnold, attorney for Charles Joiner, who filed the charges against Veal, arose and stated that his client had not appeared to prose-

Mr. Arnold said that he had not seen or heard from his client in some time and that he desired to formally withdraw the charges against Veal. The action of Mr. Arnold was as foreasted in the first edition of The Evening Constitution today. Joiner cannot be Judge Van Epps made a speech after Mr.

Arnold took his seat. The charges were formally withdrawn ind the case fell through.

The board of health referred the charges Where is Charles Joiner, Chief Veal's ac-

his attorney's office and not one member of the sanitary force has seen him on their rounds throughout the city in thirty-six

It was rumored on the streets yesterday whom Joiner is said to have given the silver taken from the Granite hotel was in hot pursuit of Joiner and that he had

Color was given to the report this mornof Sanitary Inspector Veal, and when rent reports. Mr. Frank Arnold, Joiner's attorney, was silent. He would not commit himself and neither admitted nor denied the story that Joiner had decamped. "I will be on hand at the appointed time." said Mr. Arnold, "and have conclusive proof of the defendant's guilt."

VEAL WILL DEMAND TRIAL. "If Joiner fails to materialize what will that it would be demanded that the trial

Many believe that some great politica move is at the back of the charges and that Joiner has been persuaded to drop the matter just as it stands rather than be forced by the opposing counsel to tell all he knows about certain well-known and influential politicians who wish to keep out of the question. Others think that Joiner is simply resting up, preparatory to the trial, and that he will appear upon the scene at the last minute. Be it as it may, all day yesterday and all this morning Joiner has been non est, elusive and out of sight.

The board of health will demand a trial if Joiner has lost nerve and fled and they hope for a full and clean vindication for sanitary department.

CHARGES AGAINST VEAL

Joiner in his charges claims that Veal has used the powers and privileges of his office for his own profit; that while securhad already bought feed and was making a profit of the purchase for himself; that at the city's expense; that he used the employees of his department as personal serhicles repaired at the city's expense not be longing to the city; that he was a tyrant to rent homes belonging to him and to others or else lose their jobs; that he has showed undue discrimination in employing his force and other charges which he claims to be able to prove.

The council chamber will be the scene of action and at 2:30 o'clock, Joiner or no Hundreds of men out of idle curiosity will

alone fill the room.

Dr. J. F. Alexander and Mayor Collier The board of health will be pres

GEORGE GETS A DIVORCE,

HUMPHRIES QUITS LODGE

Division of the Order of Railway Conductors.

Short in His Accounts with TROUBLE WITH CITT IS RECALLED

shal's Office Matters-The Trustees Talk Today-What Mr. Humphries

Mr. John W. Humphries has resigned the secretaryship of the Order of Railway while in the Atlanta lodge, No. 180.

on account of the apparent shortage which marshal's offics. The resignation of Mr. Humphries handed in last Sunday, and the board of trustees, composed of Mr. Zach Martin, Mr.

This action was taken by Mr. Humphrie

Wheeler Mangum and Mr. Joe Lattimer, are now investigating his accounts. It was rumored this afternoon that Mr. Humphries is short in his accounts with the conductors' order, but this is denied by

Mr. Zach Martin, a member of the board of trustees, held a conference with Mr. Humphries fust after noon today. He stated that the accounts were being checked over just as all accounts are when an officer resigns.

Mr. Humphries.

Mr. Humphries stated that the ru if any were in existence, were his to "There is nothing we have to say for publication," said Mr. Zach Martin, "unless I tis that the Atlanta lodge is in the very pink of condition; doesn't owe anything to anybody and can pay 200 cents on dollar. There cannot be even the slightest breath of suspicion directed at the financlal condition of the order at this the lodge. We are all right." No action will be taken and nothing will probably be known until the board trustees meets. Mr. Humphries has been a member of the Order of Rallway Conductors for several years. He was secretary of the Atlanta lodge until his resignation came last Sunday. He is also an officer of the national Order of Railway Conductors. His friends say there is no foundation in the rumors and that when the investigation is completed and a report is made Mr.

Humphries will be completely exonerated. KINGSBERY IS RECEIVER.

Two Stores Owned by Mrs. S. C. Rogers Conducted by the Courts.

A temporary receiver was appointed last night at 9 o'clock for the stores owned by Mrs. S. C. Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers conducted a large store in Lawrenceville and one in Atlanta on Decatur street. Both stores carried a large stock of goods and it was supposed Mrs. Rogers was doing a profitable but Rogers was doing at product til a few days ago, when she filed mort-gages to the extent of several thousand dollars, for the better securing of her

Mrs. Rogers has been disposing of her assets and the bill for receiver came last night and was presented Judge Lumpkin at his residence. After reading the bill Judge Lumpkin appointed Mr. S. C. Kingsbery temporary receiver with all authority of court to take charge of the assets and wind up the business.

ity of court to take charge of the assets and wind up the business.

Judge Lumpkin's order applied to the following parties:

Messrs. Inman, Smith & Co., John Silvey & Co., Tidwell & Pope, Alex S. Taylor, Clarke Hardware Company, King Hardware Company, Charles A. Conklin, Atlanta Paper Company, Gramling. Spaiding & Co., Stovall, Calloway & Co., Bates, Kingsbery & Co., James Lazenby, Haden & Patty, Thomas Haslett, sheriff of Gwinnett county, and J. W. Neims, sheriff of Fulton county, are made party defendants in the case and restrained from interfering in any way with the affairs. LITIGATION BECOMES FAMOUS

The Walker-Liddell Case Has Been Set Now for the Fourth

The Walker-Liddell litigation has been set for today in the first division of the city court before Judge Reid.

Should the case be reached this morning it will make the fourth time that it has been tried and the charges of the plaintiffs aired in court.

The case has been reached and tried three times, but each time a mistrial was declared. The Walker heirs are suing for the recovery of $25,000 of real estate, which they claim they are entitled to under the provisions of a deed which was made many years ago.

The "Suspects" Will Be Tried by Courtmartial, and the Death Penalty Will Be Imposed--The Butcher's Preference Is To Kill Them First and Try Them Afterwards.

THE WARSHIPS ARE NOW READY FOR CUBA

Anything Like a Repetition of the Ruiz Affair Will Send Every Available Ship to the Island—The New Administration Declares Its Policy-Consul-General Lee's Requests Will Now Be Considered and Our Citizens Protected.

Lee and urge him to present to the Spanish officials the firm protest of this government against ill treatment of American

Charged with Belonging to a Secre

Society, 200 Are Sent for Life to

the Chafarinas Islands.

New York, March 9.-A special cable to

Two hundred prisoners have been sent to Havana by the governor of Matanzas,

Senor Porcet, and are ready to sail for the Chafarinas islands, where they have been sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. They are charged with pelonging to the secret society of criminals known here

as Nanigos, but though some of them de-

serve this accusation, the majority is composed of persons innocent of any crime and

whom the Spanish government is cruelly

As no evidence that they had plotted

against Spain could be found and as the order of banishment to Chafarinas or

Fernando Po can be given by the governors

without any formality Senor Porcet

thought it less troublesome to take this course than to give more work to the military courtsmartial in Matanzas, which

are already very busy sentencing to death

that General Weyler will emain a while longer in Cuba as captain general and com-

said in well-informed circles that the central government, though considering

Weyler's recall to be necessary, has decided to postpone it for some days, thinking that as General Gomez has not been driven out of the province of Santa Clara the recall of the captain general just at this juncture

would produce the same bad effect abroad

that was caused by the withdrawal of

There is a report that Major Celestino

Fonsdeviela is to be tried by order of the

Madrid government for his cruel conduct in Guanabacoa and the murder of the Financial distress is most acute through-out the island. Famine is ravaging the small towns of the province of Pinar del Rio, Havana and Matanzas.

Smallpox is also increasing at an alarming rate and most of the victims die.

FOR A PRESS GENSOR.

BILL TO CREATE ONB WILL BE PRE

SENTED IN N. Y. LEGISLATURE.

It Will Give the Censor Right To Ex-

amine Any Article Before Going

Into a Newspaper and Im-

pose Heavy Penalties.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9 .- The Enquirer

Senator Lamy and Assemblyman Braum

will introduce in the legislature at an early

date a bill to provide for the proper super-

vision of a newspaper published in the state of New York, and for the appointment of censor for each newspaper published in counties having a population of 10,000 or Within twenty days after the passage of the act the governor shall appoint said censors, who will hold office during his pleasure. They shall examine and read

all articles intended for publication and shall prescribe and eliminate all libelous matter and all matters inimical to the interests of the state or any of the officers fixed by the comptroller and be borne equally by the state and the newspapers to which they are assigned.

A penalty of not more than five years

a fine of not more than 15,000 and not less than 51,000 is provided for cases of publication of matter which has not been passed upon and approved by the censor.

It is said that Governor Black approves the bill.

HARRY HILL GOES NORTH.

But He Will Return and Make His

Home Permanently in the State of Georgia.

Athens, Ga., March 9.
Special to The Evening Constitution.
Rev. R. Toombs DuBose has received official notice of his appointment as minister in charge of the Methodist church at Athens, Ga., March 9.

General Martinez Campos.

American citizen, Dr. Ruiz.

semi-officially declared in Havana er-in-chief of the Spanish army. It is four persons a day on an average.

maltreating only for political reasons.

The Sun from Havana says:

questioned or not.

New York, March 9.-A special to The World from Havana, via Jacksonville, Fla.,

recting that hereafter all women arrested in Cuba who are called "suspicious" shall be tried by courtmartial. While the penalty is not publicly stated, it is supposed that if the women are found guilty the death

The issuing of this order has been protested against by some of the foreign con-

General Weyler says, it is asserted, that the women are hardest to subdue and that If he had his way he would kill them first try them afterwards.

A kinsman of the first president of the republic has been arrested and treated in the most cruel manner possible. He was imprisoned in a small cell, six by nine, and kept incommunicado cre hundred drys. He had only one moal a day, slight at that, was reduced to a skeleton by inhuman treatment and is now dying from the effects. He is only sixteen years old.

ALL HEAD FOR CUBA

Many Ships with Mysterious Loads Are Heading Toward the Insurgent Camps.

New York, March 9,-A World special from Miami, Fla., ways:

The tug Three Friends is at Cape Flori-Captain Broward, the owner, who arrived from Jacksonville yesterday, left in the afternoon on the sug O. C. Williams, to join her. The Williams and several tons of dynamite on board and many other suspiciously heavy boxes.

Two suspicious looking steamers, low in the water, passed here yesterday afternoon going south. One came within a mile of re and displayed signals.

A Cuban went out on the long pier her and waved back several times. The vessel then went south under full head of steam seemed to have many men on deck. The government inspectors are not here but Cubans are thick.

GETS AHEAD OF UNCLE SAM.

A Filibuster Is Stopped by a Cruiser but Allowed To Proceed and She Lands Her Ammunition.

New York, March 9 .- A special to The Times from Carrabella, Fla., says: It was learned last night on good author Ity that the Cubans got ahead of Uncle and ammunttion escaped the watchful eyes

The story is that a vessel was loaded with baled cotton, the arms being concea'ed in some of the bales, which were hollow, and under them.

This vessel was stopped in the gulf by cruiser, but the cargo was so inscrent looking that she was allowed to proceed It is said that over 1,600 riles, 750 sabers chetes, 100,000 rounds of animunition ex cans of dynamite and a large supply of icine were in the cargo.

PREPARED TO SAIL.

The North Atlantic Squadron Is at Consul General Lee's Disposal When He Needs It.

New York, March 9 .- A Sun special from Washington says:

There will be no reduction of the strength of the North Atlantic squadron as long as the Cuban question remains prominent and every vessel now attached to Admiral ce's fleet will be retained in service. and others added as fast as ready for policy has been determined upon already by the administration and is believed to be because of the large number of ricans now under arrest in Caba and The intention of the administration to afford them full protection. ican citizens it is believed that Secretary Sherman will call tor a fleet of warupport whatever claim may be made the consul general.

n accordance with General Lee's sug-tion to Mr. Olney last month and there strong indications that Mr. Sherman event will ask that at least one ssel be stationed in Cuban waters. ere is no question that if another Ameri-is dealt harshly with by the Spanlards

OF THE LAW

A United States Court Judge Talks to Filibuster Hart Before.Sentencing Him.

IT WAS A MILITARY EXPEDITION

Risked for Gain, and the Price

Which Was Introduced by the Defense, the Judge Says Is Unworthy of Belief-The Only Issue at Stake Was the Question of Hart's Knowledge of the Character of the Business He Was Engaged in, and the Jury Settled This.

on the islands, whether their nativity was Philadelphia, March 9.-John D. Hart, of this city, who was convicted in the United States district court on February 23d on EXPORT INNOCENT PRISONERS the charge of aiding in a Cuban filibustering expedition on the steamer Laurada in August last, was yesterday refused a new trial by Judge Butler and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the eastern penitentiary, $500 fine and the costs of Judge Butler spoke at length in denying the motion for a new trial, during which he said:

"I have carefully considered this case and see no reason to set aside the verdict The case was very carefully and deliber ately tried and the verdict was amply sustained by the evidence. I have no hesitation in saying that as the case seemed to me at the end of the testimony and a it now seems there was but one disputable question. That it was a military expedition was proved beyond room for any

"The coming together of the men and arms, the apparent obedience of the men to certain of their number and their conduct on the way to Navasa would seem to leave no room for doubt that these men had combined and organized as perfect as was practicable to go to Cuba to fight the Spanish government. That object was avowed by some of the expedition and their declarations are proof against all. The fact that some desired to withdraw and were compelled to go by authority which was despotte of itself, seemed to demonstrate the character of the expedi-

THE ONLY POINT IN DOUBT. "That they went to Cuba is equally plain That they were carried by the Laurada by preconcerted arrangement is made manifest by many circumstances. A clearet case in this respect has never been mad out. That Hart sent the Laurada and controlled her movements is equally clear. The only debatable question is whether he had knowledge of its military character. This was open to discussion and was very fairly and fully discussed.

edge was the circumstance under which the Laurada was fitted out and Hart's connection with the Cuban party that went to Atlantic City. The defendant argued that these preparations were clearly consistent with their theory that the only purpose of the expedition of which that was contraband of war. If the cargo was not prohibited by our laws he would then have had no good reason to conceal his identity with the plan because the only harm to him if the ship were captured by a Spanish cruiser would be the forfeiture of the vessel and its cargo. "The only motive he could have had to concealing his own personal connection with the trip of the Laurada was to deceive the authorities of our government. I indirectly, the order to send the surf boats from Camden to the Laurada below Wilmington. What object had he to conceal his identity except to deceive the author ties of our government? He was closely Atlantic City and directed their movements to Barnegat. The evidence fully fustified previous knowledge of the military characert of the expedition. EVIDENCE NOT PLUAUSIBLE. "As to the after discovered testimony, I do not know how the jury could believe new witnesses are of the class that Goldbery (a witness for the defense) was. His ment. He made such an exhibition of himself as it not often made in a court of justice. It is alleged that certain men tried to bribe a witness to testify for the government and that these men publicly anto get this witness drunk and then bribe

"The improbability of the story is show by the fact that this witness had already on two occasions testified under oath (or the government in this matter. Moreover the government in this matter. Moreover it is alleged that having got him intoxicated they took the witness on the perch of the hotel and thereupon bribed him in language so loud that it was heard in the interior of the building. Such a story is wholly unworthy of belief."

Judge Butler, addressing the defendant, then said.

Judge Butler, addressing the defendant, then said:

"I am sorry to be obliged to sentence you. I believe, however, that you have been justify convicted after a fair and full trial. The offense is a very grave one, involving the nation's honor and the nation's peace. You entered upon it with your oyes wide open as to the consequences; you did it for the unworthy purpose of personal gain. You took the risk for a price, and you must now take the consequences. It was a most serious offense in thus endangering the public peace. It is my dury to punish you with a great deal of severity.

"If this had happened earlier in the history of law, when its provisions were imperfectly understood, a less sentence would be justified, but its provisions were well known to you and you showed great cunning in violating them. The sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of $500 and costs of prosecution and undergo imprison-

The Effervescent Populistic Leader Follows the Example Set by McKinley and Bryan.

AND WRITES HIS OWN MESSAGE

He Receives the New Cabinet and Points Out Rocks in the Administration's Path.

SHERMAN AS A MONEY MAKER

Knows How To Make a Fortune in the Public Service-Compliments McKinTey in Some Things, and Thinks the Cabinet as a Whole Is Very Much Like the Chief Executive. Points Out the Problems That Will Puzzle the Administration on Its Entrance Into Office.

Mr Carning Lang.

New York, March 9.-And now its Tom McKinley having delivered his inaugural address and Bryan having delivered what a good many people would like to be his inaugural address, Watson steps before the public and delivers something on his own

It is published in The New York World, and is, in part, as follows:

Thomson, Ga., March 7.—There is no sugrestion of mugwumpery about this new administration. It is stalwart to the core. a republican with the purpose of antagonizing republican policies. He is not posing as the big chief, who is bigger and better therefore, above all party schackles.

He is a republican of the strictest sect, and he brings all the weight of a lofty character, superior intellect and amiable disposition to the maintenance of his party's creed. The cabinet he has chosen is as decidedly positive in its make-up as the president himself. No democratic Gresham holds a place in it. No Palmerite secures lican, and those who compose it are all men of strength, capacity and partisan natures. Group the whole official presidential family together and you get an im-pression of a most decided character.

THE CABINET. These men do not represent the comwhatsoever. In McKinley's cabinet the privileged orders are represented as they ministration. With John Sherman as cen-terplece, the grouping harmonizes perfectly that eminent spokesman of privileged combinations of wealth. The country at large knows Mr. Sherman well, and the public opinion concerning him has crystallized. He commenced his public career without tics; he has drawn the small salary of a congressman and of secretary of the treas family, and today he is a millionaire. This fortune was made hone y, no doubt, just as Cleveland's was made, but the fortune (as Cleveland did) by using the advantages his position gave him.

As secretary of the treasuryhe had larger opportunities than any other secretary ever bad. There were greater sums of public money to be handled. There were millions upon millions to be handed over to favorite banks to be used, without inter-

There were huge bond deals to be manipulated. Hundreds of millions of the national debt had to be refunded and heavy com-tracting the currency. He is held respon which the people believe was so beneficial

He is held responsible, more than any living man, for the legislation which dis-turbed the harmonious relations between silver and gold, made trouble between two allies and fettered stiver with unfriendly legislation in the interest of gold. He is also regarded as the especial sponsor and champion of the national banking system, which system is detested by all those who understand it and who do not belong to the class which fattens upon it. To the masses of the people, therefore the selection of John Sherman as premier of the administration is a significant and ominous fact, and Mr. McKinley has made this impression indelible by grouping nates of the like faith and order. GAGE.

Mr. Gage stands for antagonism to the greenbacks, friendship to the national banks and hostility to the increase of the currency by silver coinage or otherwise. He represents the kind of bimetallisr which all the metropolitan bankers wantthe unanimous-European-agreement-sort-which everybody knows he cannot get. Mr. Bliss goes into the presidential family redolent of the New York chamber of commerce and the peculiar notions about patriotism anw government which emanate from that unselfish region, colored in his views by his local environment, as most of

Mr. Bliss will appear to the country at large as an ideal representative of the Wall street interests. Having been treasurer of the McKinley campaign fund, he, of all men, knows which corporations con tributed, and what those corporations were promised in the way of legislation friendly to corporate wishes His going into the cabinet will appear to mean that the McKinley administration intends to keep faith with the said con tributors to its expenses. Mr. Bliss is a millionaire banker, just as Mr. Sherman was and Mr. Gage is. General Alger is also a millionaire, and his views harmonize with Sherman's. Then comes Gary, another millionaire; then Long, of Massachusetts, attorney for trusts and corporations. Then there is Mc-Kenna, of Calofornia, one of Leland Stanford's confidential men, known on the Pacific slope as a corporation lawyer and corporation judge. These are the strong men of the cabinet; and of the commissioner of agriculture, Mr. Wilson, it is safe to say that he is tr line with the others. It is a distinctly corroration cabinet—a cabinet who members are identified in principle, purse and in purpose with the privileged classes. They not only favor corporations and trusts and combinations of car ital, but they are a part of the system. They are cogs in the wheel. CABINET AS A WHOLE.

McKinley's cabinet, therefore, is made up of those who feast on class legislation; those who claim that the laws should be framed in their special interest; those who preach the gospel of legal and political equality, but whose practice tends to concentrate all wealth, all privilege and all power into the hands of a few, thus revolutionizing our republic into an aristocracy based upon wealth alone.

Even Mr. Cleveland allowed representation to the people in the selection of his cabinet. Gresham may not have been an appropriate choice, but he was honest and poor and had proved to the corporations CABINET AS A WHOLE.

poor and had proved to the corporations that he was incorruptible. He was, therefore, a man of the people.

The peculiar distinction of the McKinley cabinet is that nobody need nourish any hullucinations concerning it. There is absolutely no room left for guessing. The cabinet is a corporation cabinet, and appears can doubt it. If the trusts who

M'KINLEY'S PROBLEMS. The problems which confront Mr. Mc-Kinley are these, mainly:

1. How to run the tariff rates up high enough to satisfy the manufacturers who paid for his election without arousing the discontent of the consumers, who will be compelled to pay higher prices for manufactured groups.

2. How to continue to spend more money than the revenues amount to without having to issue bonds, and without letting the people know that taxes are increased.

2. How to give the national bankers a new system still better than the

3. How to give the national bankers a new system still better than the present one, so that they shall have the sole prerogative of issuing paper money without lletting the impression go out that this is done to enrich those who run national banks at the expense of those who do not run them.

4. How to fasten the gold standard permanently upon the country and yet keep the supporters of bimetallism in a state of happy expectation. In this delicate experiment he will be materially aided by a calm and conscientious study of the manner in which the democrats have managed it in the south.

5. How to be blind to the remorseless march of the trusts and monopolists and stock exchange gamblers, and yet create the impression upon the laborer, farmer, retail dealer and general consumer that the administration is the relentless fee of all illegal combinations of capital and stands ready at all hours to rush to the rescue of any unfortunate citizen who may have discovered that a monopoly or trust is picking his pocket.

This task is not so difficult as it looks, because Cleveland has shown how to do it. Air alckingly will have to content him-

if with being a tame copylst of Cleve

CUBAN QUESTION. CUBAN QUESTION.

4. How to let Spain have all the license she wants in Cuba, and yet keep up the pretense of being shocked by the savage atrocities she has committed, is now committing and will coprinue to commit upon innocent men, virtuous women and helpless childre. Here again Mr. McKinley's task will be reduced to the mere imitation of Aleveland's example.

Cleveland's example.
7. How to settle the Pacific rallroad o

tion without collecting the money or selztion without collecting the money or selzing the roads or dissatistying the county with an unreadpable extension.

To enforce payment of the debt would distress many eminent thieves wh hove not yet satiated their appetite for plunnder; to selze the roads would be giving too much countenance to populist doctrines; to unduly postpone the day of payment might offend more voters than the republicans can afford to lose.

offend more voters than the republicans can afford to lose.

In his dilemma Mr. McKinley will, perhaps, cut the knot by following the judicious course now on trial. Collection of the debt will be talked of, but no collection made; seizure of the roads will be discussed but no seizure attempted; postponement of the day of payment will be debated, but the day of payment will be debated, but no definite postponement voted.

By this judicious manner of procedure the eminent plunderers keep the property and are satisfied, while the people are kept in the hope that something will be done and are likewise satisfied.

8. How to increase the taxes on the food, clothing, tools, furniture and other necessaries of life and yet keep the income tax question from bobbing up again. To tax the many poor to enrich the protected few and yet exempt the protected few from the and yet exempt the protected few from the income tax is a policy which may cause trouble if not very tenderly handled.

To this populist—unrepentant and unre-constructed—the foregoing appear to be the problems confronting Mr. McKinley. That he will deal with them adroitly, gently and courageously is not to be doubt ed. That he can solve them to the satis faction of a majority of his fellow citizens s most uncertain.

In legislating to satisfy the protected classes will run the risk of allenating th unprotected masses.

THOMAS E. WATSON.

MYSTERIOUS FIRES.

TWO BUILDINGS BURN IN WAYNES-BORO IN ONE NIGHT.

The Residence of J. B. Thomas and the Haven Normal School Are Destroyed and the Cause of Them Is Unknown.

Waynesboro, Ga., March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. The residence of J. B. Thomas was burned here yesterday morning. It was insured for $1,500.

The Haven Normal school building was also burned last night. The amount of ir surance on it is unknown, as the trustees of the colored school reside in the north, but it is supposed to be $1,800. Both fires occurred at night.

The cause for them is not known and here is much mystery and suppositio onnected with the origin of them.

A CONSIDERATE BURGLAR.

Takes a Purse from Dr. Wooten but Does Not Disturb the Family.

Unadilla, Ga., March 9.

Special to The Evening Constitution. A bold burglar got in his work last night at the residence of Dr. L. O. Wooten, in this place. The doctor and his family had retired leaving the front door unlocked. The bur glar boldly entered the front door, went into the bedroom where Dr. Wooten was sleeping, and taking a purse from his trousers' pocket containing $23, left the ouse, without leaving any clew and with out disturbing any of the inmates.

In the front yard the purse was thrown overlooked by the bold intruder.

ON BOIS DE BOULOGNE.

Miss Thornton Falls from Her Bicycle with Possibly Fatal Effects.

New York, March 9 .- A Journal cable from Paris says: Miss Helen Thornton, the young daugh ter of Crittenden Thornton, a lawyer of San Francisco, and prospective heiress to the extent of a few millions, fell from her afternoon and broke her right leg in two from the shock Sunday night that the operation of setting was not possible until yesterday afternoon. Last night her condition was alarming.

MILITARY DAY AT ALBANY.

Gevernor Atkinson has sent out invitations to the members of his staff to accompany him to Albany to attend the chautauqua March 23d. He will leave the city on the afternoon of March 21st, and all the members of his staff who accompany him will be expected to appear in uniform, and he hopes to have them all with him. There will be ample preparations made to give the chief executive a warm welcome, and he and his staff will be shown every courtesy while they are the guests of the city of Albany.

SEMINARY BURNED.

The Elijay Institution Destroyed by Flames. Ellijay, Ga., March 9.

The Ellijay seminary was burned last night at 11 o'clock. There was no insurfire is unknown.

MAY HAVE NEW HOTEL. Columbus Is Likely To Have Another Hostelry.

PENSIONS ARE UNCALLED FOR.

GREEKS FIRE ON GERMANS

A Blank Shot from One of the Kaiser's Ships in Apswered by a Broadside Shot from a Greek One.

GREEKS PARADE IN TURKEY

Lord Salisbury Visits the Queen and Confers Upon the Situation in Crete.

THE BLOCKADING OF

The Prime Minister Is Deciding Whether the Blockade Would Be Advisable and Whether England Will Participate in It-Any Shadow of Compromise Made by Greece Will Be Accepted.

New York, March 9.-A special dispatch to The Herald from Constantinople says:

According to a telegraphic communication received here from Crete Sunday evening. rumor is current there that the German ronclad Kaiserin Augusta, after having fired a blank shot as a signal to the Greek ironclad Hydra to discontinue her course received a full broadside from the Hydra.

Sunday was the last day of the Greek carnival. A number of demonstrations were indulged in by the Greek population here who paraded the town, wearing the Greek

BITTER WAR IS NOW ON.

Continued from First Page. minister at New York, but if the reports are true, we don't expect to hear from him for some time."

Mr. Constantine will write a letter to Greece today and find out exactly what the true situation is. He has many relatives there who are officers in the army and they can easily give him information from the inside.

The Greeks here will rest on their arms and wait developments. One of them said that if the reports were true he was positive that King George would be asked to abdicate his throne.

BANDITS MISS A RECEPTION

HOLD UP OF THE DULUTH LIMITED FAILED TO MATERIALIZE

The Special Officers Missed the Expected Excitement and the Bandits the Proposed Warm

Time. St. Paul, Minn., March 9 .- A special from

Chippewa Falls, Wis. says: A snowstorm and a belated passenger train were two circumstances that probably prevented an encounter between a gang of bandits and a hundred or more armed deputies last night. A few days ago the officials of the Omaha road received information that an attempt would be made to hold up the Duluth limited. The place selected for the attempt is a lonely spot in the forest about three miles north of Hawthorne. Had the Duluth train not been delayed would have received a warm recept The baggage and mail cars were filled with deputies armed to the teeth. It was the intention of the robbers to flag the train and just as soon as it slowthe engine while the rest of the gang rifled the mail and baggage cars and went through the passengers in the coaches. The Omaha officials intended to allow the bandits to flag the train, but would call a halt there. the proposed robbery the bandits had de-parted. It is understood one of the gang furnished the information.

ANDRE'S BALLOON TO START

And All Northern Canadians Are Requested To Keep Their Eyes Up in the Air.

New York, March 9.-A World special The government of Sweden has notified the government of Canada that Professor Andre will start from Stockholm about the end of June with his balloon in search of the north pole.

It is requested that instructions be given the Canadian officials at different points in the northwest territories and along Hudson bay to report if sighted.

AUGUSTA POSTMASTERSHIP.

A Lively Scramble for Mr. Dunbar's Pince Going On.

Pince Going, On.

Augusta, Ga., March 2.

Special to The Evening Constitution.

The inauguration of President McKinley gives new impetus to the postoffice fight in Augusta, and all the applicants for the position are hustling in earnest. There will be a strong effort made by Postmaster W. M. Dunbar to retain the office under the civil service rule.

It is generally regarded as a foriorn hope for a democrat to try to hold a postoffice under a republican administration, but Postmaster Dunbar has made an excellent record and will be indorsed for reappointment by some prominent republicans as

HARMONY REWARD FOR OXFORD WILL MORE THAN THE THING

Peace Reigns Over Atlanta's Police It Is Said That a Big Amount Will Be Alleged Betrayer of Miss Rosele Wig-Board, and the Members Resolve To Get Down to Business.

REORGANIZED FOR THE YEAR

As Forecasted in The Evening Conattitution Yesterday Captain English Was Elected Chairman.

PATTERSON MADE VICE CHAIRMAN

Malor Kendrick Begins His Career on the Board as Secretary-He Starts the Members To Talking About Military Discipline for the Police Force. Will Better the Department.

When Captain Brotherton arose last night and said he wanted to make no nination for the chairmanship of the new board of police commissioners, every one of the members seated around the table turned on the speaker.

was understood before the meeting and so announced in The Evening Constitution yesterday, that the pending deadlock and struggle had been settled and that Captain English was to be chairman

It was the nomination of his old ta tional enemy that Commissioner Brotherton was making. The two giants on the board have covered and buried their opposition. The two leaders of the past factions had made up and the clouds of a threatening deadlock disappeared.

Captain English was unanimously elected, and made an appropriate speech. Com missioner Patterson was elected vice chairman. Commissioner Kendrick secretary. Commissioner Branan made a most befitting speech when he turned the chair over to Mayor Collier, thanking the members of the board for their earnest support.

KENDRICK TAKES HOLD. Major Kendrick was introduced into the last night as a raw recruit. placed his name on the register of the commissioners for the first time.

Now that Major Kendricks is seated around the board it is an important question with the general public on what line he will work. He very plainly showed his position last night.

Major Kendrick is an enthusiastic soldier. If there is anything he likes it is discipline To get the pleasing looks of Major Ken dricks while on the street every policeman should learn the art of saluting an officer It was suggested at the meeting last night by him that a man who could teach the patrolmen how to properly salute an officer and learn them the set-up of a soldier be placed in charge of the barracks and that in connection with his other du ties he would be the drill master of the po-

Then Major Kendrick wants the military collar for the new summer coats. "It looks much nicer and there is very little if any inconvenience in it," said Major Kendrick. This will be passed on later by the

During the session it was also suggested by Major Kendrick that there be public inspections of the patrolmen.

"I noticed on the street the other day," said Major Kendrick, "one of the gatroleffort was painful."

So get out your military manual with all the fancy maneuvers of the soldier and be able to put them into practice if you want to make a hit with the new comm SALARIES ARE CUT DOWN.

The keen-edged ax which Mayor Collies violes with such force, made its appear ance in the commissioners' room last night. Their appropriation had been reduced by the mayor and council, and they must fix their salary list accordingly.

Chief Connolly lost $200 a year off of his salary. The captains lost $100 off theirs. Commissioner Branan had made a careful study of the salary question and submitted an estimate of all the salaries to be paid. The total of his account was only a few dollars over the appropriation. It was adopted by the board.

The buttons on the uniforms of the patroimen and officers will hereafter be the property of the city. It was ordered 'last night that Chief Connolly buy all the but-tons used on the uniforms and that when a man is laid off or is discharged he will have to turn over the buttons on his uniform to the chief.

It was learned by the commissioners the several men who had been discharged had continued to wear the buttons on their uniforms and to ride on the electric cars as

Under the present standing of affairs commissioners. Things opened up smooth ly last night, and unless some unforseen movement is made there will be harmony among the members forevermore

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Commissioner Nesbitt and Others Will Leave for Augusta Sunday To

The Georgia Cotton Growers' Protective Association will meet in Augusta Monday. The meeting will be one of large importance to the farmers of the state.

Colonel R. T. Nesbitt, commissioner of agriculture, is getting ready to go down and there will be quite a number of prominent men from the part of the state present at the meeting.

The association will make one last appeal to the planters of Georgia to reduce the cotton acreage and will discuss the great question in all its bearings.

Colonel William A. Broughton, who is at the head of the association in Georgia, is very anxious to have a large representation of farmers present and Colonel Nesbitt is seconding his efforts.

Application has been made to the railroad authorities for a one-fare rate for the found trip and it is hoped that the delegates can secure such a concession, as the meeting is one of such vital importance to a large class of producers.

Hon. Hector D. Lane, president of the American Cotton Growers' Protective Association, will be there and will give his views and experience on the matter std the discussions will be of great interest to all who attend.

W. C. HALE

Offered for the Apprehension of the Missing Man.

WANTED BADLY BY CREDITORS

Recent Investigations at Nashville Disclose Further Queer Doings in His Financial Career.

BOUGHT BANKRUPT CONCERN THERE

Save Southern Mutual Securities for the Stock of the Concern, Which Was Said To Have Been on the Verge of Collapse-Receivers and Attorneys Hard at Work.

A reward will be offered for the arrest and apprehension of W. C. Hale, the ab conding president of the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association. This has been decided upon, but the amount of the eward has not yet been fixed.

The announcement that a reward will be offered for Hale will come in the nature of surprise to many people, who believed that scarcely any effort would be made to locate the fugitive and bring him back to face his accusers and the scene of his

The decision to offer a reward for Hale was reached after a conference and a further investigation into the affairs of the association which he so badly man

A prominent gentleman who is interest ed in the settlement of the association's business said this morning: gation the worse it gets, and you may feel sure that Hale will not be allowed to eshim. He is somewhere not a thousand miles from Atlanta and the proper re ward will bring him back to this city. His location is known and it will be easy to get him as soon as the reward is an ed and the detectives are informed as to the amount."

Some further developments as to Hale's misdoings were made yesterday when Receiver O'Byrne and Mr. Jack J. Spalding visited Nashville in the interest of the

HE BOUGHT A NASHVILLE CONCERN In Nashville there is held something like $60,000 in stock in the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association of this city. The association also has several thousand dollars' worth of assets in Tennessee, of which Mr. L. D. Palmer is the receiver. He was appointed by Chancellor Cooke, of the Nashville district, and treated the Atlanta gentlemen with much courtesy. He proposes to work in harmony with the permanent receivers of the association in this state and to the best interests of the thousands of stockholders throughout the

While in Nashville Mr. Spalding and Mr. O'Byrne developed the fact that some months ago Hale bought out the Hermitage Building and Loan Association of tha city. The institution was on the verge of collapse when Hale visited Nashville and made a proposition to the directors, which was accepted. This proposition was that he would issue stock in the Southern Mutual Building and Loan Association in exchange for the stock held by the stockholders of the Hermitage association.

The transaction was made against the advice of his local counsel and the general counsel of the association here, and there was never any record of the transaction consequently no one knew of the matter until the visit of the gentlemen to Nashville yesterday and the investigation which

A representative of the Iowa Life Insirance Company arrived in Atlanta yesterday afternoon to consult with the receivers regarding the securities which that ompany holds of the association here. He has an engagement this afternoon and it is more than probable that some understand-

NEW DEPOT FOR DALTON.

Railroad Commission Asked To Take Steps in the Matter by the Dalton People.

It is probable that Dalton will at last secure a new union passenger depot, a thing that has been long needed in that growing town.

The present structure would disgrace a country village and now that the people of Dalton are putting on metropolitan airs, they have asked the Georgia railroad commission for relief in the matter. growing town.

it is the policy of the commission, however, to settle all such questions, where it is practicable, outside of the commission. Correspondence has been opened with the heads of the two railroads passing through Dalton, and Colonel Thomas, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and Colonel Thompson, of the Southern, have both nel Thompson, of the Southern, have both intimated that they will take the matter under consideration and build the depot without the intervention of the authorities. The people of Dalton have been working at the matter for some time, but the railroad companies have pleaded hard times and poor business and the people have waited for matters to look up a little. The new structure will probably be built waited for matters to look up a little.

The new structure will probably be built after modern designs and will give the Daltonians a better showing when they desire to travel over either of the two

DEATH OF MRS. DODSON.

one of Hapeville's Oldest Resid

Passed Away Yesterday. Mrs. Amanda Dodson died at her home n Hapeville yesterday at 1 o'clock. She was one of the oldest residents of Hapeville and a host of friends will mourn her death.

She was a consistent member of the Methodist church and always took great interest in church work.
Mrs. Dodson went as far as a woman was allowed to go in Masonry, and until the time of her death was an energetic member of this order.
She will be buried tomorrow at 3 o'clock at Elam capatery.

She will be buried tomorrow at 3 o'clock at Elam cemetery, out at Hapeville. The latest novelty is a folding coffin, which permits the corpse to be raised to a sitting position, so that it may be thus viewed by the mourners.

MARRY HER

gins Has Consented to a Marriage Ceremony.

WARRANT WILL BE WITHDRAWN

He Had Rather Become a Bridegroom Than Risk Wearing the Stripes.

WEDDING OCCURS THIS AFTERNOON

Young Man Says He Will Make Reparation for His Alleged Wrong Rather Than Face a Humiliating Court Trial.

The charge of seduction upon which young Eugene Oxford has been arrested will be withdrawn this afternoon in the event the young man carries out his promise to marry his victim.

An arrangement was perfected this morning, and the ceremony is announced for this afternoon at the home of the young girl, 321 Fair street.

Oxford was arrested last Saturday, as told exclusively in The Evening Constitution. He was charged with having accomplished the ruin of Rosele Wiggins, a young girl with whom he was infatuated. The criminal warrant upon which Oxford was arrested was issued at the request of the girl's father, who became the prosecutor in the case.

The young man was tried in Justice Orr's ourt last Saturday and bound over to the eriminal court. At the trial the prosecution was represented by Attorneys Upshaw and Robinson, and Oxford was defended by Mr. George C. Glenn, of Glenn & Roun-

The statement of the young woman was given in detail at the justice trial. She stated that Oxford had frequently promised to marry her, and that she had every confidence in him, believing he would carry out his promises. It was on account of this deception, she says, that caused her

One Sabbath afternoon last fall she said Oxford called at her home on the pretense of carrying her to Sunday school. In stead of going to the mission she says he carried her for a walk and under the romise of marriage betrayed her.

Oxford made the statement denying tha e had ever promised to marry the girl. This afternoon Oxford will be released from jail and will make reparation by marriage.

BASEBALL AFTER ALL.

PRESIDENT MOYERS SAYS THE AT-LANTA CLUB WON'T DISBAND.

The Club Will Play Other Georgia and Northern Clubs and a Good Schedule Is Now Being Arranged.

Although the Southern League has gone

under the Atlanta club will stay together and there will be ball this season There are fully a dozen cities around Atlanta who have independent clubs an

Atlanta will play among these. "We want it distinctly understood that there will be no amateur ball in it," said

President Moyers. "There will not be a player but who has played professional ball on the Atlanta team."

on the Atlanta team."

President Moyers named over a few of the cities which have independent professional clubs and among them are Knoxville, Chattanooga, Columbus, Pensacola, Eufaula, Savannah, Charleston and many

we have promised Atlantians that we would give them baseball and we intend to do it. The ball they will get here will be just as good as would have ever been played in the Southeastern League and probably better.

probably better.
"There are several cities which have writ-"There are several cities which have written to me saying that they wanted a number of games with Atlanta. The clubs I have heard from so far say that they have professional players and that they will give a good exhibition of ball."

Atlanta's team will arrive here in the next few days and then they will begin their practicing. Sheridan is now writing to the different clubs who want to play professional ball making dates.

There will be ten games with the National Leegue teams. The schedule for these have been arranged and they will be played.

played.

This will give the ball cranks an opportunity to see, anyway, the further prospects of the season. President Moyers says there will be ball, there must be ball.

MORE WORK FOR PAYNE.

Talk of Changing the Plan of Turn ing Over Money Collected by the Marshal.

It is quite likely that a move will inaugurated at once to have all the money which goes to the marshal's office turned into the tax collector's hands. Heret the tax payer has gone to the marshal's office to pay his indebtedness, and the

In the near future this system may be changed and Tax Collector Payne will have another burden of gold and silver laid upon

seem to mind the prospects of an avalanch of ourrency that will be dumped upon him

Anhouser-Busch Brewing Ass's.

PERRY HELD. A BILLION

The Latter Lying Dangerously Wounded at Decatur and Is Not Expected To Survive.

Sums Named for Fortifications and River and Harbor Improvements.

the

SAYERS HAS SOMETHING TO SAY

Fifty-Fourth Congress Reaches

Mark in the Number of Dollars

It Has Appropriated.

CANNON MAKES EXPLANATION

Appropriations To Be Wrong and Objects to Senatorial Courtesies Being Shown So Much-Naval and Federal Large Items.

Washington March 9.-The congression al record today contains a statemen made by the chairman of the house committee on appropriations, Mr. Joseph G Gannon, of Illinois, relative to the appropriations made by the fifty-fourth congress. Mr. Gannon's statement is in part as follows:

follows:
"The total appropriations for the two ses sions of this congress aggragate $1,043,437,-013. The appropriations of the fifty-third congress, which was democratic in both branches, with a democratic executive, amounted, according to the official tables to $989,239,205. To this sum, however, should be added $4,400,000 on account of interest ed sinking fund charges for bonds issued by the democratic administration which were not included in the estimates of permanent appropriations submitted to congress and stated in the tables; which brings the sum total of appropriations for all oblects by the fifty-third congress up or 3993,639,205, or $49,797,812 less than the appropriations, including the deficience made by the present congress.

In explanation of this apparent excess of appropriations by the fifty-fourth congress over those of the fifty-third congress t should be stated that the fifty-fourth congress made increases over its immediate redecessor on account of fortifications in the sum of $12,563,467; on account of river and harbor works, including contracts therefor, in the sum of $2,476,506; on account of the construction of public buildngs, none of which were authorized by the ffty-fourth congress, in the sum of $2,343, 394 for the postal service in the sum of 11,454,35; for the naval establishment in the sum of $8,947,523, and on account et permanent appropriations, mainly to meet interest and sinking fund charges for the leaving power, $24,983,744; or a total of

CANNON EXPLAINS

Mr. Cannon admits that the appropria tions exceed the legitimate demands of the public service, but this results, he says, from conditions growing out of the rules of the house, the so-called courtesy of the senate and the excessive estimates submitted to congress. The record shows that in no instance during many years pas have the appropriations made by congress measured up to the full amounts re ended and asked for by the adminis tration.

Mr. Cannon condemns the practice of the senate in recent years of amending appropriation bills, notably the general deficiency bill, by incorporating provisions to pa claims of every kind and character outstanding against the government-claims that have no status in many cases other than perfunctory reports from committees mere findings of the court of claims, and recommendations and requests from bureau officers and other officials of the govern-

"The remedy for this evil," he says, "in the establishment of a tribunal of final jurisdiction whither these claims may be sent for fuller intelligent consideration." He joins Mr. Dockery in condemning the present arrangement of dividing the appropriation bills among a number of com mittees.

Mr. Sayers, of Texas, another membe of the committee on appropriations, also makes public under a leave to print, his views respecting the appropriations for the fifty-fourth congress. He says: CONTRACT SYSTEM.

believe in the continuing contract system, as applied to river and harbon improvements and other necessary public works, but not to the extent to which i has been entered upon by this congress. In the river and harbor act, passed at the last session under suspension of the rules, without the opportunity of discussion or mendment, thirty-seven works were authorized to be placed under contracts, in volving a total expenditure of $59,616,404.

"After critical examination of these contracts authorized by the committee on propriations at this session it was devel that one of these works authorize to be prosecuted under contract for $1,000, 000, was so absolutely destitute of merithat the war department had refused to take any steps whatever looking toward the prosecution of the work.

"In another case authority was given to enter into contract for an impor work on the Atlantic coast to the extent of more than $4,500,000, for whose prosecu tion a proposal has been made and ac ed involving less than one-half that sum. timated cost of which authority to enter into contracts for their completion was cient by about 33 per cent in each case.

"These illustrations prove that the practice of authorizing contracts for publi orks should not only be carefully con-dered in the light of the condition of the ury, but only after the fullest inves ation as to the real merits of and the resulty for the improvements contem-ted and only on the most carefully pre-

COST OF THE NAVY. "One of the causes for the enormous rowth in appropriations of late years has een the increase of our navy. Since that ook was inaugurated in 1882, seventy-seven ships of all classes have been constructed.

LANIER ALIVE

HIS ASSAILANT STILL IN JAIL

He Expresses No Regret for Having Attempted To Kill the Man Who He Says Wronged Him.

WOMEN REHIND ALL THE TROUBLE

No Steps Will Be Taken To Prosecute Perry Until It Is Seen What the Result of Lanier's Wounds Will Be. Lanter Makes Another Statement This Morning.

The life of N. B. Lanler, the man shot through the lungs by H. S. Perry, at Decatur yesterday, told of fully in The Evening Constitution yesterday, still hangs in the balance

Those who have been watching aroun his bedside say that his breathing is difficult, and that it looks only a question of time when the strength he now has will

Perry, who fired the fatal shot, is still kept in the DeKalb county jail. He is extremely cool and does not seem to realize the position in which his rash act has placed him.

"What I did, I did with great forethought and with a perfectly cool head. When the circumstances in the case are known I will not only be exonerated, but the public will say I did what any man who cares anything for his honor would have done." This was all that Perry would say concerning his act.

LANIER'S STATEMENT TODAY. In a statement made this morning to one of the friends of his, Lanier told of the circumstances and the trouble.

"Perry and his wife parted some time ago," said the wounded man, between gasps, "They finally agreed to again live ogether as man and wife.

"The cause of their quitting at first was ecause Perry paid too much attention to other women. This was more than Mrs. Perry would stand, and the only agreement of her ever again living with him was that he was to be her husband and pay attention to no one else.

to watch him, and if I saw him paying any attention to other women to let her know. Perry was a fast man and went with wo men of questionable reputation. I saw this and told Mrs. Perry about it.

"After they made up Mrs. Perry asked me

"She got after her husband about it, and when he learned that I was the one who told Mrs. Perry of his actions he sent me letter telling me to leave Atlanta.

"I did so, as I did not want to get into difficulty. I never knew that Perry was anywhere in the neighborhood when I saw him on the train."

PERRY'S SIDE OF THE CASE. to give out for his action is that on Friday night Lanier attempted an assault on his wife. Perry himself won't say a word about this. Nothing will be done further in the case until Lanier either recovers or dies. As scon as the wounded man is strong enough, if he lives, there will be a preliminary trial and Perry will have to answer to the charge of assault with intent to murder If Lanier dies, then murder will be the

ase booked against him. FREUNDSCHAFTBUND SOCIETY

The Annual Masquerade Ball Will B Given Tonight-The City Council Invited.

The Freundschaftbund Society in this city will give their annual masquerade ball as The affair promises to be a great success. There will be a lively crowd present, among hem some of the fastisious members of the eneral council, as this honorable body has peen sent special invitations. A committee composed of John Hoffman, chairman, Charles E. Fauss, secre tary; H. Menville, George Rapp, T. Oes-gher, Chris Moninger, H. Bush, have charge of the affairs and they promise a delight-ful evening to all who attend.

rised officers and men in the navy keep them all in commission. The cost of their daily maintenance alone is a severe draft upon our diminished revenues. Some of the most expensive of these great ship are already classed by naval experts as ob solete. It would have been wiser if we had needed the advice urged by many in the beginning in the construction of our new navy to confine appropriations within lines simply sufficient to keep pace with the progress of modern naval architecture.

"The appropriations made for the sup-port of the federal government have grown to such startling proportions within the last dozen years as to render it wellnigh impossible to devise means of raising revimpossible to devise means of raising revenues wherewith to meet the expenditures. If the new administration just about to cross the threshold of power carries out its pledges by giving to the country a protective tariff, it will utterly fail to produce the means of meeting expenditures, if they are to be maintained on the existing high plane, unless, per-elventure, the protective tariff measure should be supplemented with a tax on coffee and tea, and perhaps other taxes of an equally operous nature."

STRIKERS VICTORIOUS

In Two Contentions in the West Employers Finally Submit to Their Terms.

THE AGREEMENTS ARE SIGNED

Plasterers and Laborers Who Struck in Chicago Returning Again to Work.

SHIP BUILDERS' TROUBLE IS OVER

The Owners and Men of the Globe Company in Cleveland Meet with the State Board of Arbitration and a Settlement Is Made Which the Strikers Consider To Be a Victory for Them.

Chicago, March 9.-Of the 1,200 union plasterers and laborers who struck Saturday and Monday 250 have returned to work, the contractors for whom they were working having signed the union scale of wages, which is operative until May 1st.

Contractors who employed 250 more of the strikers signify their intention of signing the agreement as soon as it is presented to them and most of them did attach their signatures at union headquarters during the day and evening and the men will be at work on the buildings again this morn-

The prospects are that 250 more of th strikers will be in a position Wednesday night to return to work by their employ ers signing the agreement within that time, which would make a total of 750 men whose bosses have refused or intend to refuse to abide the resolution of th central building league to reduce the wages

The quick return of such a large portion of the men to work signifies the collaps of the movement to reduce wages, and the union scale of wages for men employed in the building trades, which terminates May ist, will probably be renewed without any serious labor disturbances.

THE MEN WIN IN THE STRIKE

The Ship Yard Owners Agree To Snomtt to the Demands of the Men.

Cleveland, O., March 9 .- The 800 employes of the Globe Shipbuilding Company, who have been out on a strike for several weeks, met yesterday with Manager Newman, of the company, and Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, and after a lengthy conference the trouble was settled and most of the men will return to work this morning. The company agrees to recognize the union and to use its influence to induce the non-union men now employed in the yards to join the union. Double time will be paid for work done Sundays and holidays and time and a half will be paid Saturday.

POLICE FORGE ELECTION. THE OLIVE BRANCH CREATES SOM POLITICAL SUSPICIONS.

me Think It Will Result in a New Successor to Chief Conolly-Will Doubtless Do Away with a Majority Caucus.

Now that the new police board has bee duly organized those who are interested n the inside workings of the department will have their attention turned to the election which takes place the last of this nonth, when ane ntire police force will be selected, from chief down to hostler This election occurs once every two years. Of course the all paramount question is: Who will be chief?

So far there is no candidate announ against the present incumbent, Arthur B. against the present incumbent, Arthur B. Connolly. As stated in yesterday's Evening Constitution the rather sudden oilve branch move in the police board may have some bearing on the election of the force. One of the commissioners was asked:

"Will the harmonious and unantmous election of Captain English as chairman of the board have any effect on the selection of a chief?"

of a chief?"
His reply was rather suggestive. He said:
"What condition of affairs do you magine would make the lion and the lamb ite down together?"
"An agreement between the lion and the lamb which was satisfactory to both," he

"Then, if you wish to prognosticate, just work out your political problem on that hypothesis," he said as he winked his official eye.

WHAT IT MAY MEAN. WHAT IT MAY MEAN.

This may mean that this year the police department will be chosen by all the members of the board, and there will be no causus of a majority faction as there has been in the past. Many times a majority of the board has in a caucus picked out all the officers and men they wished, and when the election came off the minority sat quietly by and sucked their thumbs, while the majority put through their programms. But this year the dovd is fluttering around the commissioners' room and he is ound the commissioners' room and he is rehed upon an olive branch while he trbles a song of peace and good will. It is too early in the game to say nether or not this will effect the chief's whether or not this will effect the chief a election. There are those who think that a chelf might be cosen who will be more agreeable to certain members than Chief Connolly is reported to have been. Or it may only mean that the entire force is to be selected without prejudice and perfect harmony.

HICKS GIVEN A DIVORCE.

READY FOR CONVENTION

The International Meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Will Take Place at Mobile.

APRIL 21 TO 25 IS THE DATE

Many Prominent Speakers To Be Present and Will Deliver Addresses.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE

John R. Mott, Who Has Just Completed a Tour of the World Among the Colleges, Will Deliver the Manter Address on a "World Wide Student Movement."

Mobile, Ala., March 9.—The commit have been appointed and preparations are being made for the adequate reception and entertainment of the international conven tion of the Young Men's Christian Association, which will meet here April 21st to o 25th inclusive.

Among the speakers who have already agreed to take part in the convention are the Right Rev. Bishop Sessums, of La iana, and Chancellor Kirkland, of bilt university, two of the leading orsouth; Pastor C. I. Scofield, of Northfield, Mass. Mr. Scofield is an ex-confederate officer and lawyer and one of the leading preachers and Bible stu-dents of the country. He will have charge of the Bible work of the convention. Mr. John R. Mott, the leading young man in Christian work in America today, who has just returned from a eighteen-n tour among the colleges of the world, will on a "world-wide student movem There will be other leading clergy and Three presidents of previous conventions and nine of the leading members of the international committee have already signified their intention to be present. The singing of the convention will be under the direction of John P. Hillis, who has been associated with Rev. B. Fay Mills as a gospel singer. Mobile, Ala., and the the convention.

her power, to do well her part and give her distinguished guests a genuine sout THREE BONDS STILL OUT.

south expect great things from this con vention. Mobile intends as far as it fles in Jefferson and Laurens Counties Are Still Behind and Have Not Yet Been Heard From.

The bonds of all the tax collectors and tax receivers have been accounted for except those of the tax receiver of Laurens and the tax collector of Jefferson

Captain Wright is still in Florida, where he was called by the illness of his wife, who is at Tampa, and nothing will probably be done until his return.

The bonds of the tax officers of Upson were found in the office of the ord who died not long after he was re-e and before he had sent the bonds It is supposed that the tax officers of

and that the same fate befell them that overtook the bond of Tax Collector San-ford, of Floyd. ford, of Floyd.

At all events they have not turned up, and neither of the officers can begin the discharge of their duties under the law until the bonds are filed with the comptroller. In many instances there are irreg

In many instances there are irregularities in the bonds that must be corrected before they are filed. In a number of cases a bond has been received at the executive office, where the name of a citizen has been affixed with others following his signature and his name has been erased.

In such a case as that the bond is sent back as when a name is erased and other names follow, it is presumed that the others signed the bond under impression that that man was to be on the bond. Should trouble arise the other bondsmen would set up the claim that they were not liable for the reason that they were not liable for the reason that they were not liable for the reason that they only consented to go on the bond in case the original signer was on it.

All such bonds are sent back to have the error corrected. This is one among other reasons why the bonds are required to be field before an official begins to execute the duties of his office.

FEW PLACES LEFT.

Governor Johnston, of Alabama, Has Almost Completed His List. Montgomery, Ala., March & Special to The Evening Constitution.
Governor Johnston has almost completes the arduous task of making the executive

There are yet to be appointed three m inspectors, who must be practical miners and three state examiners of public ac-counts, who must be expert accountants.

SENT FREE TO MEN.

INDIANA MAN DISCOVERS A RE-MARKABLE REMEDY FOR LOST VIGOR.

Samples Will Be Sent Free to All Who Write For It.

found the exact remedy that cures the toble.

He is guarding the secret carefully, hu willing to send a sample of the medie to all. men who suffer with any form sexual weakness resulting from youth ignorance, premature loss of memory strength, weak back, varicoccie and emiation. The remedy has a peculiarity graful effect of warmth and seems to set rectity, giving needed strength and development wherever needed. The remedy cum. Johnston completely of all the lilast troubles that come from years of mis of the naturally ordained functions and said to be absolutely reliable in every careful to be absolutely reliable in every careful to Mr. James P. Johnston Completely of the promptly would like a sample of his remedy for mell be complied with promptly and charge whatever will be asked by him is very much interested in spreading news of this great remedy and he is call to send the sample securely said in perfectly plain package, so that its

James P. Johnston, of Ft. Wayne, Ind-after battling for years against the menta and physical suffering of iost mentaneod has found the exact remedy that cures the trou

00 WHAT IT COSTS 00

BY THE WEEK. d to residences - - - 10 cent BY THE YEAR.

By Mail, postage prepaid - - - $4.00

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS!

Where The Evening Constitution is delivered by arriers collections will be made by them my year. WHER. Where The Evening Constitution is de-vared by mail, cash in advance is required; at the te of $4.00 peryear, $2.00 for six menths, $1.00 for

> PERSONS Leaving the city for a week or longer can have THE EVENING CONSTITU-Don't fail to do it. It will be as good

Nichols & Holliday, Constitution Building, Adver-

ATLANTA, GA., March 9, 1897.

EVENING CONSTITUTION'S INAUGU-

RAL REPORT. On all sides The Evening Constitution ! ng complimented for its magnificent reort of the inaugural exercises on the 4th

Within five minutes after President Mc Kinley had taken the oath of office the first edition of The Evening Constitution s on the street, giving the people a detailed account of the exercises of the day and including every feature to and through the delivery of the inaugural address.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock ten bright new pages were on the street, and at 2:30 o'clock twelve-page Evening Constitutions ere falling on the doorsteps of the city of Atlanta like snowflakes in a winter

No evening newspaper published in the city of Atlanta ever had a more phenomenal run, or ever met an important news more promptly or more satis-

The Evening Constitution's inaugural reort was more elaborate than that of any southern evening newspaper, and of the evening exchanges which have hed us not one evening newspaper with or south contained a report which pared with it in completeness of de-The Southern Associated Press did exnt work in its report of every detailof the inauguration exercises, and both in its morning and evening reports it illusty of the United Press and its allied oranizations over any other press associa-

PEACE REIGNS AT WARSAW.

No more gratifying announcement could that the division which has long existed in olice board is at an end, and that the wo factions, headed respectively by Captain W. H. Brotherton and Captain J. W. English, have come together.

This factional alignment in the police pard has entered almost every phase of nicipal politics for the past ten years. contention growing out of it has done city no good, and the announcement that the feud is at an end gives cause for

The Evening Constitution heartily congratulates both Messrs. English and therton for the manly course tney have ued. They are among Atlanta's most sentative citizens, being men of sterl-

he interests and the welfare of the city. Now let the example set by them be followed in every other department of the city government and the effect will be im-

The Evening Constitution Joins in the eral rejoicing and it is prepared to partake of the feast of the fatted celf.

WILL THIS BUILD A CITY? How shall we build up a great me

Will a tabernacle take the place of facsational evangelists take the of men of business and enterprise?

Will it benefit the town to close the post-fice on Sunday? If so, let us close the lepot and discontinue the Sunday pas-It should be remembered that people gregate here for business. They did n's Christian Association movement d revivals. These things are inclare not the main factors of a city's sts are needed, and, if they were

Il like Sam Jones, they would always b ne, but occasionally we have one o does more harm than good.

Kimballs, and just at present we need e Kimballs more than any other class. as Jones would never interfere with good city like Atlanta, but would ale ly good to up.

istration the ghost of a showing. They upon it in advance and condemn it a line of conduct which menaces our wel-fare we propose to sound the alarm fare we propose to sound the alarm promptly and fight them vigorously. But in the meantime, until something develops, fair play should be our watch Nothing could be more unjust than to condemn the new administration in vance, almost before it has finished kicking its heels at the inaugural ball.

AN INVITING OPENING.

Thousands of gentlemanly citizens in the south who are now out of a job should do a little serious thinking.

Perhaps they have not been in sympathy with the democratic party for a long time. Perhaps they have favored the policy

Possibly they have quietly given aid and comfort to the republicans in the last cam-If they find themselves in this situation they should prepare their credentials and apply for federal offices under the new We may look out for many surprises

NOT A SOUTH HATER.

Fortunately we now have a republica president who is not a south hater. Mr. McKinley is interested in economic questions, but he has never uttered a word which indicated any ill feeling toward the

He wants no force bill-no measure directed against one section for the benefit

He has no prejudice against southerners and ex-confederates. He is an American

m The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Jones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution.

and cares very little about sectional lines This should be said of him as a matter of simple justice.

m

An Evangelist

of the People

About twenty years ago, when I was or Georgia railroad train, one day, a new sensation was pointed out to me. He was a stout, dark-faced, black-eyed man who was returning from Salem camp ground, where he had preached for the first

"That is the Rev. Sam Jones." said passenger. "He is a new preacher from up the country, and he waked up the camp meeting. You never heard anything like

My curiosity was excited, and I asked for particulars. I heard just enough to interest me in the new man, and since then I have heard him many times. Jones is Jones, and will never be anything else. Abuse and praise alike are thrown away upon him. He started out on his own peculiar line. and has followed it ever since. Adversity never switched him off, and prosperity has never made him waver. He has been under the hottest and severest fires, but he has never lost his good humor. He sometimes ridicules his opponents, but he is not a hater of any class of

I verily believe that Sam Jones loves everybody and lies awake nights studying their welfare. He is no lover of the rich. The poor are always in his thoughts. Ask orphans, and the answer will be a reve-

Sam Jones fires broadsides into society. made to the people of Atlanta than but the men and women who compose society know that the evangelist is really their truest friend. He would lay down | Madison called a special session of conhis life for them, if it would do any good. He does not stick to the methods of the orthodox preachers, but it must be ad-mitted that garbled newspaper reports greatly misrepresent him.

As a matter of fact, he has a clear Anglo-Saxon style, and more than one doctor of divinity who had been prejudiced against him by newspaper reports has admitted, after hearing him, that there was nothing objectionable in his utterances.

I have studied Sam Jones now for some twenty years. He is an earnest Christian grown rich out of his work. Money cannot stown rich out of his work. Money cannot stay in his pockets. So long as there are widows and orphans and deserving poor people in his balliwick, Jones will always be hard-up.

He is a wonderful man!

He has the humor and charity of Lincoln the eloquence of Prentiss and the sharp, epigrammatic repartee of Corwin. Altogether, he represents the best and brightest types of the south and south-

Not long ago he attacked the principle upon which our public school system is

He struck at the root of the evil by arraigning paternalism. He showed how ridiculous and unjust it is to tax Bill Jones for the education of Tom Brown's boy, and suggested that it would be just as reasonable to make Jones provide the facilities and the motive power for spanking

the Brown kid.

This is on the right line, and in a few years, when the people of Georgia find themselves wrestling with the problems of compulsory education and free textbooks, they will agree with the evangelist.

But Sam Jones sometimes uses words and chrases offensive to polite ears. Suppose he does! He wants to take the Suppose he does! He wants to take the "nigh cuts," and reach the people, and he

He has never spoken or written a line that can injure the cause of religion and morals, and many of his sermons are as methodical in thought and as chaste in diction as the finest discourse of our famous city preachers.

Sam Jones is no longer an experiment! He has been tested and tried, and among the results are stronger churches, happy among the poor, and hundreds of good citizens who met him in time and turned aside

I am not surprised to hear that the tabernacle is crowded again. It will be packed while Jones is on deck, and it

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND THEIR IDIOSYNCRACIES

With Side Comments on Mileage, Extra Sessions and Other Things of Great Interest To All Statesmen Just at the Present Time.

Washington, March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution.

There have been twelve special session of congress called by the president of the United States. The first was the session called by John Alams in 1797 because of the threatened war with France, and the last was called by Grover Cleveland in 1893 for the consideration of the silver question. It is rather singular, consider ing the fact that the constitution does not call for the meeting of a new congress until more than a year after the election of called sessions. There are two principal reasons why the president of the United States has hesitated about calling congress together. That unfortunate phrase which President Cleveland used in a letter a year or two ago-when he spoke of "having congress on my hands"-has much inoffensive truth in it. When congress is not in session very few members of congress are in Washington and the push and struggle for office, which have been the night mare of every president, are much diminished. It would take a very serious reason to induce any president to call a special session of congress directly after his in-that such an emergency exists. The second reason is the expense of the extra session, for while the congressman of today receives his pay whether congress is in session or not, he does not receive mileage and stationery allowance and many other perquisites of office when congress is not in session, and there is a small army of clerks employed only during the session whose salaries stop when congress adjourns and begin again when congress reconvenes. Therefore the session of congress is expensive and unless there is much to be gained by issuing call for a special session the president usually waits until the time named in the constitution for congress to assemble.

auguration. President McKinley thinks

The first extra session, as I have said, vas called in 1797 by President John Adams to take action in the matter of the pending difficulties with France, France had discriminated seriously against American commerce, and a commission was sen to the court of France to see what could be done to bring about a peaceable settlement of the matter. Talleyrand secretly offered to have the objectionable decree rescinded if a sum of money was paid to him, but this proposition was rejected summarily and congress appropriated money for a navy while the president called Wash ington to the head of the army. Napoleon's reign began at about this time and the first consul made a treaty with the United States, which was satisfactory and which settled the question of the threa ened war. Six years later congress was called together to ratify the purchase of Louisiana from France by President Jefferson. The senate approved the act and both houses voted bonds for the payment of the $15,-000,000, which was the purchase price. In this purchase were included nearly all of what now constitutes the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minneso'a Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

Four years later Jefferson called another special session of congress to take action on the attitude of France and England toward our commerce. As a result of this neeting exportation was forbidden, but this law was repealed two years later as it was hurting American interests much more than those of other countries. President gress in July, 1811, to consider the war with Great Britain which was then threatening. No decisive action was taken at this special session, but war was declared at the regular session of congress in the year 1812. A year later, the army having become somewhat demoralized by defeats along the Canadian border, Madison called another special session for the purpose of having it reorganized. There was no other called session until 1837, when Van Buren summoned congress to face a financial crisis-the suspension of specie payments all over the country. A result of this special session was the establishment of the sub-treasury system now in force and the issue of $10,600,000 of treasury notes. The panic was not much relieved though and when President Harrison was inaugurated he called another Tyler, was left to negotiate. Presiden Tyler and congress did not get along at all well together. Congress passed two bills to establish a national bank, both of which were vetoed by the president. Congress also repealed the sub-treasury act which was re-enacted later by another congress. The trouble between Tyler and and in the disintegration of the whig party for a time.

session called by President Pierce in 1856, as well as that called by President Lincoln cause the army appropriation bill had failed. The house had tacked on it a pro-vision that none of the army should be employed to enforce the acts of the Kanas legislature. The senate refused to accept the bill in this form and when the special session was held the senate had its way. This session lasted only eleven days-a much shorter time than can be

The special session of 1861 was called when war had begun. Congress was needed to increase the regular army, to vote appropriations for the war and to prepar tariff which should furnish the revenu needed for the extraordinary condition five weeks, making these provisions, (e-claring a blockade of the southern ports ishment for it and so on. This was the first extra session called for the purpose

romotion, etc. These could not be recinciled in conference before March 4th. The army was much needed in 1877 in connection with the great strikes and riots, and there would have been no army if President Hayes had not called a special ses-sion, unless someone had been found patriotic enough to advance the money reeded to sustain the force of officers and envanced the money needed to carry the army establishment for a very brief space An extra session was rendered necessary in 1879 by the failure of another appropria-tion bill—the sundry civil bill. This was defeated for passage in the senate because the house had put on it several "riders" to prohibit the use of troops at the polis. In the special session both house and senate were democratic and they passed bills containing the objectionable "riders" which the president promptly vetoed. Eventually barrassed appropriation bill, which the president signed.

There was some question about calling

mmm The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Jones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution. ----

an extra session of the fifty-first congres at the beginning of President Harrison's administration. None was called then and none was held from 1879 to 1895, when President Cleveland, in view of the financiai crisis which had caused so much suffering all over the country called con gress together to repeal the Sherman law for the purchase of silver. That was the twelfth session called by a president. The one to be held this month will be the thir

Several times of recent years special sessions have been threatened. Mr. Mc-Kinley expreseed in private conversation four years ago the opinion that President Cleveland should call congress together to redeem the promises of the democratic party to reform the tariff. He said that if the president delayed he would have trouble getting congress to do what he wanted. This proved to be the case, and the tariff oill which was passed by congress finally was very little to the liking of Mr. Cleveland. Mr. McKinley, by taking the tariff bull by the horns, immedi ately has a much better chance of making it do as he likes. I see in some recently published para graphs the statement that the senators, who met in special session Thursday of this week, are very much perturbed because they will not receive mileage or other allowances during the called session. They are not a bit perturbed in fact. The law gives mileage and statienery allow ances for the regular session of congress only; but the senators and members fou years ago, when Mr. Cleveland called special session, voted mileage and stationary allowance to themselves for that session, and drew it, too. I have not heard that any member of the fifty-third congress was conscientious enough to turn his allowance back into the treasury or to refuse to draw it. The truth is that the senators and rep sentatives in congress get all they can out of the government, directly or indirectly, Senator Peffer, of Kansas, goes away from Washington a comparatively well-to-do man, because he not only saved good part of his $5,000 a year and allow ances, but he had three members of his family on the pay roll during the greater part of his six years in the senate. One of them was his wife. Senator Reagan, of Texas, now one of the railroad commissioners of his state, L believe, was the first senator to brave public criticism by appointing his wife private secretary at hauling the dirty linen of congressm about the country for nothing, it was $125 a year each for postage or stationers than to contribute the franking privilege So the "stationery" allowance was made Now the franking privilege has been restored. Members of the senate and house can frank their official letters as they did furnished to them free of charge. And still they draw $125 a year for stationery. Some of this money is paid out for subscriptions to magazines and newspapers for them, and some of it goes to the purchase of stationery and fancy goods for their wives and children; but most of it is drawn in cash.

You know the salaries of our senators and representatives are just $4,000 more than the salaries of the members of the Canadian parliament, which meets at Otthan the members of the British parlia ment receive. They are not large enough ury; but they are enough to live on, even in Washington, where rents are higher and supplies cost more than they do anywhere else in the country. The stationer; and mileage allowance was voted to ator to the congressmen for the loss of the franking privilege. When that privilege was being discussed in the house it was said that the postage of some members on official business alone would amount to $100 or more a year.

In the same way the mileage allowance is abused. This allowance was made first at a time when travel was slow and expensive, and when members of congress received pay according to their services. Until 1856, with a brief intermission when the members had salaries of $1,500 each, the pay of a congressman was $3 a day when congress was in session. In those days the 10 cents a mile from the congressman's home hardly covered his expenses in coming to Washington. In these days the congressman usually travels on a pass. Sometimes he makes no bones of this and sometimes he is ashamed. Traveling on the Baitimore and Ohlo not long ago, I met a senator and sat talking with him when the conductor came around for tickets. The senator took something from

Constitutional Amendments.

MARY'S GROWN UP LAMB. Mary had a billie goat
With whiskers on his chin,
And when he got his dander up

That goat could butt like sin. He followed her to church one day And walking down the sisle Assumed an air of gravity That made the people smile.

The sexton tried to drive him out He chewed his cud right vici And both his eyes flashed fire.

That to the sexten sounded like The trumpet call of fate. And then the congregation rose, No time had they to lose, For billie kept the racket up

He stood upon his hinder legs And fetched a mighty bleat

And then he took a header and The sexton would have fled. And stood him on his head.

The sexton called him evil name In language harsh, and when He used some epithet profane The parson cried "Amen!"

THE SCHOOLBOOK BURDEN There never was, in my mind, a more outrageous monopoly than the present ok extortion. A man with two or three children is often unable to take advantage of the free tuition offered by the public schools right here in Atlanta because he cannot afford the enormous drain upon his resources twice a year for books. They will not allow a child to enter the schools unless it is armed and equipped with all the high priced textbooks that are provided by the school authorities, and every time a child advances from one grade to anothe it is a fresh outly of books.

Twice a year the poor man with a small salary is confronted with the problem of purchasing books for his children. There are eight grades and the pupil must have new style of grammar, geography, reader, arithmetic and dictionary, with numer ous other books, for every grade. There i no let up to it. Instead of providing som sort of a book on one topic that would take the child through at least two grades i must have a complete assortment for each grade, although the step from one grade to another is very small indeed. It looks some times as if the school authorities have simply allowed themselves to be duped by

Why, with all their shortcomings, the country schools are not so burdensome as these. I have recently gone through with the middle of the term I have tried to selittle of the expense, as I know these books would be of no use after the present term. have managed, by close driving, to get he books at about 50 per cent less than the published price, and some of the books that I bought were as good as new. That indicates somewhat the extertionate prices charged by the publishers.

But what do you suppose those booksellers made on the second-hand books that they sold me? From 100 to 500 per cent. I had an experience of that sort when I went to move away from here two years ago. I had just bought a lot of books in the fall. Many of them were scarcely soiled. I think that the book dealers alme about 1 for $10 worth of books. Of course they soid them out to others at an average of 50 per cent and made a big profit. That is business on their part, but it all goes to show how the people are fleeced in being forced to load themselves down with books, term after term for twelve long weary years until at last

On my various lists were two books that I asked for, but the man with whom I was dealing was generous enough to tell me that he did not have them in stock and he did get them as they were not being used this term. I heaved a sigh of relief for I felt that I had saved a few hard earned pennies through his kindness. I tell you there is reform needed in that line a little worse than in anything that I know of connected with our school system. An ordinary child ought to be able to mester the contents of those books in half the time required in our schools. Half the number of books ought to be requisite for all the knowledge that is gained from this vast array of authorities. way. It is true, I never had $5 worth of schoolbooks in my life, and I may not be able to appreciate the value of those textbooks fully, but I do know that there is extravagance somewhere. Of course so long as the educational authorities permit it the publishers will so on mul tiplying textbooks. It is their business to make all the money out of it that they can, but if the movement that has been set on foot by Governor Atkinson and Commissee, there will be a mighty revolution in the way of textbooks in Georgia in the next day that he was at work on a plan which he had not fully matured that would enawith books at a stated price per told me that in some cities the books were supplied at the uniform rate of from 50 to 5 cents per pupil. The amount fixed is there is no further charge for books during that term. Just think what a relief that would be to the poor man who wants to to buy $15 or $20 worth of books at the beginning of every term.

As matters now stand the tax is too heavy to be borne. Everything else is cheap—food, clothing and all the necessaries of life. Wages have been cut down and the profit is less on goods. And still the enormous expenditure for textbooks re-mains at the same outrageous figure. There is something wrong at the bottom of the matters should investigate and and out wherein the trouble lies. So long as they will submit to it just so long will their op-pressors continue to levy this tax upon them and it is time that it was stopped.

THE SUMMERHILL SCHOOL THE OLDEST NEGRO SCHOOL

SUMMERHILL SCHOOL

have not been passed over lightly in this opinion of one who both by his position and experience cannot but be considered

Major Slaton says in speaking of this work that he had no doubt that the education of the negro as persisted in by the board of education in the city, was not only doing its recipients good but was elevating the whole race. A noticeable improvement has been seen by him in the manners of the race as the work of the school became effective among them and the benefit that the community is leriving is really very large. Such an opinion as this by one who knows and speaks carefully of what he knows is a beginning to this article.

The course pursued in the Summer Hill school is precisely the same as that pursued by the schools for white children It has the full eight grades and the studies in each are identical with those pursued in the same grade in the white schools. Certainly in no way are the negroes at a disadvantage considered with the white children. The Summer Hill schoolhouse is a good substantial one and the latter part of it to be built is as fine as one could well wish for. There is a certain spirit among the negroes that is most commendable. They will sacrifice anything to give their children an education and fewer negro children probably are kept from school on account of being unable to buy books than there are white children deprived of an education.

It is also a well-known fact that the at tendance of negroes, in proportion to the number of them in the city, is larger than the whites. One of the examples of this course of education is the present principal of Summer Hill school, C. W. Hill.

pal and a good teacher. His governing o his pupils and his administration of the school would compare well with any school standard wherever found. The education of the teachers of the negro school in the city is not a difficult question, for no less than four colleges are

He has proved to be an excellent princi-at their command wherein they can obtain the knowledge necessary to fit them for The principal of this school, however, had

About the question of the education of the negro will always be a certain interest. Its advisability, its scope, its limits are very real questions and ones that certainly it has proved for the demands of the At-His education is more than sufficient if lanta board of education, but a great share of his success is due probably to his natural ability and his adaptability to the teach > school, Georgia Druglar, who is assistant principal; V. E. Dozier, in charge of the seventh grade, and the others, naming them down from the sixth to the second, M. L. Sykes, Cora B. Finley, H. M. Jones, Alice A. Anthony and Rosa Garner and N. O. Bentley, the teacher of the first grade.

> Among these is a devotion to their school visible, an earnest interest in their work and an intelligent knowledge of its ques tions and perplexities. An evenness in working, a carefulness in detail and general effective in work that is productive of it could not help but be of good results. These teachers preside over and educate 632 children and the order and discipline is everything that could be expected.

As students the pupils of this school are found to be diligent and earnest and by no means dull. This is speaking of them, of course, as a general rule. In the ordinary studies they are quick to learn and some of the best penmanship that is turned in to tion is done by students in these schools. In certain studies they do fall slightly behind others, but in the general average they are not deficient or behind the grand average of the other schools. The Summer Hill school was organized in 1872 and is with a few others the oldest institution of the kind in town. Today, like all the other negro schools, it is very much overcrowded and again with one or two others has the largest attendance of any

The daily average attendance of the scholars is also very good. Probably the factor in their lives than it is in those of others and the incentives for regular atendance are great, but the fact remains that they do attend and profit by the instruction given by the school; and in time the community is the gainer by it. In fact the Summer Hill school, judging it by the ordinary standards, is found to be school attended and well taught and one that is doing much benefit to those who are its echolars and those who come in contact with these scholars.

In short it is, to say it very simply-s good school.

HEARD ATTHE F (A)OTELS

Mr. Herman Justi, chief of the depart Tennessee Centennial and International exposition, spent the day in Atlanta yesterday as a guest of the Aragon hotel. Until his appointment to the position which he now holds, Mr. Justi was connected with one of the largest banks in Nashville. He is a man of, thorough business training, widely acquainted, and is doing great good for the big exposition which opens in Nashville in a few weeks. Mr. Justi speaks in glorious terms of the Centennial and says that it will be the grandest show of the kind ever held in the southern states. He expects some fine exhibits from Georgia, expects some fine exhibits from Georgia and many visitors from this state.

Mr. Arthur Lewis, manager of the Geor gla Cayvan Company, is a guest of the Kimball house. Mr. Lewis is one of the which he visits. During his short stay with the company here he has been thrown in contact with several of his old friends, and he has many new ones.

Mr. Lewis says that Miss Cayvan has met with a wonderfuly successful season, and that the prospects for the future are exceedingly brilliant.

Mr. A. W. Schenck, general manager of the Falls Branch Jellico Coal Company, was at the Kimball yesterday. Mr. Schenck is represented in Atlanta and came here for the purpose of placing some spring orders. He was very successful and goes away with several large orders. The mines of which Mr. Schenck is at the head are numbered among the largest in Tennessee.

ment existing between himself and Miss Lucy Keen, of Oglethorpe, and the wedding will be celebrated some time during the

Messrs. Rollo O. Heikes, of Dayton, and

The gentlemen are delighted with the south and speak in the highest terms of their warm reception from the people of

Mr. Frank B. Fogg, of Nashville, is at the Kimball today. Mr. Fogg is a prominent resident of Tennessee's capital city. Hon, Fleming G. duBignon, of Savan nah, reached the city last night and will remain here for several days on business.

Mr. Thomas H. Rea, of Chattanooga, is at the Kimball house today. Mrs. A. Goodrich, and other members of the party of Chicago tourists who were in Atlanta yesterday morning. left last night for Florida. After the return of Baby Goodrich the party took a drive over the city and spent the day quite pleasantly

Hon. John Temple Graves is taking a brief rest from his labors on the lecture platform. Mr. Graves is one of the eloquent lecturers in America and his

KIND PRIENDS

AT THE SAM JONES MEETING LAST NIGHT IN THE TABERNACLE.

THE CHURCH AND WOMAN

Sam Jones Preached This Morning on the Holy Spirits in Relation to Woman.

THREE THOUSAND WERE THERE

Said. Can Talk, and Was Meant To Do

a Part of the Procession Like Army Girl-He Doesn't Believe in Division and Strife, but in Unity. Some Rich Humor and Solid Facts, spirit in its relation to woman's work in the church. He said that woman's work was always done, except when som eman stepped in and objected, and then they retired. They had their work to do. The old ship of Zion was a side wheel steamer and she would turn about in the river i wheels turn and we will all take a bee line for the millenium shore.

Sam Jones "touched them up" this morning at the tabernacle in his own artistic style. About 3,000 people were present, mostly women.

"I expect," he said, "to see some mem ber of the Georgia legislature pass an act entitled an act to amend the Acts of the Apostles, just to get things their way.

There was no discounting the fact that a woman could talk, and God Almighty would never have given her that power and then told her to keep her mouth shut. I like to see a woman talk, but she ought not to make too many jestures and jump

"These theological 'cemeteries' have regular mould to put a fellow in. The select - big - texts. Uke .'Justificaon by Faith, 'Regeneration' and 'Sanctification.' You never see the preacher, because he is behind the text. I don't like to talk about what Calvin or Wesley used to say. I believe in progressive theology and old time religion. In Calvin's time they used to have an idea that just so many people were predestined to be saved and that it was all fixed before the wolrd was made. I would not read a vinegar almanae with such stuff in it.

"All God wants men to do is what is right, and all the devil wants them to do is what is wrong. God will take you to heaven and the devil will take you to hell, That is all there is in this question. I am a Methodist, just like I am a Jones. It was born in me. I believe Adam was a Methodist, for the first thing he did was to

"Let's leave all and just follow the word of God. If you follow a pope, or a bishop or a D. D. you may go wrong, but you won't go wrong if you follow the Bible. "The only difference between the Chris-tian religion and other kinds of erligion is that it has introduced the supernatural.

"Atlanta can get to be a unit on every thing except religion. The devil likes nothing better than a split among Christians You can't even get the preachers of Atlanta together. If you ask them all to preach against card playing they won't do it. Some of them will say: 'We will get the grand jury after them.' Well, a preacher ought to save his congregation from the penitentiary if he does not save "If you have no religious method of your own, take somebody else's. If I was a dog and never jumped a rabbit in my life and I saw a bench-legged doe after a rabbit I would help him to catch it."

Mr. Jones told how he had preached with and without the divine spirit. All preachers had had this experience.

ers had had this experience "W ecan never preach right," he said,

He gave a beautiful history of the conversion of Jerry McAuley, and his wife, who at one time were the worst of out-casts in New York. McAuley almost en-circled the civilized world.

If God could do so much with such sinners, what could he do in Atlanta if the people prayed for an outpouring of the Holy Ghost. Those good men could clean up the town

He said he was a sort of Salvation Army man. He told an incident in which a Salvation Army girl was put in prison in Du-Buque for singing on the streets, "I'll Follow Jesus Anywhere, Everywhere." In a cell for thirty days she sang and prayed with the other prisoners.

"People ask me sometimes why I use slang. My slang is sorter like the tambou rine the Salvation Army girls use. It's a part of the procession, and it works. He concluded his discourse with the declaration that Atlanta was never more ripe

After the sermon a large number of peofor a grand revival. He had been in the banks, in the stores and in the workshops, and it was in the air.

ple went up to be prayed for. MISSIONARY RALLY TONIGHT

Christian Workers Will Meet at the Second Baptist Church To Discuss Missionary Work.

The mission workers of the city and all numbers of the central committee will meet this evening at the Second Baptist church and discuss the work in that field.

The rally is one of great importance and everybody who can lend a helping hand has been invited to be present. All the city churches and missionary societies of the city will be represented and many visitors from towns throughout the state will be present.

The meeting tonight is of more than usual importance and several announce-ments may be made and some new ideas for the work in the state will be suggested.

PROTECTS LOCAL AGENTS.

Montgomery, Ala., March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. The legislature which adjourned last-

SAM JONES'S DEEP SERMON

The Noted Evangelist Spike Seriously Last Night and Without His Usual Sarcasm.

SERMON WAS AN ABLE ONE, TOO

He Paid Tribute to the Atlanta Press, and After the Sermon Hundreds Flocked to the Altar.

HIS ADVICE TO THE ATLANTA 400

"Religion Is Love, Love Is Loyalty, Loyalty Is a Constant and Never Ending Obedience to the Will of God"-A Great Crowd Attended the

If anybody went to hear Sam Jones last night for the purpose of just laughing at his jokes, he must have found himself strangely out of place. Those who have heard the evangelist often have said that he can preach as serious and as deep a sermon, when he wishes to, as any minister of the gospel living. And that's what he did last evening.

As Mr. Jones himself expressed it, the gathering at the tabernacle last night was the "largest ever seen in Atlanta on Monday, a day of the week when the people do rot turn out. The large build-

PUT SOMETHING IN THE HAT When the Collection Is Taken Up.

If you are too poor, put in a lock of your hair, and if you are bald-headed, spit in SAM JONES.

ing was filled when the services began WHAT SAM JONES DID. Mr. Jones did three things which marked his meeting:

First, he preached a fine sermon, make a resolve to lead better lives. Third, he paid a glowing tribute to the

Atlanta press. Of course it would not have been San Jones if he had not injected some spice into the meeting, and before as peran his alscourse he disbursed some of his characteristic humor. The collection was his sublect for a few good jokes. He said:

"Now, brethren, there is that ubiquitous inevitable collection. It looks as if you are going to pay the money for fixing this building in broken doses. You are going to play the homeopathic racket on the collection. There is a man out there who is going to put a penny in, and he has his whole family with him. You hound, you, if you went to heaven the first thing you'd do would be to dig up the streets to get the gold. (Laughter.) There is a 'possum-headed rascal out there who won't give a cent and he pays a quarter to get in the peanut gallery at the theater. Put something in the box. If you are poor and haven't any money, put in a lock of your hair. If you are bald-headed, spit in the hat." (Great Laughter.)

Before the sermon was preached the choir rendered many fine sellections and Professor Excell sang as a solo the beautiful hymn, "Are you ready for the judg-

MR. JONES'S SERMON. Mr. Jones selected as his text, "This is faithful saying and worthy of all accep-

I WISH TO COMPLIMENT THE EVENING CONSTITUTION

on its most excellent reports of these meetings. The paper is doing a good and most excellent work, which is appreciated. Sam Jones.

tation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am not or had been a sinner. The best man I ever saw was imperfect, and the worst man I ever saw had some good traits that showed he had a noble heart. Between the best man and the worst are all humanity. It is not a safe plan for any one to say that he is a better man than some other person. It is fruitless and does not lift you up or elevate you. Every one must give an account of himself to God. It is a wholesome thing for a man to get down to bedrock facts about his own life. Let him take his bearings to see whether he is leading a life that tends heavenward or hellward. Every person in the great congregation should feel as if there were only present the preacher himself and God. Reall purely personal things.

"This is what every man and woman should say, "Who am I what am I and what is my relation to this world tonight?" "No man will ever get to be good unless he first wakes up to the fact that he is very bad. Some people say, 'I never drink I never curse, I never lie, and I put that down as No. 1 right away. (Cries of Amen.) No man in the scriptures ever said anything good about himself. There was the rich man, who claimed to have kept all the commands from youth up, and yet Christ saw at once that his heart was eaten with greed and avarice, just as the drunkard's blood is burned up with the fiery whisky." The evangelist told of an incident Bishop Pierce's life, when he collected a dellar from a man for the Bible fund and then asked him what he was going to do for his soul. He was told to go out in the wood and complain to God about how he was neglected and then recite all his many good deeds; after that to get down and pray ust as his heart dictated. The advice was followed and the man came and sold he had tried the experiment and found that he could not complain, and he aidn't know a good thing to tell about. The man and his whole family were converted.

HE APPEALS TO THE FOUR HUNDRED Mr. Jones said he had a word to say to the four hundred of Atlanta,

After advising some of the self righteous to go home and test the experiment of trying to flutter about their rooms with a pair of wings, he said that people were always coming to him and asking him to 'clean up so and so."

"Let me say a word to the four hundred of Atlanta," said he, "I know that among them there are some of the noblest hearts that ever beat in a human breast. They are always ready to heed the cry of the suffering and destitute. The young girls who whirl about in the dance are willing to watch far into the night beside those who are sick. We are not here to upbraid their noble hearts to God. Christ forbid that the preachers should seek to arraign class against class and sinners agains

He said it was not hard to save the libsinners debauched in crime, but it was those who believe they are good, who hard to reach with the power of the Holy Spirit. There are some people who think they will go straight to heaven because they didn't burn down a church or knock a preacher in the head. It is like a neigh-

son. You dirty dog, you'd be in hell right now if you should drop dead. An old lady asked me to go for her old man and clean him up. Why bless your life, the old gal Just then an old man who had been crying out "amen" all during the discourse, once more said it, and his wife by his sid gave him a most suggestive nudge. ON A COMPROMISE.

"The churches," said Mr. Jones, "are filled up with fellows who came in on a sort of compromise. They just thought they would join if God would rather have it so. The way to feel is that you are a hell deserving sinner and would be in hell this minute if it wasn't for the grace of

He gave the testimony of his old mother and father and his grandfather, who died when he had reached the age of ninetytwo years, to prove to himself that the saying mentioned in the text was a faithful one. He related a story about a Chattanooga brewer who went out of the whisky business to serve God and drifted into utmost poverty. In his distress he was offered a place with a brewery at $200 a month, and he refused, saying he would go down to his death rather than go back on the vows he had made to his God. He has now been aided by church people and is preaching the gospel and saving sonls. Mr. Jones closed his services by asking all who wished to be prayed for to come forward and take his hand. During the singing of a hymn hundreds came up and expressed a desire to live better lives.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS. Just before the close the evangelist said wished to thank the press of Atlanta for the noble work it was doing to help make the revival a success. "Next to the pulpit," he said, "the press can do the greatest good for the kingdom of God in this world. May the blessings of God rest upon the newspapers of the city and on all the editors and reporters personally."

THE ATLANTA PRESS IS DOING A GREAT WORK

for this revival. Next to the pulpit the Press has the greatest Power for good in this world. May God bless the newspaper men of Atlanta. SAM JONES.

STUART IN AFTERNOON.

E PREACHED TO A LARGE CROWL AT THE TABERNACLE.

Mr. Stuart Selected as His Subject the "Power of the Holy Spirit," and mon from the Text.

Crew

Calhe

Fair :

Marie

Boys'

Boys'

More than one hundred people came forward yesterday afternoon and taking Rev George Stuart by the hand said to him with

"I am away from God; pray for me." There were the old and the young, men and women. One man, old in years, came with his wife by his side and they were ooth sobbing as the husband said in a "My wife here has been praying for me am away from my God." Mr. Stuart preached the sermon yesterday afternoon, Mr. Jones not being present. He selected as his subject the "Power of the Holy Spirit." He said this power underlies all the successful work of the Christian church. If the Christian religion van not supernatural it was not anything Christians are powerless without the Holy Spirit. The incident of the Savior restor ing the blind man's sight was given as an illustration of the power of the spirit, as no man could use the same carth and the same pool and perform the same wonderful results. "We may have theology," exclaimed the speaker, "we may have systems and learning and science, but without the power of Almighty God this poor world will go Mr. Stuart said he had seen the power of the Holy Spirit and he believed it would be manifest in Atlanta before the leviwal

It was only the power of God that could was over.

It was only the power of God that could lift poor, suffering humanity above the sorrows and troubles of this earth. "I will send the comforter to you," said Christ, and He will do it.

In this part of his discourse Mr. Stuart related two or three incidents which moved his audience to tears. Men and women were weeping throughout the large congregation.

SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS. SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS.

He told of the poor woman unto whom a minister's wife had been kind. The minister's wife died and the poor old woman asked some one if it would be right for her to place some wild flowers on the casket which she had gone out in the woods to gather. "I had no money," she said, "to buy any fine flowers." She was told that the offering would be acceptable, rnd on the day of the funeral she slipped up to the casket and timidly laid the wild flowers on the foot of the coffin, while she whispered: "I give these to one who did so safety when rocked by the tempest, while the ships near the shore were wrecked upon the rocks. Those who go to the deep sea of God's love will weather the storms of life, while those who hug too close to the arth will go down.

The Holy Spirit, he said, would lead you, but always in keeping with His revealed word. A Christian man once shouted at a revival: "Glory be to God," and another; man sitting near by said: "I would give the whole world for such an experience."

whole world for such an experier And the first man replied: "That's what I have given for it."
"Lay down the world," exclaimed the speaker, "and the Holy Spirit will come

He closed by stating that you could not receive the Holy Spirit unless you let go the things of this earth and come with clean hands and pure hearts.

After the sermon he invited all those who wish to come to him and say "I am away from Gcd; pray for me," to come forward, and a great many responded to the invitation.

SELLING HYMN BOOKS.

There has been some criticism of the nanner of distributing the hymn books at are to be used during the cents each. He states that the amount will ter the revival is over.

There are many, it is contended, who are not able to purchase the books, and if they advance the money would not like to ask for its return. All hymns sung at the meetings are from the books sold by Professor Excell, and unless you have one of the books you cannot well join in the singing unless you happen to be familiar with the words of the hymns selected. The books are sold by ushers who pass around among the congregation. It has been suggested that the better way would be to raise a sum of money by a general collection, after the amount ex-pended on the building had been secured, and that this be used to buy several hun-dred copies of the hymn books for distridred copies of the hymn books for distribution in the congregation, the books being distributed and taken up regularly. In this way none of them would be lost. If some such plan was adopted it is suggested there would be more singing by the congregation, and there would be no discrimination against those who are not financially able to invest 35 cents for a copy of the hymn book.

THE VOTE TO DATE FOR MOST POPULAR SCHOOL

3,827 VOTES CAST YESTERDAY---TOTAL 44,155

Still No Change in the Position of the Leaders, Although the Voting Was Heavy and All the Schools Made a Perceptible Advance.

The combination was not broken yesterday, and the three schools, Crew Street, Calhoun Street and Walker Street, are all running about even at the head of the column, A total of 3,827 votes were cast yesterday, which makes a total to date of 44,155, but the ballots were so evenly distributed that they caused no very conspicuous change in the standing of the schools. Fair Street is still beoming and it looks as if something might be expected from that quarter before the contest ends, while Marietta has by no means given up the fight, The vote at midnight last night stood as follows:

THE VOTE TO DATE.

| Crew Street 9,775    | Boulevard 7       |
|----------------------|-------------------|
| Calhoun Street 8,867 | Davis Street 4    |
| Walker Street        | West End 3        |
| Fair Street          | Formwalt Street 3 |
| Marietta Street3,722 | Ira Street        |
| Boys' High2,723      |                   |
| Boys' Night          |                   |
| Williams Street 892  | Girls' High       |
|                      |                   |

FOR THE PRIZE BICYCLES.

The leaders on the boys' side of the bicycle contest have passed the 6,000 mark, and one of the girls has got beyond 4,000, with two others close behind and more within easy distance. There was a general forward movement all along the line on both sides during the day. The

| BOYS.              |                 |
|--------------------|-----------------|
| Walter Echols      | 6,528           |
| Edmond Riorden     | 6,125           |
| Walter B. Reeves   | 1,719           |
| Philip P. Bethea   | 943             |
| Arnold Kessell     |                 |
| J. Howard Davis    |                 |
| Alvin Belleisle    | Charles Hanning |
| Claude Baker       | 357             |
| Charlie Thomas     |                 |
| Ben Belagur        |                 |
| Judge Conley       | 267             |
| Frank Eskridge     | 228             |
| Perry Schermerhorn | 226             |
| Paul Williamson    | 311             |
| De Witt Tildon     |                 |
| Will R. Brown      | 150             |
| Edward Scott       | 143             |
| Berry Johnson      |                 |
| Sidney Evans:      |                 |
| Geo. T. Lewis, Jr  | 103             |
| William Pope       |                 |

William B. Atkinson.

|   | Ora Hilburn                                | 4,06                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|---|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|   | May Asbury                                 | .3,67                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|   | Maud Collins                               | 3,10                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|   | Carrie Baylor                              | . 1,78                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|   | Ethel Sampler                              | 71                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|   | Pearl Blasingame                           | 63                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|   | Clara Freeman                              | 60                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|   | Gertrude Alexander                         | 60                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|   | Derrelle Horsey                            | 432                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Daisy Harris                               | 268                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Cora Reynolds                              | 241                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | flyrtle Wood                               | 223                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Mattle Dickerson                           | 309                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Sadie Miller                               | 205                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Ruby Fulton                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|   | Norma Pritchard                            | 178                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Emma Tapler                                | 140                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Mamie Kessell                              | 138                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Selma Agricola                             | 134                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | lone Hanson                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| ĺ | Lillian Nichols                            | 117                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Carrie Boyce                               | 103                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|   | Susie S. Bone                              | 101                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| ĺ | Amelia Davis                               | . 67                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|   | (A) 10 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 | THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE |

ance laws of the state which are very much more important than would appear from the attention given them by the press of the state. In addition to the general laws regulating the business of insurance in all of its dealings, which was prepared by the underwriters of the state, two other laws were passed.

One of these laws was for the protection of the local agent. It made it unlawful for an insurance company to write business over the heads of its agents, and thereby deprive them of their commission.

Fashion's

PROFESSOR E. O. EXCELL.

Who Is Leading the Great Chorus at the Sam Jones Meeting.

Model Paper Patterns

They are guaranteed to be the most perfect in fit, and the latest and standard styles.

In order to make them widely known we will send any design post

Taylor's

are the best and most economical of all Paper Patterns.

It takes the men who have been the worst sinners to make the best workers in the Church of God. SAM JONES.

lived next door for ten years and never burned his dwelling or hit his children. "The sin which ruins souls in this world

AT THE SAM JONES MEETING LAST NIGHT IN THE TABERNACLE.

THE CHURCH AND WOMAN

Sam Jones Preached This Morning on the Holy Spirits in Relation to Woman.

THREE THOUSAND WERE THERE

Said, Can Talk, and Was Meant To Do

Army Girl-He Doesn't Believe in Division and Strife, but in Unity. Some Rich Humor and Solid Facts.

Sam Jones "touched them up" this morning at the tabernacle in his own artistic style. About 3,000 people were present. mostly women.

He spoke upon the power of the holy spirit in its relation to woman's work in the church. He said that woman's work was always done, except when som eman stepped in and objected, and then they retired. They had their work to do. The old ship of Zion was a side wheel steamer and she would turn about in the river if one of the wheels was locked. Let both wheels turn and we will all take a bee line for the millenium shore.

"I expect," he said, "to see some mem ber of the Georgia legislature pass an act entitled an act to amend the Acts of the Apostles, just to get things their way.

There was no discounting the fact that a woman could talk, and God Almighty would never have given her that power and then told her to keep her mouth shut. I like to see a woman talk, but she ought not to make too many jestures and jump

These theological 'cemeteries' have regular mould to put a fellow in. The students select big texts. Uke 'Justification by Falth, 'Regeneration' and 'Sanctification.'. You never see the preacher, because he is behind the text. I don't like to talk about what Calvin or Wesley used to say. I believe in progressive theology and old time religion. In Calvin's time they used to have an idea that just so many people were predestined to be saved and that it was all fixed before the wolrd was made. I would not read a vinegar almanae with such stuff in it.

"All God wants men to do is what is right, and all the devil wants them to do is what is wrong. God will take you to heaven and the devil will take you to hell, That is all there is in this question. I am a Methodist, just like I am a Jones. It was born in me. I believe Adam was a Methodist, for the first thing he did was to

"Let's leave all and just follow the wo of God. If you follow a pope, or a bishop or a D. D. you may go wrong, but you won't go wrong if you follow the Bible. "The only difference between the Christian religion and other kinds of erligion is that it has introduced the supernatural.

"Atlanta can get to be a unit on everything except religion. The devil likes nothing better than a split among Chris-You can't even get the preachers of Atlanta together. If you ask them all to it. Some of them will say: 'We will get the grand jury after them.' Well, a rom the penitentiary if he does not save them from hell.

your own, take somebody class. If I was a dog and never jumped a rabbit in my life and I saw a bench-legged noe after a rabbit I would help him to catch it."

Mr. Jones told how he had preached with and without the divine spirit. All preachers had had this experience.

"or live right, unless we have the baptism He gave a beautiful history of the conversion of Jerry McAuley, and his wife, who at one time were the worst of out-casts in New York. McAuley almost en-circled the civilized world.

If God could do so much with such sin-

ers, what could he do in Atlanta if the people prayed for an outpouring of the Holy Ghost. Those good men could clean He said he was a sort of Salvation Army man. He told an incident in which a Salvation Army girl was put in prison in Du-Buque for singing on the streets, "I'll Follow Jesus Anywhere, Everywhere." In a cell for thirty days she sang and prayed with the other prisoners.

"People ask me sometimes why I use

slang. My slang is sorter like the tambou rine the Salvation Army girls use. It's a part of the procession, and it works. He concluded his discourse with the declaration that Atlanta was never more ripe for a grand revival. He had been in the banks, in the stores and in the workshops, and it was in the air. After the sermon a large number of peo ple went up to be prayed for.

MISSIONARY RALLY TONIGHT

Christian Workers Will Meet at the Second Baptist Church To Discuss Missionary Work.

The mission workers of the city and all meet this evening at the Second Baptis church and discuss the work in that field.

The rally is one of great importance and everybody who can lend a helping hand has been invited to be present. All the city churches and missionary societies of the city will be represented and many visitors city will be represented and many visitors from towns throughout the state will be present.

The meeting tonight is of more than for the work in the state will be suggested.

PROTECTS LOCAL AGENTS

Montgomery, Ala. March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. The legislature which adjourned last

SAM JONES'S DEEP SERMON

The Noted Evangelist Spike Seriously Last Night and Without His Usual Sarcasm.

SERMON WAS AN ABLE ONE, TOO

He Paid Tribute to the Atlanta Press, and After the Sermon Hundreds Flocked to the Altar.

HIS ADVICE TO THE ATLANTA 400

"Religion Is Love, Love Is Loyalty, Loyalty Is a Constant and Never Ending Obedience to the Will of God"-A Great Crowd Attended the Meeting Last Night.

If anybody went to hear Sam Jones last night for the purpose of just laughing at his jokes, he must have found himself strangely out of place. Those who have heard the evangelist often have said that he can preach as serious and as deep a sermon, when he wishes to, as any minister of the gospel living. And that's what he did last evening.

As Mr. Jones himself expressed it, the gathering at the tabernacle last night was the "largest ever seen in Atlanta on Monday, a day of the week when the people do rot turn out. The large building was filled when the services began WHAT SAM JONES DID. Mr. Jones did three things which marked

PUT SOMETHING IN THE HAT When the Collection Is Taken Up.

If you are too poor, put in a lock of your hair, and if you are bald-headed, spit in the hat. SAM JONES.

First, he preached a fine sermon. make a resolve to lead better lives. Third, he paid a glowing tribute to the

Atlanta press. Of course it would not have been San Jones if he had not injected some spice into the meeting, and before as peran his alscourse he disbursed some of his characteristic humor. The collection was his sub-

lect for a few good lokes. He said: "Now, brethren, there is that ubiquitous, inevitable collection. It looks as if you are going to pay the money for fixing this building in broken doses. You are going to play the homeopathic racket on the collection. There is a man out there who his whole family with him. You hound, you, if you went to heaven the first thing you'd do would be to dig up the streets to get the gold. (Laughter.) There is a 'possum-headed rascal out there who won't in the peanut gallery at the theater. Put something in the box. If you are poor and haven't any money, put in a lock of your hair. If you are bald-headed, spit in the hat." (Great Laughter.)

Before the sermon was preached the choir rendered many fine sellections and Professor Excell sang as a solo the beautiful hymn, "Are you ready for the judg-

MR. JONES'S SERMON. Mr. Jones selected as his text, "This is faithful saying and worthy of all accep-

I WISH TO COMPLIMENT THE EVENING CONSTITUTION on its most excellent reports of these meetings. The paper is doing a good and most excellent work, which is appreciated. SAM JONES.

tation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am not or had been a sinner. The best man I ever saw was imperfect, and the worst man I ever saw had some good traits that showed he had a noble heart. Between the best man and the worst are all humanity. It is not a safe plan for any one to say that he is a better man than some other person. It is fruitless and does not lift you up or elevate you. Every one must give an account of himself to God. It is a wholesome thing for a man to get down to bedrock facts about his own life. Let him take his bearings to see whether he is leading a life that tends heavenward or hellward. Every person in the great congregation should feel as if there were only present the preacher himself and God. Religion, salvation and damnation were after all purely personal things.

"This is what every man and woman should say. Who am what am I and what is my relation to this world tonight?" "No man will ever get to be good unless he first wakes up to the fact that he is very bad. Some people say, 'I never drink I never curse, I never lie, and I put that down as No. 1 right away. (Cries of Amen.) No man in the scriptures ever said anything good about himself. There was the rich man, who claimed to have kept all the commands from youth up, and yet Christ saw at once that his heart was eaten with greed and avarice, just as the drunkard's blood is burned up with the fiery whisky." The evangelist told of an incident Bishop Pierce's life, when he collected a dollar from a man for the Bible fund and then asked him what he was going to d for his soul. He was told to go out in the wood and complain to God about how he was neglected and then recite all his many good deeds; after that to get down and pray just as his heart dictated. The advice was followed and the man came and sold he had tried the experiment and found that he could not complain, and he aidn't know a good thing to tell about. The man and his whole family were converted.

HE APPEALS TO THE FOUR HUNDRED Mr. Jones said he had a word to say to the four hundred of Atlanta,

After advising some of the self righteous to go home and test the experiment of trying to flutter about their rooms with a pair of wings, he said that people were always coming to him and asking him to "clean up so and so."

"Let me say a word to the four hundred of Atlanta," said he, "I know that among them there are some of the noblest hearts that ever best in a human breast. They are always ready to heed the cry of the suffering and destitute. The young girls who whirl about in the dance are willing to watch far into the night beside those who are sick. We are not here to upbraid them; we are here to ask them to give their noble hearts to God. Christ forbid that the preachers should seek to arraign

He said it was not hard to save the lib ertine, the drunkard, the thief and the sinners debauched in crime, but it was hard to reach with the power of the Holy Spirit. There are some people who think they will go straight to heaven because didn't burn down a church or knock

It takes the men who have been the worst sinners to make the best workers in the Church of God. SAM JONES.

son. You dirty dog, you'd be in hell right now if you should drop dead. An old lady asked me to go for her old man and clean him up. Why bless your life, the old gal is the one who needs cleaning up herself." give a cent and he pays a quarter to get | Just then an old man who had been crying out "amen" all during the discourse, once more said it, and his wife by his side gave him a most suggestive nudge. ON A COMPROMISE.

"The churches." said Mr. Jones, "are filled up with fellows who came in on sort of compromise. They just thought they would join if God would rather have it so. The way to feel is that you are a hell deserving sinner and would be in hell this minute if it wasn't for the grace of

He gave the testimony of his old mother and father and his grandfather, who died when he had reached the age of ninetytwo years, to prove to himself that the saying mentioned in the text was a faithful one. He related a story about a Chattanooga brewer who went out of the whisky business to serve God and drifted into utmost poverty. In his distress he was offered a place with a brewery at $200 a month, and he refused, saying he would so down to his death rather than go back on the vows he had made to his God. He has now been aided by church people and is preaching the gospel and saving sonls.

Mr. Jones closed his services by asking all who wished to be prayed for to come forward and take his hand. During the singing of a hymn hundreds came up and expressed a desire to live better lives.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS. Just before the close the evangelist said he wished to thank the press of Atlanta for the noble work it was doing to help make the revival a success. "Next to the pulpit," he said, "the press can do the greatest good for the kingdom of God in this world. May the blessings of God rest upon the newspapers of the city and on all the editors and reporters personally.

THE ATLANTA PRESS IS DOING A GREAT WORK

for this revival. Next to the pulpit the Press has the greatest Power for good in this world. May God bless the newspaper men of Atlanta. SAM JONES.

STUART IN AFTERNOON.

E PREACHED TO A LARGE CROWD AT THE TABERNACLE. Mr. Stuart Selected as His Subject the "Power of the Holy Spirit," and He Delivered a Strong mon from the Text.

Cres

Call More than one hundred people came forvard yesterday afternoon and taking Rev George Stuart by the hand said to him with eyes filled with tears:

"I am away from God; pray for me." There were the old and the young, men and women. One man, old in years, came both sobbing as the husband said in choking voice:

"My wife here has been praying for me. am away from my God." Mr. Stuart preached the sermon yesterday afternoon, Mr. Jones not being present. He selected as his subject the "Power of the Holy Spirit." He said this power underlies all the successful work of the Christian church. If the Christian religion vas not supernatural it was not anything Christians are powerless without the Holy Spirit. The incident of the Savior restoring the blind man's sight was given as an illustration of the power of the spirit, as no man could use the same carth and the same pool and perform the same wonderful results. "We may have theology," exclaimed the speaker, "we may have systems and learnapearer, we may have systems and earling and science, but without the power of Almighty God this poor world will go groping in darkness and blindness:"

Mr. Stuart said he had seen the power of the Holy Spirit and he besieved it would be manifest in Atlanta before the terminate of the service of the servi

It was only the power of God that could It was only the power of God that could lift poor, suffering humanity above the sorrows and troubles of this earth. "I will send the comforter to you," said Christ, and He will do it.

In this part of his discourse Mr. Stuart related two or three incidents which moved his audience to tears. Men and women were weeping throughout the large congregation.

SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS

SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS.

SOME PATHETIC INCIDENTS.

He told of the poor woman unto whom a minister's wife had been kind. The minister's wife died and the poor old woman asked some one if it would be right for her to place some wild flowers on the casket which she had gone out in the woods to gather. "I had no money," she said, "to buy any fine flowers." She was told that the offering would be acceptable, and on the day of the funeral she clipped up to the casket and timidly laid the wild flowers on the foot of the coffin, while she whispered: "I give these to one who did so much for me."

He told the incident of a lady in Nashville, who was told that she must leave her family and go to a distant city to submit to a surgical operation, which was exceedingly dafferous. She called upon Mr. Stuart shd said: "I cannot leave my poor little children." He prayed with her and she arose frem her knees and said: "It is God's will, and I will submit." She kissed her little ones goodby and it was forever, for she died under the surgeon's knife. With her last breath she whispered: "Thy will, and not mine be done." In that hour of fearful trial she was sustained by the Mole. Solit.

safety when rocked by the tempest, while the ships near the shore were wrecked upon the rocks. Those who go to the deep sea the rocks. Those who go to the deep sea of God's love will weather the storms of life, while those who hug too close to the earth will go down.

The Holy Spirit, he said, would lead you, but always in keeping with His revealed word. A Christian man once shouted at a revival: "Glory be to God," and another man sitting near by said: "I would give the whole world for such an experience." And the first man replied: "That's what I.

And the first man replied: "That's what I have given for it."
"Lay down the world," exclaimed the speaker, "and the Holy Spirit will come

He closed by stating that you could not receive the Holy Spirit unless you let go the things of this earth and come with clean hands and pure hearts.

After the sermon he invited all those who wish to come to him and say "I am away from Gcd; pray for me," to come forward, and a great many responded to the invita-

SELLING HYMN BOOKS.

There has been some criticism of the manner of distributing the hymn books at the revival going on in the tabernacle.

are to be used during the meeting, for 35 cents each. He states that the amount will ter the revival is over.

There are many, it is contended, who are not able to purchase the books, and if they advance the money would not like to ask for its return. the books sold by Professor Excell, and unless you have one of the books you cannot well join in the singing unless you happen to be familiar with the words of the hymns selected. The books are sold by ushers who pass

around among the congregation.

It has been suggested that the better way would be to raise a sum of money by way would be to raise a sum of money by a general collection, after the amount expended on the building had been secured, and that this be used to buy several hundred copies of the hymn books for distribution in the congregation, the books being distributed and taken up regularly. In this way none of them would be lost.

If some such plan was adopted it is suggested there would be more singing by the congregation, and there would be no discrimination against those who are not financially able to invest 55 cents for a copy of the hymn book.

THE VOTE TO DATE FOR MOST POPULAR SCHOOL

3,827 VOTES CAST YESTERDAY---TOTAL 44,155

Still No Change in the Position of the Leaders, Although the Voting Was Heavy and All the Schools Made a Perceptible Advance.

The combination was not broken yesterday, and the three schools, Crew Street, Calhoun Street and Walker Street, are all running about even at the head of the column, A total of 3,827 votes were cast yesterday, which makes a total to date of 44,155, but the ballots were so evenly distributed that they caused no very conspicuous change in the standing of the schools. Fair Street is still booming and it looks as if something might be expected from that quarter before the contest ends. while Marietta has by no means given up the fight.

The vote at midnight last night stood as follows:

THE VOTE TO DATE.

| Crew Street 9,775    | Boulevard 76       |
|----------------------|--------------------|
| Calhoun Street 8,867 | Davis Street 42    |
| Walker Street        | West End 37        |
| Fair Street          | Formwalt Street 37 |
| Marietta Street3,722 | Ira Street34       |
| Boys' High2,723      |                    |
| Boys' Night 2,149    |                    |
| Williams Street 892  |                    |
| EOD THE DOL          | E DIOVOLEO         |

FOR THE PRIZE BICYCLES.

The leaders on the boys' side of the bicycle contest have passed the 6,000 mark, and one of the girls has got beyond 4,000, with two others close behind and more within easy distance. There was a general forward movement all along the line on both sides during the day. The

| ote stands:          |                        |
|----------------------|------------------------|
| BOYS,                | [ · GIRLS.             |
| Valter Echols6,528   | Ora Hilburn4,06        |
| dmond Riorden        | May Asbury3,67         |
| Valter B. Reeves     | Maud Collins 3,10      |
| hilip P. Bethea943   | Carrie Baylor          |
| rnold Kessell478     | Ethel Sampler71        |
| Howard Davis         | Pearl Blasingame634    |
| lvin Belleisle361    | Clara Freeman600       |
| laude Baker357       | Gertrude Alexander 603 |
| harlie Thomas317     | Derrelle Horsey433     |
| en Belagur269        | Daisy Harris 368       |
| idge Conley267       | Cora Reynolds241       |
|                      | flyrtle Wood223        |
| erry Schermerhorn236 | Mattle Dickerson209    |
| ul Williamson        | Sadie Miller 205       |
| Witt Tildon 161      | Ruby Fulton191         |
| III R. Brown159      | Norma Pritchard 178    |
| ward Scott143        | Emma Taoler 140        |
| rry Johnson135       | Mamie Kessell          |
| dney Evans127        | Selma Agricola134      |
| o. I. Lewis, Jr103   | lone Hanson133         |
| Illam Pope 96        | Lillian Nichols        |
|                      | Carrie Boyce           |
|                      | Susie S. Bone 101      |
| in House 69          | Amelia Davis           |

PROFESSOR E. O. EXCELL Who Is Leading the Great Chorus at the Sam Jones Meeting.

nce laws of the state which are very such more important than would appear rom the attention given them by the ress of the state. In addition to the general laws regulating the business of insurnce in all of its dealings, which was preared by the underwriters of the state, we other laws were passed.

One of these laws was for the protection of the local agent. It made it unlawful or an insurance company to write business over the heads of its agents, and hereby deprive them of their commission.

Fashion's Model Paper Patterns

They are guaranteed to be the most perfect in fit, and the latest and standard styles.

In order to make them widely known we will send any design post raid for

are the best and most economical of all Paper Patterns.

== POSITIONS SECURED FOR YOUNG PEOPLE ==

By the Southern • Shorthand • and • Business • University.

In "The Grand," Atlanta, Ga., and "The Haddington," Norfolk, Va. The Leading Business Training Schools of the Southern States. Over 6,000 Graduates in Lucrative Positions.

Special Inducements to those entering SPRING TERM NOW OPEN. during the Next Fifteen Days. . . . . . .

Our Graduates always secure positions. The demand for Bookkeepers and Stenographers is greater than the supply.

A SERIOUS SHOOTING AFFAIR

Quarrel Over a Woman Is the Cause of a Fight Which Nearly Cost a Life.

Richmond, Va., March 9.-A Danville, ville, in which Bruce T. Adams, a young married man, was shot three times by Wallace Riley. Both of the parties are

The two men met this morning, and as the result of a quarrel in which a woman is said to be concerned. Adams, it is alleged, thereupon drew a 38-caliber pistol and

One bullet entered the right breast and passed out under the arm, another passed through the left thigh, the third entered the left hand and the fourth punctured Adams's

THE WEATHER.

(KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE FROG.)

The high pressure area that was spread vesterday morning has movel eastward and is now passing off the coast, while its center has dropped south as far as the coast of Virginia. A second high is m.v-ing in from the extreme northwest, central now in the Dakotas. Between thes two highs is a trough of low barometer extending from Lake Michigan to Texas.

The pressure is longest at Chicago. The combined influence of these opposing forces is causing cloudy and unsettled weather over the entire country from the Rockies to the Atlantic, with rain falling, this r.orning at Marquette, Chicago, Kansas City, Nashville, Knoxville, Cinamiail, Washington and Buffalo. Rain has been reneral during the past twenty-four hours in the Mississippi valley and over the states east and north from Teauessee. The heaviest falls have occurred in Tennes and the central Ohio and Mississippi val-

The temperature has fallen in the Missouri valley and westward to the Rockies and in Florida. Elsewhere there has been a general rise, most marked in the Ohio

GENERAL WEATHER REPORT.

Daily report of the weather at selecte stations as shown by observations take at 8 a. m. March 9, 1897:

STATIONS.

New York, cloudy... Washington, raining. Norfolk, cloudy... Jacksonville, foggy...

Montgomery, cloudy. Vicksburg, cloudy. New Orleans, cloudy. Mobile, cloudy.

Temperature at 8 a. m. Highest temperature.

Riley is out under $200 bail.

made known.

attacked Riley, knocking him down. Riley fired four shots at Adams at close range.

white operatives of the Riverside mills.

Va., special to The Despatch says: A serious but not fatal shooting affray occurred early yesterday at the corner of Pickett and Henry streets. North Dan-

This University holds letters of high commendation from Governor W. Y. Atkinson, Ex-Governor W. J. Northen, Ex-Governor J. B. Gordon, Ex-Governor Jos. E. Brown, Ex-Governor A. H. Colquitt, Ex-Mayor Porter King, Ex-Mayor J. B. Goodwin, Ex-Mayor W. A. Hemphill, Ex-Mayor J. T. Glenn, and a large majority of the leading business men of Atlanta. HANDSOME CATALOGUE SENT FREE TO ANY ADDRESS.

$25.00 for a Business Course better than that given by any other College in the South. . . .

Enter Now! A Position Awaits You!

$25.00 for a Business Course better than that given by any other College in the South....

Employment is Plentiful, Laborers Few

FITZ STOCK

Corbett Men Are Willing Now To Accept Poorer Odds Than They First Held Out For.

TARAL NOW PLACES HIS MONEY

He Was Holding Out for 2 to 1, but Has Compromised on Odds of 10 to 8.

A QUIET TIP BEING TOLD ALOUD

Surely Win.

New York. March 9 .- Speculative sporting men are inclined to think that now is the best time for placing bets on the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight instead of waiting till a few days before the fight.

Only on two 'occasions that Fitzsimmon has appeared in the ring in this country has he been the favorite before the fight This was in his fight with Sharkey and is always sure to be in good shape when ever he fights, the sports fancy that the tables may turn this time, and that he will enter the ring on St. Patrick's day an odds-on favorite. At least this was the have remained under cover all along come Fred Taral, who had held out for 2 to 1 compromised at 10 to 8. He says he will wager $2,000 more on the champion at these odds. Jimmy Hayes also was willing to snap at several offers of even money on Corbett and invested several hundred with a local sport on Fitzsimmons and mays he is ready to speculate more at the Joe Harris authorized Jake Shipsey, the bookmaker, to back Fitzsimmons for him to the extent of $200. Harris declares that be got good odds.

There is a quiet tip going the rounds mons's friends say that if this true Bob will certainly win, as he likes this kind of fighting. During Corbett's mill with Mitchell it will be remembered that Jim lost his temper and the admirers of the Cornishman contend that if he does this again this time it will be all up with

PICTURES MAY NOT BE TAKEN

Attachment Issued Against the Kinetoscope May Prevent the Fight from Being Photographed.

New York, March 9 .- Three sets of pho tograph machines that were to be used to photograph the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight for the kinetoscope have been attached by two young white men, were are Patrolman Sheridan, on a war-arging them with assalut and bat-

WANTED IN MARIETTA.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR POOR GIRLS

Started Last Night.

MEANS MUCH GOOD TO THEM

Hemphill, Colonel Bray, Captain Hendrix, Major Slaton, Miss Hemphill and Others Attend the Opening Session of the New School.

Last night, at the Edgewood Avenue public school building, eleven bright-eyed little girls assembled to be enrolled as members of the new Girls' Night school. They were all timid, and anxiously looking around to see what they were going to do at their new school.

These girls came from the poor families

None of the wounds are dangerous. The merits of the controversy have not yet been of East Atlanta and are all working to help support their families. Some of them have never before attended a school, while others have been to school, but were compelled to stop and go to work and earn their livelihood.

To see these girls working all day unsat-isfied with the little knowledge they have picked up, and when the night comes, to attend this school with the hope of upbuilding themselves, certainly must touch a sympathetic chord in any human nature Last night a test of their knowledge was made in order that they might be classifled into four grades.

Mrs. Cola Spear, the principal of the new night school, said last night: "We are merely testing the applicants tonight in order that we may clasuity

"There will be four grades. We will have classes five nights out of the week, just as the regular schools have five days, and will hold from 7 to 9:30 o'clock every

TEACHERS HAVE VOLUNTEERED. Mrs. Spear is very enthusiastle over her new work. There are several teachers of the schools of this city, who have volunteered to assist in starting the school off. After this the pupils will flock to the

Mr. H. T. Inman has come to the front with $150 to start them off with, and Mis. Hemphill is furnishing the books which they shall begin with.

The pupils enrolled tast night are as fol-

Effie Whitley, Nellie Blunt, Ida Snider, Ada Sharpton, Belle Weaver, Gertrude Palmer, Ada Palmer, Ida Crouch, Ruby Wingfield and Ella Everett. Most of them work in the factories nea

Mrs Hemphill is very enthusiastic about the school, in fact, it was she who went before the board and asked for the adop tion of the school.

Many were present at the opening, among whom are: Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Colone Bray, of the board of education: Captain Hendrix, Major Slaton, Miss Lula Belle Hemphill, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Myrtic Smith and Mrs. Harris, who teaches in Ivy street school.

There are already seventy applications for seats in the new school, a great many being away on account of timidity. In a few days the school will be in good working order and will no doubt prove to be a grand success.

TURNERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Splendid Set of Men Are Put at the Helm of the Popular

Yesterday the regular yearly election of officers of the Atlanta Turn Verein Asso-

The association has enloyed a most properous year under the old administra were elected yesterday, it bids well to even surpass this record.

prominent German associations in the south and is doing a great work in the

The new officers are as follows:

Mr. George Rhuman, president; Mr. W. Dismer, secretary and treasurer; Mr. Chris Rauchenberg, vice president; Mr. H. Bleim, assistant secretary and treasurer; Messrs, Harry Minzo, chairman; C. J. Beiser and C. Lempke are on the executive committee. Entertainment committee—J. H. Caster, Regin and George

THE RAILROADS TAKE COGNIZANCE

Discrimination Existing.

OFFICERS WILL NOT ATTEND

Present-New Depot at Nashville. Dr. C. M. Drake Is Ill-Rumblings of the Rail.

The railroads have taken cognizance of the protest over a discrimination in freight rates which the wholesale men and manufacturers of Atlanta are sending up. They have read all the reports which the newspapers have published regarding the meeting which is to be held tomorrow afternoon to discuss the situation and will await the result of this meeting with great interest. A peculiar feature about the meeting is that the railroad officers have not been invited to attend. The call which has been issued includes only business men, and the local representatives of the freight department of the roads have not been given an invitation to attend and explain if they can the rates which apply to Atlanta.

The railroad men, nowever, believe that a committee will be appointed to wait upon them in an effort to adjust the matter and they will be prepared for the visit. They have prepared a list of tariff sheets showing the railroad rates which apply the tribute and other cities throughout the to Atlanta and other cities throughout the country, and by these sheets they hope to convince the shippers that there is no discrimination, but that the present rates are as low as can be put into effect.

The business men claim that the official classification to Atlanta and points south of the Ohio river is much higher than it is on the same shipments to points north of the river. railroad men admit that this may true, but at the same time they say if an investigation is made it will prove that the rates are evened up by the classification on other shipments which are different to on other shipments which points north of the river. The subject of freight rates is a very intricate one, and it will be several months before an adjustment can be made if one is secured at all.

NASHVILLE'S NEW DEPOT.

While Atlanta is agitating the question of a new depot the city of Nasnville is having one completed at a cost of $50,000.

Nashville has suffered for years from the want of a new passenger station, and with the Centennial staring that city in the face the rajiroad officials came to the conclusion that it would never do for the thousands of visitors who will be there this year to enter and depart from the city through the miserable station which has been used for the last decade. A protest went up from the citizens and as a result a new station or passenger shed is now nearing completion. The new station will be a great improvement and will add much

DR. DRAKE ILL. Dr. C. M. Drake, chief surgeon of the southern railway, is confined to his rooms tion and has not been able to leave hi room since that time. His condition is not serious and he hopes to be able to get to his office within a few days.

RAILROAD BUMBLINGS. Major C. H. Hudson, chief engineer of the Southern railway, accompanied by his secretary, Mr. W. E. Gaut, will reach Atlanta this afternoon from Washington. Ma-jor Hudeon is on one of his regular trips of inspection over the system.

Mr. J. A. Dodson, general roadmaster of the Southern, is spending the day in Atlan-a on a business trip.

James Burke, traveling freight agent of the Queen and Crescent route at Chatta-nooga, was in the city today. The celebrated injunction suit against the Seaboard Air-Line, Southern and other railroads, will come up before Judge Hughes, at Norfolk, tomorrow.

COLLECTOR SANFORD'S NEW BOND.

to permit Mr. T. V. Sanford to make a new bond as tax receiver of Floyd county, peace seems restored between the Capital and the

Mr. Sanford's first bond was for ab $110,000 and was signed by the Fidelity and Security Company of Baltimore. The first bond having been lost between

RIFLES' TRIP

Another of the Popular Institutions Preparing To Show There Is No | Popular Atlanta Company Will Go on a Pleasure Outing.

General Regret at His Retirement from the Service-Interesting Gossip Among the Soldier Boys of the State This Week,

The Atlanta Rifles, one of Atlanta's crack military companies, have on foot a great trip this summer.

The company will not be among those that go to the state encampment, and they are trying to arrange for a pleasure trip. The proposed trip has been frequently discussed by the members at their meetings, and it is now taking definite form. They will leave Atlanta in a special chartered train, carrying with them a number of their

Where they will go to has not yet been definitely decided. Virgmia Beach has been spoken of and received favorably among the boys. A committee will be ap-pointed at the next regular meeting to make deals with the railroads and ar-range for the transportation. The trip will occupy fully two weeks, and if the ideas of the Rifie boys are carried out there is a great time in store

SAM ASKEW RESIGNS. Sam Askew, first lieutenant of com pany K, state volunteer troops, has sent in his resignation.

Captain Massey, of the company, has had it in his hands for several days, but it has not been turned over to the colonel of the regiment.

Lieutenant Askew is one of the most resulted men in the state service. He has connected with the Georgia volunteer for a number of years, beginning as a private in the ranks of the Gate City

Guards. His promotion has been rapid. He has served with the Capital City Guards and was made lieutenant of company K.

LIEUTENANTS MAURY AND STOKES At the resignation of Lieutenant Askew, it was left with the members of company K who should be their successors. Second Lieutenant Maury was the unan-mous selection for the office of first lieu-tenant, and Sergeant Ttokes was accordingly promoted to succeed Maury. Company K express their regret at the resignation of Askew, as he has been with the company since it was first organi They passed resolutions of regret that will

ROME LIGHT GUARDS. There was a rousing meeting held by the Rome Light Guards a few nights ago, when the coming encampment was discussed. It was the unanimous sentiment that they would go to camp with the intention of behaving in an orderly and soldierly way.

This company has no first fleutenant a present. While this matter was not brough up at the meeting, it is known that Second Lieutenant A. S. Harper will receive

AT ALBANY. On the 23d of this month there will be held at Albany a big chautauqua. The Albany Guards have invited several of the companies throughout the state to be present on the 23d and take part in the cere-

ent on the 23d and take part in the ceremonies of the day.

The Guards will entertain all of the companies that come at their armory.

Among the companies that will go to Albany are the Columbus Guards and the Brown Fencibles. These are the two crack companies of Columbus, and they will cut quite a dash in the parade to be held at Albany.

There was a joint meeting of these two companies held in Columbus, and they decided to accept the invitation of the Albany Guards and attend the chautauqua.

ADJUTANT WRIGLEY.

Arthur Wrigley, of Macon, has been ap Adjutant Wrigley is one of the most popular men in the Second regiment and his premotion was gratefully received by his friends.

CLARKE RIFLES. The Clarke Rifles, at Athens, Ga., will among the companies that will go to the encampment at Griffin this year. This is one of the best equipped companies in the state and they will make a good showing on the parade ground at Griffin.

HEARD ACTING ADJUTANT.

Internal FOR SUMMER Disturbances

Are the source of nine-tenths of all bodily discomforts. No one is always free from the distressing conditions caused by the inability of the digestive organs to meet the demands made upon them. When you have headache, nausea, dizziness, bad breath or disagreeable taste in the mouth, one dose of unpleasant condition. It acts promptly and pleasantly, tones the stomach and restores the organs of digestion to a healthy state. IT MAKES LIFE WORTH LIVING.

lyner's Dyspepsia Remedy

50 Cents a Bottle of All Druggists.

HERE'S $10.00 FOR YOU!

Is in Gold and You Can Get It If You Are a Good Enough Guesser to Prophesy the Outcome of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

| - Street et la                    | ISTITUTION GUESSING MATCI |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------|
| ←                          | TZ OR JIM?                |
| 1. Who will get the decision?     |                           |
| 2. In what round?                 |                           |
| 3. Minutes and seconds of last ro | round?                    |
| 4. Remarks                        |                           |
|                                   |                           |
|                                   |                           |
|                                   |                           |
| Name                              |                           |
| Address                           |                           |
| ~~~~                              | ~~~~~~~                   |

ceived by midnight on March 15th, in order to be valid. Address the coupons to

> THE SPORTING EDITOR. EVENING CONSTITUTION. ATLANTA, GA.

College Park..

Atlanta's Most .. Cultured Suburb

O RAPID and substantial have been the improvements at College Park that the Atlanta and West Point Railroad has put on a schedule giving twenty trains daily between that place and the Union Depot. .. .. .. .. The price of lots has been reduced and people seeking desirable residence property can find hone more inviting than that at College Park. Splendid schools and colleges furnish every advantage for the proper education of boys and young women. Houses are constantly being erected and are always rented before completed. Not a vacant house at College Park! .. .. Any information desired can be obtained from .. ..

W. A. HEMPHILL, OR Constitution Office,

D. U. SLOAN, Agent, At College Park.

Pays for "ads" in the Want Column of

The Evening Constitution.

Lenten Luncheons.

Social entertainments are limited to small affairs during the Lenten season. The women who entertain and are entertained in turn are supposed to be busily engaged in various mortifications of the flesh and spirit prescribed under Lenten regulations. Whether this is true or not, the rest from crushes and formal functions. the rest from crushes and formal functions

Luncheons are the most popular forms of repaying social obligations at this sea-son, chafing dish luncheons are dainty affairs always.

dishes should be strictly Lenten. It is, however, allowable to serve broiled chicken and small game birds. These must not be placed on the table, but served from side table and only suggested by the stess. Wine at a Lenten luncheon is not to be thought of. Here are some Lenter

Always buy live lobsters. Get them home from market as soon as possible. As soon as they are in the kitchen put them in a kettle of cold water slightly saited. Stand the kettle over the fire and when the water has boiled fifteen minutes, if the lobsters are small they are done. If large, the lob-sters should boil twenty or twenty-five minutes after the water begins to boil. As soon as they are cool enough to handle without burning the hands, lay the lobsters on their beilies and with a heavy knife open the shells down the back and crack the claws with a mallet. A lobster should never be allowed to cool in a closed shell, as the gasses soon destroy its flavor. Open-ed immediately the flesh will be sweet and fresh for a couple of days, if kept in a very cold ice chamber. Kept in a closed shell more than twenty minutes after boiling, the meat of the lobster is unfit to eat. Oysters, like lobsters, are not good when dead. They should always be onesded and dead. They should always be opened and removed from their shells when alive. To ascertain if they are alive, as soon as opened, when one of the shells has been removed, touch the edge of the oyster gently, and it alive it will contract. A nice way to serve oysters raw is to serve them in the shell, and not on the half shell, as is the usual condition. Open the oysters, detach the upper shell and then loosen the oyster from the lower shell so it may be lifted freely with the oyster fork. Leave the oyster on the lower shells. Fill a deep plate with chipped ice, completely cover the low with fresh entire of pletely cover the ice with fresh sprigs of watercress and lay the lower shell containing the oyster lightly on the bed of watercress. Put four of these lower shells on each plate; then cover the oysters sneus on each plate; then cover the oysters with the upper shell. Put half of a small lemon, from which the seeds have been removed, in the center of each plate. In buying salmon always select the middle cut. It is the best. To boil salmon, arst tie it in a piece of cheese cloth. Put it in a kettle with enough cold water to cover! tle with enough cold water to cover it. Add two tablespoonfuls of Tarragon vine-gar and a teaspoonful of salt to each quart of water. Stand the kettle over a quick fire. As soon as the water begins to boil ace the kettle where the heat is more oderate, if you are cooking over a coal range. If, however, you are cooking by a gas range, turn the flame down to a moderate heat and let the fish boil gently

When the fish is cold lift it out of the when the fish is cold lift it out of the colorder, where it has drained, and lay it on a platter or plate and remove the skin from the top of the boiled fish. Take another platter and lay it over the fish. With both, hands hold the two plates together and turn them over quickly so the top one is at the bottom. This will place the sal-mon on the other plate, leaving the side up with the cloth on, so it and the skin on up with the cloth on, that side may be removed without breaking the fish. Now that the salmon is freed of cloth and skin, stand it in a very cold recion and skin, stand it will harden and be frigerator, where it will harden and be ready to serve. While the salmon is getting cold make your mayonnaise as follows: In the bottom of a soup plate put a half teaspoonful of dry English mustard. Add the yolk of a raw fresh egg and stir till well blended. Holding the fork in the right hand, take a bottle of good oil in the left hand and carefully begin dropping the oil, stirring it in with the mustard and yolk of egg with the fork in the right hand. When the ingredients become a stiff waxy paste add a few drops of Tarragon vinegar to the paste, stirring it all the time; this will thin it a little. Now take up the oil again and proceed as before dropping it in slowly and carefully till the paste is thick and waxy again. Then thir it with a few drops of vinegar. Repeat this process till you have made the amount of mayonmalse required and until it is a proper thickness. The yolk of one egg will easily take up a large bottle of oil.

In mixing a mayonnaise stir it without Interruption, and always in the same way describing a circle. If the room is very warm, stand the plate on a dish of chipped ice.

Next spread the mayonnaise dressing all over the salmon and decorate the top of it as artistically as possible with quarters of lemon, quarters of hard boiled eggs and pitted olives. Place the dish on the ta ble, and in serving put a leaf of lettuc over the salmon. The attractiveness of dish makes it all the more appetizing.

It is always better to buy the patty shells at a first-class baker's or restaurateur's, as the making of puff paste is an art very few are able to perfect them selves in. Get as many shells as you have covers laid at the table, and prepare the filling after the following directions:

Put into a deep saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter and place it on the stove.

Yus of butter and place it on the stove. When the butter begins to bubble add two heaping tablespoonfuls of flour and stir it through the butter till it is a thick paste. Add to this a half pint of the liquor from a quart of oysters and a pint of cream. Stir it well till it boils, then let it boil two minutes. Season it with self and white minutes. Season it with sait and white pepper and a pinch of powdered mace. Add a quart of small oysters which have been drained of all liquor. Let the sauce boil till the edges of the oysters curl. In the meantime place six patty shells in a hot oven on a plate. Leave the oven door partly oren. As soon as the oysters are cook-ed fill the shells with the mixture and serve

Short Stories.

From The New York Journal.

Some time ago a certain Peter Brossoit, of Belle River, Canada, distinguished himself by carrying off a large number of prizes for fancy work at a county fair.

Other French Canadian men have taken prizes for Berlin wool work, bead work, embroidered nillow shame, held Gosson.

tall that they are above their business. On the other hand, the accommodating men more frequently come up to the required standard of height. In future, candidates will be measured, not specially by their intellectual qualifications, but by their

So much has been written of the East Side of New York in connection with work in the slums that some persons who are not well acquainted with the city are under the impression that it is one vast tenement district. A well-known society lady who lives in an old family mansion on East Seventeenth street, met a g from a neighboring city. "Ah," se you were out on one of your errands of mercy this morning. I had a momentary glimpse of you while I was investigating the slums." "I had a momentary glimpse of you, too," was the reply. "I was just stepping out of my own house."

Parliamentary Law Drills

The Woman's Club has arranged for a series of lectures on parliamentary laws, by Dr. Morse. The first one was delivered this morning at 10:30 o'clock. This course is arranged by the civics section of the Woman's Club and, with the accompanying parliamentary drills, will be of great bene-fit to any woman who takes part in any sort of public meeting. It is often neces-

m The Brightest, Best and Fullest Reports of Sam Jones' Campaign Against the Devil Will Appear in The Evening Constitution. home

sary for a woman who does church or class work to conduct a committee meet-ing, and just as often the woman is utterly a loss and lacking in self-possession

All club women are urged to attend and those women outside the club who desire instruction may attend by paying an ad-mission fee of 25 cents, or by purchasing a season ticket for $1.50 for the twelve lec-

Girls' Night School.

Another night school for girls was or-ganized last night at the Edgewood ave-nue school. Out of the seventy pupils enrolled only eleven were present, but the others will come in if the measure of suc-cess to be attained by this school is like that of the others. Among those present who are particularly interested in this charitable enterprise was Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Miss Hemphill, Colonel Bray and Captain Hendrix, of the board of edu-cation; Miss Myrtice Scott, principal of one of the city schools; Mrs. Harris, teach-er of the first grade of Ivy street school. Mrs. Cole Speer will be principal of the new school and Miss Scott and Mrs. Harris have volunteered to teach in it free of charge if their services are needed.

Mrs. Hemphill has undertaken to furnish books for the school, and Mr. Hugh Inman will contribute the sum of $150 toward. The Marietta street night school for girls has been in operation three weeks and has an attendance of 120 pupils. Another night school for boys is conducted in the base-ment of the Boys' High school building, and has a large attendance. Professor W. A. Bass is principal.

The good work to be accomplished by these schools can hardly be estimated. They reach that class of young people who have no other educational advantages and who are compelled to work constantly.

With the Students.

In the March number of The Cornell Widow, a college paper, appears a clever sketch by Edward Dougherty, an Atlanta boy, who has taken many honors in that famous university, where only true meri-

University of Georgian, the magazine of the University of Georgia boys, is sparkling with interesting articles by G. Glenn, George Walter, Shelby Myrick, R. L. Woodberry, Clifford M. Walker and J. M. Hunt. The editorial staff of The Georgian is as follows: James Walter Mason, editor in chief; Thomas B. Conner, literary editor; Harry Dodd, exchange editor; Clifford M. rials are always clean and full of interest

-:0:-Items of Society.

Mr. William Nixon, president of the At-Hon. A. O. Blalock, Fayette county's able representative in the last legislature, spent Saturday in the city.

Miss Lucy Peel, the beautiful Atlanta belle, who received such distinguished hon-ors and was the acknowledged queen of all the visiting girls in New Orleans this winter, has returned home and is receiving gratulations from her many friends. Mrs. William Dickson had the honor of being renominated for vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Vice President Stevenson and seconded by Miss Washington. The Gridiron Club, so famous all over the land, entertained Mrs. Dickson while she was in Washington in appreciation for the beautiful reception which she gave in compliment to them while they were here during the exposition.

Mr. Vaughn Nixon, who has been ill at the Kimball, is well again, to the delight of his friends.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon boys all over the country are very much gratified that President McKinley wore, as a member of the fraternity, a jeweled Sigma Alpha Epsilom badge and that the members of the fraternity present during the inauguration were provided with seats of honor.

Professor Looney, of College Park, spent Sunday in the city with friends.

Mrs. Grant Wilkins will accompany the Georgia editors and their wives to Nassau.

Hon. R. Scott Parks, of Alabama, one of the most influential McKinley men in his state, passed through the city resterday en route for Washington, where his friends suppose an important appoint-ment awaits him.

ment awaits him.

Miss Lute Gordon returns today from a few days' stay in the country. Her friends will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from a slight attack of the grip.

Miss Juliet Cox, the bright and pretty young daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Albert Cox, with her clever brother, Herman Cox, are two of the latest members of the Children of the American Revolution.

Miss Janie Speer, who represented Geor-gia at the Children of the American Revgia at the Children of the American Revolution congress recently in Washington, is descended from the Pickens of South Carolina, General Norwood and William Speer of revolutionary fame. Little Miss Speer and her mother will return to the city this week. Since the Children of the American Revolution congress they have been visiting Mrs. Dan Speer, who now makes her home in Washington.

Mr. George Oliver Tenney, of Spartan-burg, S. C., who has been spending several days in the city, left for New York city

Mr. Wheeler, a leading member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and one of the most popular students at the Technological institute, leaves today for his home in Southern Georgia.

At the Second Baptist church this evening there will be a most interesting raily of Baptists from all the cuttch's in the city. The various pastors will be there, with a reception committee appointed from each church. The object of the entertainment is to have the people snow euch other; and strangers, whether Bap tists or not, are invited to be present. This is a lovely idea, and will be hailed with pleasure by strangers, who have no other means of meeting the people than through their church relations. Complimentary refreshments, songs and short addresses Quite a large party of Georgia publishere and editors will take advantage of the editorial excursion to Lake Worth, Florida, and Miami, on Biscayne bay. They are now perfecting plans to take this ideal and restful trip to Nassau. The annual out-ings of Georgia editors can but bring about a broader acquaintance among them; and there is nothing so conducive of good feeling and comradeship as just such informal trips as these yearly journeyings.

Mrs. Albert S. J. Gardner is visiting her nother-in-law, Mrs. M. G. S. Gardner, in

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Hugh Inman. They have recently returned from a visit to Mr. Richardson's mother, in Louisiana. Mr. Richard Bell has returned from Chi-

Miss Emmie Belle Lowndes will visit Miss Annie Hobbs in Albany during chautauqua.

Mrs. William Little left yesterday for Co lumbus, where she will visit her son, Mr. John D. Little.

Mrs. Lowndes leaves tomorrow for Athens, where she will visit Miss Emmie Bell Lowndes, who is a student in the Lucy

Mrs. Frank P. Rice left this morning for Gadrden county, Florida, on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Emma Lott.

The Young Matrons' Club gave a de-lightful card party at Mrs. George Parrott's residence on Howard street, last Friday evening. Mrs. Robert Cramer won the first prize, a handsome green leather pocketbook with gold trimmings. The gentlemen's first prize was captured by Mr.
Dick Harris. It was a whisk broom with silver handle set with amethysts. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Starnes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meador, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady, Mr. and Mrs. Char-les Healy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Harris, Miss Mildred Cabaniss, Miss Hallman, Mr. Billy Hill and Mr. Jim

A. E. S. A.

The Atlanta Equal Suffrage Association will meet as usual in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Wednesday March 10th, beginning at 3 o'clock in the

OUT OF TOWN SOCIETY.

Last Friday evening the Dixle minstrels, a company composed of sixteen of our best young men, gave their first entertainment, which was highly entertaining. The jokes were funny and well put, the songs were the very latest and excellently sung, as some of the members have very fine voices. The second part of the programme was an exhibition of the wonderful power of Professor Mokely Macoon (Mr. Milt Saul, of Atlanta,) in hypnotising and mind reading. It was very amusing.

The third part of the programme was entitled "Romeo and Juliet, or the Belle of Blackville," a comedy, which was full of laughable situations and funny experiences. There was a full house, quite a number of visitors from adjoining towns and cities.

and cities.

Cólonel Mark A. Hardin, of Atlanta, came up purposely to be present and expressed himself as being well paid for his trouble. The neat little sum realized will be expended upon our park. Every one was so pleased with the performance that a repetition has been requested and will be given Friday evening, March 13th.

BRUNSWICK.

Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock Mrs. James S. Wright received in honor of Mrs. Henry Franklyn Dunwody, formerly Miss Walter, of Savannah. Mrs. Wright was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Charles S. Wylly, Mrs. William Nightengale, Mrs. Samuel C. Atkinson and the Misses Wright. The bride was gowned in delicate heliotrope satin, white chiffon and diamonds. The hostess were a dark heliotrope, both contrasting pleasingly with the decorations in the front parlor where the guests were tishered. The violet effect in this room was carried out in exquisite taste, evergreens, hyacinths, heliotropes and violets giving forth fragrance delictously sweet, while the coloring surrounding the assembly formed that picture of harmony so pleasing to admirers of the beautiful. In the back parior the green and white effect was used. The table decorations were smilax and white carnations, the bride's favorite flower, with delicacy of taste and touch which bears the impress of timest rednessent. The library was given to the gold and green,

RELIGIOUS THE TRUSTS

The Finding of the Lexow Committee Coeur d'Alene in Washington State

Large Amount of the Testimony Presented to the No York Senate.

LEGISLATION

Senator Lexow Will Prepare a Bill To Prevent a Continuation of the Necessities of Life" as the Finding of the Report Is Worded.

Albany, N. Y., March 9.-The report of the Lexow trust investigating committe will be presented to the senate today.

It contains about 10,00 words. The testimony taken before the committee is reviewed at length and while no special drive is made against any individual trust, the committee treats all of the combines investigated alike. They found that these combinations to restrict the necessaries of life do exist, and that the aggregations of capital which have been formed were organized in nearly every instance for the purpose of regulating the trade, suppressing competition, controlling the output and dictation of prices.

The report dwells at length upon the great danger that is likely to arise from the continuance of the operations of thes aggregations of capital and protests that affirmative legislation should be enacted with a view of restraining, if not entirely prohibiting, the operation of such monster embinations.

The report states that the committee beleves the factors' agreements between the trusts and their agents are to a great extent the potential agency through which these combinations are enabled to fulfill the purposes of their organizations.

The committee is working on the remedia egislation, but Chairman Lexow does no think he will have the bills for introduc tion today.

SIDNEY LANIER'S SON WEDS

Henry W. Lanier Marries Miss Jose phine Ledyard Stetson, a Niece of A. Foster Higgins.

Greenwich, Conn., March 9 .- At Christ Episcopal church vesterday affernoon Henry W. Lanier, of New York, and Miss Josephine Ledyard Stetson, a niece of A. Foster Higgins, were married by the Rev. M. G. Thompson.

Charles Lanier, assistant editor of The Review of Reviews, was the best man. The bridegroom is a son of Sidney Lanier the Georgia poet. Mr. and Mrs. Lanier will live in New York.

FIVE YEARS FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

fason Is Sentenced in Rostor Robbery. Boston, March 9.-Allison C. Mason, for mer president of the Globe Investment Company, who recently pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzling $3,000, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the state prison yesterday.

jessamines and jonguils interlining paims and evergreens with artistic effect, the whole receiving much admiration from the

The Ladies' Card Club was entertained by Mrs. A. C. Banks Tuesday afterno Her guests were: Mesdames D. Wyatt Aiken, Beldan, Stiles, Parker, Barkuloo, E. H. Mason, Elliot Hopkins Candler, Pen-gar, John Wood, Muses Elia Symons, Cuyler, Nattle Brantley.

Miss Mary Haines and Miss Gerrard, of Savannah, at present guests of Mrs. P. W.

Miss Mary Haines and Miss Gerrard, of Savannah, at present guests of Mrs. P. W. Godfrey, are the recipients of much social attention in Brunswick. On Tuesday evening their hostess tendered a delightful "multi" party in compliment to her guests, which was attended by the younger set, and on Wedncaday Mrs. J. D. Sparks gave a charming dinner in tneir honor. The popularity of these visitors has made their stay especially pleasant and they have proved quite an addition to the social world. world.

ROME.

March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Whit Huff complimented Mrs. Don Halsey, of Virginia, who is the guest of Mrs. C. J. Pruden, with a dining on Friday evening. It was elegant in every detail. The homored guests were: Mrs. Don Halsey, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pruden, Miss Mary Berry; Messrs. Berry, Scuillins and Jones.

La Chacota Clara will meet Wednesday with Miss Linnie Thomas.

Mrs. M. G. McDonald will entertain the Fortnightly Club on Wednesday.

Mrs. C. H. Lavender and daughter have returned from Selms. Miss Lavender will have this week some very charming and accomplished young ladies of that city as her guests.

Miss Carrie Clark is soon to have two lovely visitors in the persons of Misses Gussie and Lucy Jones, of Selma, Ala. March 9. Mr. and Mrs. Whit Huff co

Miss Elizabeth Branham, who has been

Miss Elizabeth Branham, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. T. Crouch, will return to her home in Tennessee on Tuesday. Miss Annie Dowdell, of Atlanta, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. T. Mitchell, but will doubtiess made her home here now with Mrs. J. F. Wardlaw.

Miss Minnie Langford, of Atlanta, is visiting her brother, Mr. Walter Langford, on Frith assense.

visiting her brother, air. Watter Langioru, on Fifth avenue.

Mrs. William Adkins and daughter, Hazel, have gone to Florida for a stay of six weeks. They go to join Mr. Adkins, who is there on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bass are now in New York, where Mr. Bass is purenasing his spring stock. They are expected nome this month and will make their home at the Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Coz. of Maysville, Ky., passed through Rome on Wednesday en route to Fiorida. Mrs. Coz is a sister of Mrs. Charies B. Hudgins, and will visit her on her return home.

The Bachelory Club is making preparations to entertain their young lady friends some time during this week.

Hon. Figurar G. dullarang.

WAR RAGING

Wrought Up Over a Recent Newspaper Article.

WILL MAKE ITS REPORT TODAY EDITOR DRIVEN FROM TOWN

Mob Threatens To Hang Him, bu

a Compromise Is Finally

She Had Assailed the Catholic Church

WROTE ABOUT A YOUNG LADY

and the Response in the Newspaper Was the Cause of the Old Religious Trouble in the Town Breaking Out

Spokane, Wash., March 9.-A religious war that has been waged between the miners in the Coeur d'Alene for years was given fresh impetus on Sunday by an occurrence that threatens to lead to the shedding of blood.

At a recent entertainment at Wardner, Miss Johnson, a school teacher, made an attack on the Catholicts. In last week's issue of The Wardner Citizen, Editor C. R. Burris made some severe criticisms upon Miss Johnson's character. Members of the American Protective Association, to the number of 100, met and appointed a committee to bring Burris before the meet-

He was dragged from his office through the streets to the place of meeting.

A stormy discussion ensued as to what to do with Burris. Some favored : coat of tar and feathers, while the majority wanted to hang him. Finally, after a strong appeal to not commit murder, a motion prevailed to run Burris out of town, which was done, under escort of the mob.

Late yesterday warrants were issued for the arrest of eight ringleaders on a charge of conspiracy and inciting riot. Steriff Henri and five deputies started to the mine last evening to make the arrest and it is believed they will be resisted.

SEARCHING FOR THE BODIES

One Hundred and Five Bodies Found and Sixty-Five Still Missing in the San Francisco Mine.

New York, March 9 .- A Sun special from Zacatacas, Mexico, says: The search for the dead bodies in the San Francisco mines, near Sombreirete. this state, still continues.

One hundred and five bodies have been recovered and sixty-five miners are still missing. Nearly all of the bodies were burned so as to be unrecognizable. The government has sent a representative to the mine to make an investigation int

the cause of the fire. OKLAHOMA DIVORCE INVALID

Judge Lawrence, in New York, Gives the Territory's Acts.

New York, March 9 .- Justice Lawrence, the supreme court, has declared another Cklahoma divorce invalid.

In 1896 John F. Driscoll told his wife hat he was going to Iowa to get a position, but instead he went to Oklahoma and got a decree of divorce against his wife on the charge of cruelty and abandon ment. When he returned to this city his wife had his arrested in a suit which she instituted for absolute divorce.

The court holds that the divorce decree nad no validity whatever, as the Driscolls were not residents of Oklahoma, and th courts there had no jurisdiction in the

A COTTAGE AT NEWPORT.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer Will Again Rent "Arleigh" for the Coming Summer.

Newport, R. I., March 9.-Mr. and Mrs Potter Palmer, of Chicago, it is learned, have taken for another summer the beautiful villa at the corner of Parker and Believue avenues, owned by Mrs. H. Ruthven Pratt, and known as "Arleigh."
They will arrive about the middle of July and remain till late in September, giving at least one large social function, as they did last season.

DEMOCRATS' SIGNAL VICTORY

They Elect Their Whole Ticket in i City Which Gave a Republican Majority in November.

Charleston, W. Va., March 9.-At the city elections yesterday the democrats elected their entire ticket with the exception of councilmen by majorities ranging 25 to 170. from 26 to 170.

The city gave a republican majority of about 200 at the November election.

Anheuser-Busch's Malt-Nutrine. the greatest of mait tonics, is invaluable to nursing mothers, feeble children, the nfirm and convalescent. For sale by all lruggists.

GEORGIA CHATTAUQUA, Albany, Ga., March 20th, 1897.

Albamy, Ga., March 20th, 1897.

For the above meeting the Southern railway will sell tickets from all points in Georgia to Albany and return at 2 rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip. Tickets on sale March 20th to 28th inclusive, with limit three days from date of sele. For military companies a rate of I cent per mile will be made. The Southern railway has the short and direct line between Atlanta and Albany, with two through trains daily. For information apply to any agent of the Southern Railway Company. Ticket office Kimbali house corner, Atlanta, Ga.

A. A. VERNOY, P. A.

Notice.

All Watches, Jewelry and other articles left for repairs and remaining with us over 60 days will be sold for charges at public auction 30 days after date of this

A. L. DELKIN, Agt.

notice, March 8th, 1807.

MONDAY, MARCH 8th BUCKLER STOCK CO.

hoice Repertoire of Popular Plays Pre-by a Capable Company of Players at Popular Prices. MATINEES Wednesday 2:30 P. M.

Monday Night Ladies Free. Seats now selling at Phillips and Crew's, Kimball

TONIGHT

LAST PERFORMANCE OF MISS GEORGIA CAYVAN And Her Own Company,

PRESENTING TONIGHT MARY PENNINGTON SPINSTER

No increase in prices. Sale at Grand Box Office. 'Phone 1070.

First Shipment of New Cure SMITHFIELD HAMS

JUST IN-Only 22c per pound. We have other brands of Ham at 121/2c per pound up, but for exquisite quality nothing compares with the famous SMITHFIELD HAM, KAMPER GROCERY CO. 390 and 392 Peachtree St.

PHONE 628.

ONE CENT A WORD

Pays for "ads" in the Want Column of The Evening Constitution.

STATE OF GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY,—Ex-parte John A. Benedict, et al. Superior court. No. 524, March term, 1897. Petition for charter.

To Said Court—The petition of John A. Benedict, J. O. Scott, Edmond Scott and Robert Zahner, respectfully represents:

sents:

1. They desire for themselves, their associates, successors and assigns, to be constituted a body corporate under the name of ATLANTA DAIRY

ATLANTA DAIRY

name of

ATLANTA DAIRY
and by that name to acquire, hold and enjoy all the rights, pewers, privileges and tranchises incident to bodies corporate or conferred upon them by the laws of said state.

2. The object of the corporation is to be pecuniary gain and profit to its stockholders, and the business in which it is to engage is the carrying on of milk, butter and cheese dairies; the manufacture, purchase and sale of dairy products and dairy property; the erection and construction of dairy buildings, apparatus and appliances; the conducting of dairy lunch counters and eating houses, and the manufacture and sale of ice cream. It shall have the power to lease, purchase, hold, improve, encumber, sell and transfer real and personal property, as its purposes may require, or as may best promote its interests.

3. The capital stock shall be four thou-

sonal property, as its purposes may require, or as may best promote its interests.

3. The capital stock shall be four thousand (4,000) dollars, divided into two hundred (200) shares of twenty (20) dollars each; it may be increased from time to time to any amount not exceeding fifty thousand (50,000) dollars, by a direct vote of three-fourths of the outstanding stock, at a special meeting called for that purpose. Subscriptions to the capital stock may be paid in casn or property suited to corporate purposes and at its fair value.

4. The principal office and place of business shall be in said county of Fulton, state of Georgia. The board of directors shall be composed of not less than three stockholders to be elected annually at the annual meeting to be held on the second Wednesday of January in each and every year; but the first board shall be elected at a meeting to be held for organization after the granting of a charter.

Wherefore petitioners pray the granting of an order of said court investing and clothing them, their associates, successors and assigns with the corporate character, authority, franchises and powers aforesaid, to remain in force twenty years, with the privilege of renewal of the same at the expiration of that time. This, February 15, 1851.

Foliationers' Attorney.

Filed in office this, the 15th day of February, 1877.

G. H. Tanner, clerk of the superior court of said county, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy, from the files of said court, of the application for charter of the ATLANTA DAIRY.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court, this, the 16th day of February, 1877.

G. H. Tanner, Clerk of the superior court of said court, of the application for charter of the ATLANTA DAIRY.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court, this, the 16th day of February, 1877.

G. H. Tanner, Lerk of the superior court of said court, Fulton County, Ga.

Rhodes, Snook & Haverty FURNITURE CO. DISSOLUTION SALE.

We think we've made it plain, We are going out of business, and our big Dissolution Sale is the success of the year. Furniture, Carpets, Mantels.

Three Big Departments Overflowing With Bargains Run Your Eyes Over This List, Oak Bed Room Suits,

3 pieces.....$10.00

Roll Top Office Desk. like illustration...$11.75

Flat Top Office Desk, ......$6.00 Sideboards, Oak...$12.75

Worth $13.00. Sideboards, Oak...$15.00

Worth $22.50. Folding Beds, Oak $11.75 Worth $15.00.

High Back Cane Seat Chairs, 6 for.....$4.50 Woven Wire Springs $1.00

Cobbler Seat Rockers ..... $2.00

Oak...$10.50 Worth $16.00. Hundreds of Odd Dressers, Chairs, Beds and Fancy Articles of Furniture to be sacrificed to get rid of our stock # quickly.

CARPETS.

Best all Wool Ingrains, ......50 Best Body Brussels, $1.00 Axminsters ......$1.00 Moguettes:.....85c 30x60 in. Smyrna Rugs,

$3.00 kind.....$1.55 36x72 in. Smyrne Rugs. $4.50 kind...... $3.25 9x12 ft. Smyrna Carpets, $35 kind...$20.00 3x6 ft. Japanese Rugs, 99c 9x12 ft. Japanese Carpets....$8,50 12x12 ft. Japanese Carpets.....$10.00

The very evident discrimination of wide-awake buyers is shown by the big purchases they are making daily in our Mantel Department. It shows that they know a good thing when they see it.

Bargains in Mantels that will astonish buyers. See our stock before you place your orders. Oak Cabinet Mantel with bevel mirror, tile hearth and facing, grate and frame, for $12.50. Can't be duplicated under $18.50. Our quarter sawed oak Cabinet mantel, 18x40 French bevel plate, tile and grate complete, at $19.58 is a $30 outfit. See our mantels and save money. Rhodes, Snook & Haverty.

A SLIGHT DECLINE IN COTTON CONTRACTS

Attributed to the War Cloud in Europe--Active Stocks Are Lower and Wheat Gains a Fraction.

ing orders, but New Orleans and traders supplied the demand. The move ment continues upon a rather larger scale than was anticipated, and this no doub

has exerted a depressing effect upon Liver

Following are the receipts at the ports

New York Cotton Quotations.

The following were the closing quotations fo

The following table shows the consolidated net recipts, export and stock at the ports:

43775 82302 61470 88780

The Liverpool Market.

Liverpool. March 9— 12:15 p. m. —Cotton, spot quiet with prices firm: middling uplands 3 15-16: sules 8,000 bales: American 7,400: speculation and export 500: receipts 28,000: American 14,500.

The following is the statement of the receipts, ship-

wheat steady with good inquiry.
Receipts in Chicago today—Wheat 22 cars; corn, 401 cars; oats, 435 cars; hogs, 20,000 head.

Northwestern receipts of wheat-327 cars.

The Orange Judd Farmer: "If the present estimate of correspondents is as gellable as such estimates have heretofore been it indicates, in connection with rapidly decreasing supplies of wheat in visible quarters, that before another crop can be harvested the grain bins of the country will be swept cleaner than in any year since 1891, when the price of wheat in Chicago reached as high as $1.13 per bushel before the next crop was available. When the 1897 crop is harvested in this country at least, it is evident that the accumulated supplies of past years will be gone, and that consumption will practically have overtaken production."

Estimated cars tomorrow—Wheat, 18; corn, 175; oats, 220.

Southern Exchange Grain Letter.

Atlanta, March 9.—Wheat cables reflected our decline of yesterday, coming in ¼d lower and ¼d lower on corn, and also showed entire indifference to offers of grain from this side. The Chicago market opened at a decline of ¼c per bushel, and has fluctuated within ¼c range all day.

Paine, Murphy & Co.

PrivateLeased Wires Direct to New York, Chicago and New Orleans.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
2 South Pryor Street. (Jackson Build: Telephone 375.

against 359 cars last week, and 467 last year.

The Orange Judd Farmer: "If the pres-

| RECEIPTS SHIPM TS | STOCK. | 1897 | 1898 | 1897 | 1898 | 1897 | 1898 |

RECEIPTS EXPORTS STOCKS

12729 5058 20658 51313 858047 776745 14829 9936 20894 12546 844031 750078 15157 14508 19918 11841 887954 780305

3 57-64 3 57 Buyers 3 57-64 3 57 3 57-64 3 57 3 57-64 3 57 5 57-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 57 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 58 5 58-64 3 5

Closed firm: sales 103.100 bales.

EXCHANGE GOSSIP.

By Private Wire to Paine-Murphy Co. New York, March 9.-People who are interested in Sugar and who have just re-turned from Washington, admit that the present sentiment there is in favor of a specific duty on all sugars. They are confident, however, that this will be changed either in committee or house to a high ad valorem duty when the cases are brought before the framers of the law. It brought before the framers of the law. It is a fact that there is a concealed protection in an advalorem duty on raw sugars which amounts to almost 3 1-16 cents per pounds. All sorts of reports are certain to come from Washington, but ad valorem duties, with the present differential on refined, are expected to be the final outcome. Consols, 111 15-16 for money, and 112 1-16

r account. London, 2 p. m., steady. London, 2 p. m.—Bar silver quiet—29

Prices for American stocks, consols, etc., Prices for American stocks, consols, etc., show London markets generally steadler and do not bear out the alarming dispatches in some of the morning papers.

There was talk last evening that the Manhattan dividend might be made 1½ as a compromise. This, however, was regarded as doubtful on account of the comparatively small amount exactly aratively small amount saved. The decline in Western Union was due to weakness in Manhattan. The stocks are close together in the room and traders who ited to Mr. Well, but was chiefly on traders The only fact attracting much at-

Earnings—Illinois Central for the month of February—increase $48,459.

Southern Exchange Stock Letter. Atlanta, March 9.—There was an attempt on the part of a certain clique to open the market down and keep it down, but the effort was not successful owing to the appearance of a fair supply of buying

London cables received just before the opening stated that the market there was somewhat lower than the official prices, which would lead one to suppose London only bought very sparingly at the opencco was abnormally active, but the bulk of the trading looked like matched orders. There was some covering of shorts, and the selling was by brokers who are supposed to execute orders for insiders. The interest on the floor centered on the Manhattan dividend. When it was an-nounced that it had been reduced 1 per cent, it immediately sold down 1 per cent on very light sales.

Generally the market had a good under-ne but outside business was extremely

New York Stock Quotations

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Opening.                                                                             | High.                                                                                                                     | Low.                                                                                                                                                     | Today's ClosingBids. | Yesterday'sClosing Bids. |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | RECEIPTS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | SHIP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | MTS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | STOCK.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BTOCK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                      |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                          |                          |                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1897                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1896                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 18.97                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1896                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1897                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1896                                                                                                                           |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                      |                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                          |                          |                              | Saturday                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 10121384                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1750100400                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 100 671                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 108301122211161                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 127481229012574                                                                                                        |
| Atchison                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 1176                                                                                 | 12116%                                                                                                                | 1134                                                                                                                                                     | 1194                     | 1136                         | Total                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1294                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 398                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2250                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 771                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 333                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                |
| Am'n Sugar Ref'g C. C. C. & St. L. B. & Q. C. C. C. & St. L. B. & Q. Chicago Gas Canada Southern D. L. & W Erle Edison Gen. Elec. Amer'n Tobacco. Jersey Central Lake Shore. National Lead. L. & N. Missouri Pacific. Baltimore & Ohlo. Tenn. Coal & Iron Northwestern Southern Railway do Freferred. North'n Pac. Pref. New York Central New England. Omaha. Pacific Mail. Reading. Rock Island. St. Faul. Union Pacific. Am'n Cotton Oil. Western Union. Am'n Spirita Co. U. S. Leather Pref Manhattan.  Paine, Murph  Atlanta, Maopened quiet close: sales 8,00 | 76% 77% 154% 37% 154% 37% 154% 49% 49% 49% 49% 656% 656% 656% 656% 656% 656% 656% 65 | 7755777515458559451245495227610781078107810781078107810781078 | 7634763515134469239189263420562634273437326342746274627462746274627462746274 | l fu                     | turesday's               | THE  Chicago, M. wheat steady Board's op wheat, steady quiet, and '4d lower.  London op markets stea wheat, dull; wheat, weak lin—Wheat ½ Primary rec 143,000; shipm Corn, 610,000, against in Total cleara flour, equal Corn, 495,000. Bcard's clo is—Wheat t@ centimes low lower. Antwe er. There wi today.  While the is weak there both foreign Liverpool is Nearly all f | arch at a suring according to the corn, and 3 mark elpts of the corn, and 3 mark elpts of the corn, and 3 ccert. If the corn, and 3 ccert. If the corn, and 3 ccert. If a corn, and 3 ccert. If the corn, and 3 ccert. If the corn, and 5 cc. and 5 cc | 9.—Pdeclin Livings of the second of the seco | rivate representation of the representation | e cable of c | ble—us ble—spot t and country to the | spot corn 1 4d ntry pege-ntry pege-ninst 2,0,000. 407and leat. Par-r 70 nark low-port heat ash, hile ires. |

Atlanta, March 9.—Liverpool futures opened quiet at practically yesterday's close; sales 8,000 bales; middling 3 11-16d. The 2 p. m. cables showed a slight improvement in the spring and fall months with an advance of 1-32d in spots, but part of this gain was lost at the close.

On account of the weakness in Liverpool the New York market opened 5 to 6 the New York market opened 5 to 6 points under yesterday's close. May touching 6.98, but at the decline there was some buying, mostly for Liverpool account, undoing hedges. Under this influence May advanced to 7.04, but as soon as the demand was supplied the market lost the light advance. May declining to 6.97. New Orleans expects tomograph 5000. eans expects tomorrow 5,600 to 5,000.

linst 3,151 last year; Houston 1,500 to 1,600.

linst 1,113 last year. Total port receipts ay 15,157. against 14,508 last year. Semi-ekly 23,212, against 23,628; shipments 90. against 20,655.

weekly 23.22 against 23.625; shipments 37.509, against 3.055.

Spots in New York easy and unchanged at 74c for middling; sales 736 bales.

The unexpected quite often happens, as was demonstrated today when Liverpool did not follow our advance of yesterday, as the general opinion was that Liverpool would open higher than yesterday's close. The indications yesterday were quite favor able toward a compromise of the Greek trouble, but today there seems to be some uncertainty, which is having a depressing effect on the market, and until this question is settled we cannot expect much support from Liverpool.

tlanta, March 9.—Advices with regard the European political situation conues to be the dominating influence in the ton market as well as in all the other culative markets of the country. Tor's cables are rather less peaceful than terday; and, although not sufficiently ming to cause any pronounced weaks in the market, prices show less staty than yesterday. Liverpool advices morning were disappointing, futures a not responding as fully to our imvement of yesterday as expected. Liveol and the continent sent a few buy-

Provisions opened slightly lower all around, and ruled very dull but steady all day. Estimated receipts are light and the cash demand fair, Estimated hogs tomorrow 25,000.

| futures in Chicago-Wneat— | touay:       | ı the   | leading       |
|-------------------------------|--------------|---------|---------------|
| May 74%                       | 75%          | 74%     | 751/4         |
| September 6578                | 10%          | 6978    | 12%           |
| May 241/2                     | 24%          | 24%     | 241/2         |
| September 20%                 | 21           | 20%     | 25%24     |
| May 17%July 18%           | 171/2        | 17%     | 171/2         |
| May 8.25July 8.40         | 8.35         | 8.221/2 | 8.32½8.45 |
| May4.10                       | 4.154.20 | 4.071/2 | 4.154.25  |
| May                           | 4.371/2      | 4.321/2 | 4.371/2       |

ATLANTA WHOLESALE PRICES.

Groceries. Groceries.

Roasted coffee, $14.60 per 100 pound cases. Green coffee—Choice, 15½c; fair, 15½c; prime, 15½c; Sugar—Standard granulated, 4½c; New Orleans white, 4½c; New Orleans open kettle, 24@4uc; mixed, 12½@2); sugar house, 2½½5c. Teas—Black, 3@36c; green, 2½½5c. Teas—Black, 3@36c; green, 2½50c. Rice—Head, 6½c; choice, 3½@6c. Sait—Dairy sacks, $1.25; dairy barrels, $2.25; ice cream, 5uc; common, 65c. Cheese—Full cream 12½ to 13c. Matches—65s, 5uc; 200s, $1.30½1,75; 30s, $2.75. Soda—Boxes, 6c. Crackers—Soda, 5½c; cream, 7c; gingersnaps, 7c. Candy—Common stick, 5½c; iancy, 11@13c. Oysters—F. W., $1.75; L. W., $1.25.

Flour, Grain and Meal.

Flour—First patent, $6.00; second patent, $5.70; straight, $4.80; fancy, $4.70; extra family, $4.50. Corn—White, 38c; mixed, 38c. Oats—White, 32c; mixed, 29c; Texas rust-proof, 42½c. Rye—Georgia, 75c. Hay—No. 1 timothy, large bales, 80c; small bales, 85c. No 2 timothy, small bales, 80c. Meal—Flain, 41c; boited, 38c. Wheat bran, large sacks. 83c; small sacks, 55c. Shorts, 90c. Stock meal, $1. Cotton seed meal, 95c per 100 pounds; hulls, $6 per ton. Peas, 75@$1.10 per-bushel, according to kind and quality. Grits, $2.30.

Clear ribs—Boxed side, 5c; clear sides, 4%c; ice-cured bellies, 7c. Sugar-cured hams, 116194c; California, 7%c; breakfast bacon, 10@11c. Lard—Best quality, 5c; second quality, 4%c; compound, 4%c. 13

Country Produce. Eggs 9 to 10c. Butter, western creamary, 16@18c; fancy Tennessee, 12½@15c; choice 12½c. Georgia, 12@14c. Live poultry, turkeys, 10½1c; chens, 21½@35c; spring cbickens 12½@18c; ducks, puddle 20 to 22½. Peking 25 to 27½c. Irish potatoes, burbank, $1.75@2 per barrel; sweet potatoes, 60@70c per bushel, Honey, strained 7@5c; in the comb $@9c. Onions $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel, $4 to $4.50 per barrel. Cabbage, Louisiana 1 to 1½c. Florida 1½ to 2c.

Apples, $2.25@2.50. Lemons, Messina, $2.50 @2.75. Oranges, California, $2.50@2.75. Ban-anas, straight, 75c@31.00; culls, 35c@75c. Figs. 11@11½c. Raisins, new California, $1.65@1.75. one-quarter boxes, 50@60c. Cur-rants, 644@7c. Leghorn citron, 11@11½c. Nuts—Almonds, 11c; pecans, 9@10c. Bra-zil, 74c@8c; fiberts, 11½c; walnuts, 10@11c; mixed nuts, 8@10c. Peanuts—Virginia electric light, 5@6c, fancy hand-picked 4@ 4½c, eGorgia 3@3½c.

THE CHASE FOR BROOKS.

INCIDENTS IN THE LONG SEARCH FOR THE ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE.

His Brother's Mysterious Actions-Belief That He Was Used as a Decoy To Mislead the Officers in Their Search.

Five Forks, Ga., March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution. The excitement so high here a few days ago over the murder of Hunt at Harmony Grove by Reynolds and Bud Brooks is subsiding, but there are men here who would assist in the lynching of Brooks, whose home is not far from this place. Scott Jackson came down Saturday night from Harmony Grove and recovered two pistols and two gold watches which Bud stump near George Brooks's, his brother.

Sunday before last George Brooks dressed as a woman, was carried by Walter Boggs, a relative of his, to Boggs's home. Scott Jackson, Robert Estes and John Williams 451 101 1750 100 10830 12748 491 213 100 671 11222 12290 851 84 400 ... 11161 12.74 pursued them and found George Brooks in Boggs's stables about sundown. The posse, thinking it Bud Brooks, the murderer, arrested him, Jackson leveling his pistol on Brooks from a crack while Wil-liams entered the door and ordered a sur-Brooks begged them to not shoot and Board's opening Liverpool cable—Spot wheat, steady; futures %d lower; spot corn quiet, and %d lower; futures quiet and %d surrendered. After the posse found that they had the wrong man they ordered him to not return home that night. to not return home that night.

They thought Brooks was in this disguise to decoy the officers from his home, where Bud Brooks was supposed to be.

George Brooks said later that he was golower.

Lordon opening cable—English country markets steady. French firm. Cargoes—wheat, duil; corn, quiet. On passage—wheat, weak and 3d lower; corn firm. Bering in disguise to inform Bud of the pres

WAS CLOSE BY. Bud Brooks has said that he was clos Bud Brooks has said that he was close enough to smell the cigar smoke of the posse at Boggs's, and it is thought that if the posse had watched George Brooks they could have located Bud that night. It is rumored that Bud Brooks stayed in Con-cord church near that place the following Total clearances at all ports—Wheat and flour, equal to 162,000 bushels of wheat. Corn, 495,000.

The day after the murder he was here drunk and counted $350, which he carried on his person. He gave his sisters $5 each and $5 to his brother George. Thes amounts were delivered to Officer Jackson emounts were delivered to Omcer Jackson together with the watches and pistols. Probably George Brooks will see Bud and advise him to state the hiding place of all the valuables taken from Hunt.
Bud Brooks's character here is bad. The revenue officers have sought him several times for distilling.

COMMISSIONERS TO MEET.

Board Will Discuss Freight Rates of Cars Loaded with Chert for the County.

The board of county commissioners will meet this week for the purpose of discussing and adjusting the trackage bills charged for hauling cars of chert from the city to Fort McPherson.

This chert was bought in Birmingham for the repaving of the East Point road, and when the freight bills were presented to the board for settlement, it was declared by Commissioner Spalding that the freight from Atlanta to Fort McPherson was as much as it cost to bring the cars from Birmingham to Atlanta.

The excess charge that is claimed is against the Central of Georgia, and the commissioners have accorded a hearing to the attorneys of the road, which will come at the special session of the board, to be held this week.

Other matters of interest and importance are scheduled to the attorneys of interest and importance

IN THE NEWPORT JAIL.

The Pince Where Jackson and Walling Will Be Executed Has Been Fixed Upon.

preinnati, O., March 2.—At a conference between Judge Heim and Sheriff ummer it was decided the execution of ekson and Walling take place in the export jail yard.

GOURT MARTIAL IS PROBABLE

The Atlanta Artillery Matter Will Be Settled in a Short Time.

THE EVENING CONSTITUTION: ATLANTA GA., TUESDAY, MARCH 9, 1897.

GOVERNOR TO TAKE ACTION

The Judge Advocate General Has the Papers in the Case and His Report Will Be Leady in a Day or Two, and It Is Believed a Court Martial Will

It is generally believed that Governor Atkinson will order a courtmartial for the trial of the members of the Atlanta Arillery, following the recommendations of the advisory board.

Governor Atkinson is non-committal himself and has given no intimation to the public of his intentions, but from other sources the information has leaked out that renders his prediction a safe one.

After an investigation of the case in all its bearings the advisory board turned the entire matter over to the governor as commander-in-chief and left it with him to de-

The papers in the case are now in the hands of the judge advocate general, who is making a thorough examination of the matter and will report within the next day or two.

His report will have great weight in determing the action of the governor and it s generally believed in military circles that courtmartial will be ordered.

If the members of the company are put on trial it will naturally follow that Cap-tain Kempton will demand a trial, unless a court martial is ordered in his case by the governor also, and the squabble between the company and the captain will be set-tled definitely in a short time.

BLIND TIGERS FINED.

R. Bratton and W. D. Delk Fined $50 for Selling Whisky on Sunday.

Recorder Calhoun fined L. R. Bratton and W. D. Delk, who is employed in Avary's drug store, $50 this morning for running

The detectives used a decoy on Sunday and caught Avery's drug store selling the flery liquors. Bratton's drug store was afterwards visited in the same way. Judge Andy imposed a heavy fine on them, saying that there were too many ### of these tigers open on Sundays. MRS. BENSON DROPS DEAD.

The Wife of Well-Known Fireman Is Attacked by Heart

Mrs. W. D. Benson, wife of Fireman Benson at No. 2 engine house, dropped dead at her residence on Hunter street this afternoon. ily were at dinner, when Mrs. Benson was seen to turn pale and reel over. She was carried to the next room and before medical aid could arrive she was dead. Mrs. Benson was a bride of three months and her death will be a blow to her many friends.

EMPLOYEE SUES FOR $10,000. William McThomas Is Suing Southern Railway for That Amount in the City Court Today.

The $10,000 damage suit filed several weeks ago against the Southern railway is pend ing today in the first division of the city

The suit is brought by William McThor as, who was an employee of the Southern until he lost his right foot last July. McThomas says he was riding on the rear step of a switch engine which was rapidly approaching Peters street crossing.

When the engineer saw that a collision was quickly, throwing McThomas upon the He says the engine ran over his righ foot, crushing it into a jelly. As the engine sprang back from the effects of the reversing, the wheels again passed over the ur The Southern is represented by Dorsey, Brewster & Howell, the attorneys of the road. McThomas is represented by Peter Francisco Smith, Arnold & Arnold and Hat vey Hill. The case was taken up early this morn ing before Judge Reid and it will be resumed tomorrow morning and continued through the day.

CONNOLLY LANDED SAFE.

The Police Chief Will Not Have Any Opposition for Re-election to That Office.

It is reported today that it has been set-tled definitely that chief of police, Captain A B. Connolly, will not have opposition when the police board elects officers on March 31st. It is said on good authority that such an agreement has been made and that no further effort will be made to bring out a candidate against the chief. For several weeks there has been much speculation in police and political circles as to whether the chief of police would have opposition for re-election and it is now given out semi-officially that the har-mony agreement in the board is based on the ground that the opposition to Chief Connolly will be withdrawn and that he will be given a unanimous vote for re-

BROKE TWO OF HIS TOES.

C. W. Buice Brings Suit Against the City for Personal Injuries

In the superior court this morning Mr. C. W. Bulce filed a suit for $5,000 damages against the city of Atlanta.

He alleges that while walking near St. Paul's church on East Hunter street he fell in a hole and broke two of his toes and one foot. He also wrenched his ankle severely and says the city was negligent in not having filled up the hole.

Mr. Bulce is represented by Mr. P. F. r. Buice is represented by Mr. P. F. th and Mr. R. J. O'Kelly.

Continued from First Page.

the courts, but in the event the conditional proposition is performed to the letter it is said they will be withdrawn and the entire proceedings settled without the ne-entire proceedings settled without the ne-cessity of a trial in court.

The terms of the agreement have not been disclosed. In fact they are guarded with the utmost secrecy and all parties interested in the sensational suits declined to discuss the matter at all this morning. Mr. George Westmoreland, who repre sents Mr. Arnold, was asked this morning what the agreement entered into was. "I have not a word to say for publication tion," said he, "further than to state that the suits will be withdrawn and no trial will be reached in case the terms of the agreement are carried out."

MR. BROWN. Mr. Walter R. Brown counsel for Mrs Lida Pope Arnold, refused to make any statement for publication.

"I do not care to discuss these matters of interest to my client in the newspapers," said he in reply to a question in regard to the matter. Mr. A. H. Cox also declined to talk about

Mr. Henderson Hallman, the young attorney who is said to have taken depositions in Lexington, Ky., also declined to discuss the matter. It is said the proposition was made by Mr. Arnold, under certain conditions. This proposition has been accepted by Mrs. Arnold, and all that remains to be seen, it is said, is whether or not the terms of the agreement will be carried out.

It was intimated this morning that the basis of the agreement was the payment of a stipulated amount of money in lieu of alimony. In addition to this it is said there are also several other stipulations in the

An interested party in the suits stated this morning that the agreement reached in order to avoid the details of the tragedy becoming public which would necessarily be the case should the case go to

Mrs. Arnold is now at the home of her father in Millersberg, Bourbon county

THEATRICAL COMPANY STRANDED Cuba Libre Is Not in a Hopeful Condition in Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., March 9. Special to The Evening Constitution.

If the cause of Cuban liberty fares as badly as that of the "Cuba Libre" theatrical company, an aggregation which reached Columbus Friday, the struggling patriots on the little island had better give up

The Cuba libra company presented their play at the opera house Friday evening to a small audience. For Saturday night "The Siege of Vicksburg" was booked, but the house was so slim that the Thesplans decided not to play, and so the handful that had gathered was disappointed in witnessing the scenes of the great Missis.

"Cuba Libre" was a new play, con-structed for the times. In it the struggle in Cuba was depicted in a way to arouse the sympathy of Americans. It met with but poor success, however, and the result of the small houses was the disbanding of the company in this city following the performance at Springer opera house The actors and actresses will give a benefit Thursday night, by which they tope to raise enough money to get home

LOOKING AT THE FL FAS.

Mr. Jumbo Hunter and Mr. Sledge Col-ller have been busily engaged for two weeks going through the fl. fas. from the marshal's office, and have passed upon 20,000 fl. fas. Two thousand of these are not good, and many are blank inside and stamped on the outside, "not found," indicating that the man whose name marks them has not been seen. Many of the men's names appear in the directory, and many have not changed residence in sey-As all of the fl. fas, are not out of date ready been collected.

TO CURE NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

To Gain Flesh, to Sleep Well, to Know What Appetite and Good Digestion Mean, Make a Test of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets,

Interesting Experience of an Indian apolis Gentleman.

No trouble is more common or more mis-understood than nervous dyspepsia. Peo-ple having it think that their nerves are to blame, and are surprised that they are not cured by nerve medicine and spring remedies; the real seat of the mischief is lost sight of, the stomach is the organ to be looked after.

Nervous dyspeptics often do not have any pain whatever in the stomach, nor perhaps any of the usual symptoms of stomach weakness. Nervous dyspepsia shows itself not in the stomach so much as in nearly every other organ; in some cases the heart palpitates and is irregu-lar; in others the kidneys are affected; in others the bowels are constipated, with headaches; still others are troubled with loss of flesh and appetite, with ac-cumulation of gas, sour risings and heart-burn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, of No. 51 Prospect cumulation of gas, sour risings and heartburn.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, of No. 6i Prospect street, Indianapolts, Ind., writes as foilows: "A motive of pure gratitude prompts me to write these few lines, regarding the new and valuable medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have been a suffererfrom nervous dyspepsia for the last four years; have used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable regult. They sometimes gave temporary relief until the effects of the medicine wore off. I attributed this to my sedentary habits, being a bookkeeper with little physical exercise, but I am glad to state that the tablets have overcome ali these obstacles, for I have gained in fiesh, sleep better and am better in every way.
The above is written no tfor notoriety, but is based on actual fact. CMCFW but is based on actual fact. Respectfully yours.

A. W. SHARPER.

I Prospect street, Indianapolis, I.d.
It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyepsia Tablets will cure any stomach weakness or disease except cancer of stomach.
They cure sour stomach, gas, loss of fiesh and appetite, sleeplessness, pajpitation, heartburn, constipation and headache.
Send for valuable little book on stomach

THE UNATTRACTIVE "NOW."

ALIMONY FOR MRS. ARNOLD WHO WILL PAY SMITH'S BOARD?

"The Man Who Let Him Go," Say the Commissioners.

WHAT THE SHERIFF SAYS

If the County Refuses To Pay for the Care and Detention of Prisoners the Sheriff Would Like To Know Who Foots the Bills-An Interesting Point of Law Comes Up for Discussion.

The action of the county commis efusing to pay Sheriff Nelms the jail costs resulting from the incarceration of Otis Smith, has raised a unique point of

The sheriff says Otis Smith was reguarly committed, so far as he knows, and was presented to the jailer by an officer of the law. Smith was placed in the jai upon the criminal warrant charging him embezzlement and the county was charged for his detention as in all crimi-

When Smith was released the bill went to the county commissioners, and the entire jail bill, with the exception of such charges as were made for Smith, was paid. The $2.57 which was charged for Smith's detention was stricken from the account and is not to be paid by the commissioners. "I am not one of these chronic kickers," said Sheriff Nelms, yesterday. "All that I want to do is to discharge my every obligation as jailer of Fulton county. It's the people's office and not mine, and I don't want anything that I am not entitled to. "The question I am now investigating is what I am to do should any similar case arise. I am entitled to receive the pay for the expenses of the care of prisoners am going to see what prisoners must be refused. The question is one that is knotty just now." The criminal code of Georgia provide that no jailer or sheriff can refuse a regularly committed prisoner under a heavy penalty. It is under the circumstances tha Sheriff Nelms is thinking over the mat-

The commissioners decline to discus the matter, further than to say that the county should not pay for jail costs wher upon the settlement of the prosecution.

"Whoever turned him out should pay the this afternoon, "We don't think there is any obligation upon the county to pay the

AT THE THEATERS.

GEORGIA CAYVAN.

Miss Georgia Cayvan and her company opened an engagement at the Grand last night. The appearance of Miss Cayvan and her company was well received and appropriate honors were tendered Miss Cayvan.

"Squire Kate" was the bill. It is a delightful drama in four acts by Robert Buchanan. Miss Cayvan, as Catherine Thorpe, mistress of the Weald farm, pleased the audience by her sweetness of disposition and acting, and she was followed throughout the play with attention. Mr. George Woodward, as Gaffer Kingsley, the old miser, whose avarice and love for shekels causes all the trouble, made, however, the biggest hit, as Mr. George Heathcot. Mr. Orrin Johnson is deserving of cot. Mr. Orrin Johnson is deserving of mention. The other members of the com-pany are good and the play itself is un-doubtedly one of the strongest of the season.

"Squire Kate" will be repeated at matinee this afternoon. The engagement closes tonight with "Mary Pennington, Spins-

"PALMER COX'S BROWNIES."

"PALMER COX'S BROWNIES."

One of the stage novelties of the year is the flying ballet, which will be seen in C. B. Jefferson, Klaw & Erlanger's spectacular production, "Palmer Cox's Brownies," at the Grand next week.

The flying ballet, which was a sensation for over a year at the Folies Bergere, in Paris, was secured for "The Brownies." It is said to be the most mystifying stage illusion that has ever been invented. The dancers, shapely young women, float in all directions through the air, and it is all directions through the air, and it is quite impossible to discover how they ap-

BUCKLER STOCK COMPANY. The Buckler Stock Company, thoroughly reorganized and with a number of up-to-date specialty people to furnish fun and amusement, began an engagement at the Lyceum last night that gives every promise of being a success.

The company is a good one and presented

The company is a good one and presented in a most acceptable manner the comedy drama, "Still Waters Run Deep." There is no intermission during the performance, for between each act there are a number of excellent specialties introduced. These specialties are really the feature of the entertainments to be given, for at every performance they will be changed.

Tonight every musical number and every dancing specialty will be changed and an entirely new comedy given. Tomorrow afternoon there will be several surprising features introduced at the matinee. Popular prices are changed to both the night and afternoon entertainments and the Lyceum bids-fair to become one of the most popular family resorts in the country. THE FUNNY CHROMOS COMING.

THE FUNNY CHROMOS COMING.

Peters and Green, the "Funny Chromos,"
will be seen next week at the Columbia theater. This is a return engagement, the company having played a week last month at the same theater. New farce comedies with new and up-to-date specialties will be introduced. Popular prices will prevail, 15,
and 35 cents, and ladies will be admitted free Monday night, provided the usual confree Monday night, provided the usual con-ditions, as to escort with paid ticket, are complied with.

There will be a matinee Wednesday, at which the full returns, by special wire, will be given between the specialties.

DROUGHT'S TRIAL IS REFUSED

Erstwhile Railroad Receiver Will Not Be Given a New Trial in the City Criminal Court.

Railroad Receiver A. E. Drought will not secure a new trial before Judge Berry in the city criminal court.

The motion, which was argued several days ago by counsel in the case, was yesterday refused by Judge Berry. Drought was arrested several weeks ago charged with being a common cheat and swindler and Attorney Robert Jordan was employed to defend him. The prosecution retained Colonel Moyers to sid the state in the prosecution. At the trial Drought was convicted, but a motion was made for a new trial, several grounds being made the basis of the motion.

b. B. Daniels says we are the quickest service in the city. OFFICE, 16 PEACHTREE STREET.

HAVE a new, high grade bicycle, cost 375, will take $35; must sell. Answer quick. Road King, care Constitution. meh & 2-t

EXCHANGE HOTEL, 183 Marietta street. Nicely furnished rooms for rent, reasonable. A. J. Adkins, proprietor.

GEORGIA SPECIALS are manufactured in Atlanta. A strictly high grade wheel in every respect and guaranteed for one year. As an introductory measure we will sell first fifty wheels built for $35 cash. first come. first served. Wheels shipped C. O. D. anywhere subject to examination when $3 is sent with order to guarantee freight. Georgia Bicycle Company, 80 South Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—At once experienced teers and sewers at Exposition Broom works, 301 Marietta street.

CANVASSERS WANTED.

WANTED Gentlemen and ladies to can-vass. $50 per month salary. Call at 43 Walton. S. V. Hopkins. AGENTS WANTED.

WANTED—Gentlemen to travel; represent well-established house. Salary $75 per month and expenses. References. J. R. Blackford, Lowndes building, 506, 5th floor.

Try Our Cool, Delightful Soda Waters. REFRESHING HOT DRINKS.

Full Line Domestic and Imported Cigars. Best Havana Cigar in Atlanta. J. D. HIGH & CO. I FORSYTH ST.

DENTISTRY

Gold Fillings, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00. Other Fillings - - 50c, 75c, $1.00. FIFTH YEAR IN CITY. 13 EDGEWOOD AVENUE.

The Ink Used on This Paper The Standard

Printing Ink Co.

No. 20 W. Canal Street, Cincinnati, Ohio. ESTABLISHED 1857. PERSONS

Leaving the city for a week or longer can have The Evening Constitution mailed to any address in the United States for ten cents per week. Don't fail to do it. It will be as good as a letter from home every day, except Sunday.

ONE CENT A WORD

Pays for "ads" in the Want Column of The Evening Constitution.

RAILWAY: -: SCHEDULES.

Arrival and Departu- of All Trains from This City—Standard Time. Southern Railway.

† 2. ARRIVE FROM
† 3. Jackson ville. 4 29 am † 12 Chattanoogs. 4 45 am 120 Washinston. 5 10 am † 12 Chattanoogs. 4 45 am 120 Chattanoogs. 5 5 am † 36 Green ville. 8 50 am † 12 Chattanoogs. 5 5 am † 36 Green ville. 8 20 am † 12 Thiaspooss. 8 75 am † 5 Brunswick. 7 20 am 17 Cornelis. 8 20 am † 12 Richmond. 7 20 am 127 Columbus. 10 49 am † 7 Chattanoogs. 7 50 am 127 Columbus. 10 49 am † 7 Chattanoogs. 12 00 pm † 18 Birmingham. 11 00 am † 9 Chattanoogs. 12 00 pm 120 chattanoogs. 1 15 pm † 20 Chattanoogs. 20 pm 120 Chattanoogs. 1 15 pm † 20 Friedrich ville. 4 50 pm 17 Washington. 3 55 pm † 77 Birmingham. 4 15 pm 17 Richmond. 2 50 pm 120 Cornelis. 4 25 pm 17 Richmond. 2 50 pm 120 Cornelis. 4 25 pm 120 Grave k, Miss. 10 4 5 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 125 Taliapooss. 5 15 pm 120 Grave k, Miss. 10 4 5 pm | 14 Chattanoogs. 11 50 pm | 13 Catkanoville. 1 13 pps 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 114 Chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 115 chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm 115 chattanoogs. 10 55 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50 pm | 135 Washington. 1 1 50

Central of Georgia Bailway.

ABRIVE FROM

1 Hapeville... 6 68 am 100 Rapeville... 8
2 Savannah... 7 46 am 102 Hapeville... 8
2 Hapeville... 8 06 am 102 Hapeville... 9
2 Hapeville... 9 46 am 100 Hapeville... 9
3 Hapeville... 100 pm 10 Hapeville... 100 pm 10 Hapeville... 2
3 Hapeville... 100 pm 11 Hapeville... 2
3 Hapeville... 100 pm 11 Hapeville... 2
4 Hapeville... 7 20 pm 11 Hapeville... 10
6 Savannah... 7 25 pm 14 Hapeville... 10
6 Hapeville... 10 35 am 116 Hapeville... 10
6 Hapeville... 10 Western and Atlantic Railro

Atlanta and West Point Ballre

Trains Nos. 12, 16, 13, 22, 24, 28 will stop t Whitehall street platform. All trains will depart from Union Pass-

FOR SALE.

For Rent by J. Covington, 19 South Forsyth Street. 'Phone 1619.